Yugoslavia May Serve As Arbiter

Middle East Role Seen Possibility

United Nations, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Speculation mounted today that Yugoslavia, compromise choice for a UN Security Council seat, might be drafted as behind-scenes mediator in the Middle East dispute now before the council.

Observers believe this was one of the reasons for the council's reported decision to hold up action on Syria's charges of aggression against Israel until after Jan. 1, when Yugoslavia takes her seat along with Cuba and Australia. The council heard Syria's charges Thursday and then adjourned indefinitely.

FACED WITH a warning from Palestine truce chief Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns that further Israeli reprisals could touch off full scale war, the council finds itself in a ticklish position. It must take action that will not inflame an already dangerous situation.

The council's position was rendered more difficult by Syria's demands that Israel be expelled from the UN and subjected to economic penalties as punishment for a Dec. 11 Galille attack on Syrian posts.

Most delegates agree that some middle course is needed between the Syrian proposal and the council's usual course—a rebuke and appeal for peaceful negotiations.

AS THE SITUATION now stands, the big western powers reportedly favor limiting action to an expression of censure and call for talks. The Russians, on the other hand, appear intent on seeking stronger measures, but it is considered doubtful they would support Syria's demands.

UN circles feel that in such a situation, Yugoslavia, a Communist state on cordial terms with the west and friendly with both the Arabs and Israelis, could serve as an important link.

Diplomats here noted with interest yesterday's government statement from Belgrade that Yugoslavia had accepted the compromise council arrangemen in order "to render service in the cause of unity of the United Nations."

OBSERVERS also recalled a recent policy statement by Yugoslav Foreign Minister Koca Popovic calling for efforts to eliminate Israeli-Arab antagonisms. They linked this with President Tito's announced plan to visit Egypt, although Belgrade has denied that Tito intends to assume the role of Middle East mediator.

Sources close to the Yugoslavs themselves said they do not relish entering the council in the midst of such an explosive situation. But many believe they

Tax Deduction for Loan Loss Is Allowed by Court

Alleging she suffered a substantial financial loss through loans made in 1938 and 1939, Mrs. Pansy Propp of 290 Broadway, deducted that loss from her income tax report in 1949 and filed a deficiency report. When her income tax report was checked by the division office the deduction was disallowed and payment sought. The deduction has now been allowed by the Tax Court.

She alleged a loss of approximately $16,000 through moneys paid to the Luntex Corporation of New York, which was operated by relatives. The tax bureau contended this business loss was illegal, although she contended the deduction was a legal one and taken advantage of when discovered, 10 years after the business venture.

The case was tried in United States Tax Court, Grand Central Terminal building in New York on March 1, 1955, by Aaron E. Klein, Kingston attorney, who appeared for Mrs. Propp.

On December 9, Judge Arnold Raum reversed the determination of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue of a deficiency in the 1949 income tax return.

Judge Raum in his decision wrote in part: "The circumstances in the case are unique. We are satisfied on the entire record that petitioner's loss growing out of her loan to Luntex was substantiated in 1949. Although different statutory provisions may be involved, the problem here is closely related by reason of its unusual facts to the case of an embezzlement discovered by the victim in a later year where it is held that deduction may be taken in the year of discovery . . . We hold that the debt became worthless in 1949."

Early Holiday Toll Hits 67

58 Persons Killed In Auto Accidents

(By The Associated Press)

Traffic deaths mounted steadily during the first hours of the long Christmas weekend holiday.

First reports showed at least 58 persons had lost their lives in motor mishaps. Nine other violent deaths were reported, six in fires and three in accidents from miscellaneous causes.

A rash of traffic accidents in the Chicago area — more than 500 in five hours last night—resulted in 10 deaths. Police said the accident rate was the highest ever for a Christmas holiday season.

More than 1,000 accidents were reported in the metropolitan area in a period of 12 hours starting at 6 p. m. yesterday. Police at the central complaint room said 500 accidents had been reported in a five-hour period last night, the highest ever for a Christmas holiday period.

Some fog enveloped the area and streets were wet, making driving extremely hazardous.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 560 persons will be killed in traffic mishaps during the 78-hour holiday period—from 6 p. m. yesterday to midnight Monday (local time).

Of the six killed in fires, three were Dominician nuns who perished in a fire which destroyed Our Lady of Grace Monastery in North Guilford, Conn. About 50 other nuns escaped.

The council's estimate of 560 traffic deaths would be a record toll for any holiday period. The all-time mark is 556 set in the four-day Christmas holiday in 1952.

An Associated Press survey during a non-holiday period, from 6 p. m. Friday, Dec. 9 to midnight Monday, Dec. 12, disclosed a total of 364 traffic fatalities. In the first 10 months this year traffic deaths averaged 102 per day.

Driving conditions were hazardous in many areas hit by rain, snow and fog. Fog extended over sections of the upper Mississippi valley, the Ohio valley and parts of Illinois and lower Michigan. Snow covered wide areas in most of the northern border states, New England and parts of New York and Pennsylvania. Rain continued in the far west.

Deaths in traffic, fires and miscellaneous causes by states:

Fire Destroys Barn In Chapel Street Area

A two-story frame barn with an attached one-story frame shed located to the rear of 80 Chapel street was completely destroyed by fire early today according to fire department authorities.

According to the fire department a brush fire was reported at 7:55 a. m. and upon the arrival of fire apparatus at the scene the barn and shed owned by the Cirone estate was found completely enveloped in flames by the firemen of Engine 2 of Cornell station and A. H. Wicks Company.

The barn used for storing hay and farm implements was occupied at the time by Frank Cirone who helped salvage equipment.

The attached shed contained a 1931 truck which was destroyed in the fire according to fire department report. A tractor also in the shed was removed by Mr. Cirone.

Firemen reported difficulty in fighting the blaze due to the great distance of hydrants from the structure and the handicap of a small water main in that section.

President Doubtful of Trip South

Busy Slate May Postpone Visit

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—A quiet family day without any official appointments made up President Eisenhower's schedule today as he prepared to spend his first Christmas—and probably the entire holiday period—in the White House.

The idea of a trip south immediately after Christmas apparently is out, even though Eisenhower's doctors recommended it. The President has gone to Augusta, Ga., for Christmas in previous years.

THE WHITE HOUSE confirmed yesterday that the Chief Executive has said that "much as I would like to follow the advice of my physicians and seek a warmer climate for a while, I doubt that I shall be able to leave Washington."

That was in a telegram to President Joe Pinder of the Chamber of Commerce at Key West, Fla. Pinder had invited him to come down to former President Harry S. Truman's favorite vacation spot to rest and relax in "the best climate in the nation."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist who examined Eisenhower at Gettysburg last Saturday, recommended that he visit a warmer place for two weeks and get more in outdoor exercise in this period of his convalescence from a heart attack.

SO FAR AS is known, this is the first time the man whom Dr. White has called an ideal and cooperative patient has gone against the advice of his doctors. Presidential press secretary James C. Hegerty was asked why.

Hegerty said he didn't know

Nine Day Rain Hits Wide Area

22,100 Ordered Out; Toll Low

San Francisco, Dec. 24 (AP)—Authorities ordered the evacuation of another central California city early today as flood waters surged over three states in one of the mightiest floods in west coast history.

Yuba City, a town of nearly 8,000 about 90 miles northeast of San Francisco, was ordered evacuated shortly after midnight when pounding waters of the Feather river smashed a 40-yard hole in levees south of town.

THE EVACUATION order came only hours after some 12,500 persons in the sister city of Marysville, just across the river, fled their homes as flood waters threatened to rupture elaborate river defense works.

To the south, an estimated 3,000 persons were ordered evacuated in Stockton, about 70 miles east of San Francisco, when a covered slough flooded and sent water over a several-block area. Emergency crews began ripping up parts of six streets covering the slough to free the water to flow into the Stockton ship channel.

The Red Cross opened a shelter in Stockton's civic auditorium and issued an emergency call for 500 cots and 1,000 blankets.

MEANWHILE, RAIN fell over the drenched and beleaguered state for the ninth straight day, adding more water to the already choked river and streams that have brought destruction to what army engineers estimate at 10,000 to 15,000 square miles of land in California alone.

President Eisenhower yesterday declared northern California a "major disaster area."

Southern Oregon, California's neighbor to the north, and Nevada across the Sierra Nevada range to the east, also battled flooding rivers.

MIRACULOUSLY, the loss of life remained low. Latest counts placed California's death toll at 17 and Oregon's at 5. Nevada reported no deaths.

Local Traveling Hazardous

Caution Is Urged For Yule Visitors

Slippery routes will undoubtedly expedite the travel of Santa Claus' sleigh in the area for the traditional Christmas Eve visit today but should serve as a caution sign for Yuletide travelers in their holiday journeys.

The National Safety Council has predicted 560 traffic fatalities for the holiday weekend and only extreme caution by the motoring public can belie that forecast.

A misty rain falling on the area early today made city streets, area roads and highways and the Thruway slippery, freezing as it hit pavements.

Ulster County Jailer Carl Cline of the sheriff's department cautioned motorists this morning that county roads were "very, very slippery." He said that in some sections of the county a falling rain made conditions hazardous.

Wire reports of Thruway conditions, he said, listed the section from New Paltz to Catskill on the Thruway as slippery in spots with rain freezing as it fell. From Catskill to Amsterdam road conditions were described as clear and dry. Rain was falling and freezing, he reported, from Amsterdam west and sanding crews were working.

He said reports indicated all roads in the area were open but "slippery," and most roads were not sanded.

Rail and bus facilities all reported heavy traffic today as the heavy influx of holiday travelers made their way home to spend Christmas with loved ones.

Adirondack Trailways reported travel "heavy" and a spokesman at the Kingston terminal said extra sections had been added to handle the load. Greyhound Lines likewise reported "heavy travel."

The few hours remaining availed last-minute shoppers an opportunity to purchase gifts for those remaining on Christmas lists. Stores in the city will close at 5 p. m.

Albert Flanagan, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, said shopping was "very heavy" yesterday and he anticipated that last-minute shoppers would be flocking to the stores today, although the weather might prove a factor. He said overall Christmas shopping in Kingston stores had been "very good" for the holiday season.

The waning hours of the day before Christmas found the city bustling with Yuletide excitement and families making preparations for the joyous feast. Most area churches planned midnight services and many groups were ready to begin their Christmas Eve carol sings.

For the youngsters the hours were proving endless until the appointed time for Santa's arrival with Christmas toys and gifts.

The weatherman forecast warmer weather today, tonight and Christmas Day in the southeast portion of New York state. Some light snow or sleet was likely, the report said, with snow or light rain expected Sunday. Little if any drop in temperatures was expected tonight, the report added.

2 Are Hurt In Glenerie Auto Mishap

Richard Miller, 22, of Saugerties and Robert Rauk, 20, of Hoag's Corners, who were injured in a head-on collision on Route 9W near Glenerie Lake road three miles north of Kingston at 7:30 p. m. Friday, were reported in "good condition" at Kingston Hospital.

Trooper James Gorman of Kingston State Police, who investigated, said details of the accident were not available last night due to the condition of the operators of the two vechicles.

HE SAID IT had been reported to him unofficially that one of the cars pulled out to pass a truck. Both of the vehicles, which were heavily damaged, were 1949 sedans.

Corporal N. G. Lecakes of Ellenville State Police reported a one car property accident at 1:45 a. m. today on Route 209 about three-tenths of a mile north of Ellenville.

He said a 1939 sedan operated by John Pilkington, 39 of Kerhonkson, traveling north, went off the right shoulder and hit a guard rail with the right rear fender. Mr. Pilkington told troopers J. R. Pergolesi and M. J. Mahoney that he was blinded by the headlights of an oncoming vechicle.

Weatherman Predicts Dreary Yule in State

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Weatherwise, it will be a dreary Christmas in New York state.

The weather bureau here predicted today that tomorrow there would be some snow in the northeastern part of the state and rain or snow, but not heavy, in the southeast.

The weather bureau at Buffalo predicted intermittent rain for tomorrow in western New York and the southern tier.

But Uncle Sam's meteorologists had some cheering news also. They said temperatures throughout the state tomorrow would be far above zero.

That was welcome news to almost everybody, coming after four frigid days that sent temperatures well below zero.

The warming trend, which began yesterday, was continuing. Temperatures in the state last night generally were above zero. The weather bureau received only three overnight lows below zero. It was minus 3 at Massena and Glens Falls and minus 2 in Albany.

Other overnight lows, all on the plus side: Watertown 6, Utica and Rome 8, Oneonta 15, Poughkeepsie 11, Newburgh 13, Binghamton 21, Elmira 24, Sampson Air Force Base 28, Syracuse 10, Rochester 21 and Buffalo 30.

It was cloudy generally in the western part of the state today. In the eastern part it was overcast, with a light, freezing drizzle falling in some sections. A warm front, moving up from the southeastern part of the country, was expected to keep temperatures considerably above zero tonight.

Officials See Easing Of Russian 'Curtain'

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—State Department officials believe that despite the failure of the Geneva foreign ministers' conference Russia may be willing to open its "Iron Curtain" further in the next few months.

The State Department announced yesterday that the Soviet government had agreed to permit the United States to distribute a Russian language magazine in the Soviet Union. This means the revival of the magazine "Amerika" which was suspended in July 1952 after the Russians had sharply curtailed distribution.

Director Theodore C. Streibert of the U. S. Information Agency, which will prepare the magazine, said the first issue will be ready in three to six months.

In return, the Soviet embassy here will resume publication of an English language magazine for the first time in more than three years. The Soviet embassy said its plans are tentative, and no name for its publication has been chosen.

Under the deal both magazines are to be strictly non political. They are to deal with cultural and other subjects bearing on the life of each country but stay away from controversial expressions of opinion on the current east-west issues.

The Soviet agreement came as something of a surprise. There was no hint of it at the Geneva foreign ministers meet-

Schirick Signs Order Restraining Teamsters

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—A teamster meeting reputedly called for today in Newburgh by two convicted union leaders has been banned temporarily by court order.

State Supreme Court Judge Harry E. Schirick of Kingston signed the order yesterday. Returnable Jan. 6, it forbids Francis Stickles and Philip Massiello from holding a meeting and directs them to show why they should not be restrained from interfering with Teamster Local 445.

Stickles and Massiello, convicted recently of extortion, have been ousted as secretary-treasurer and business agent, respectively, by an insurgent group within the local.

Theodore Daley, who succeeded Stickles, had said the pair planned an election meeting for today. The restraining order was obtained by Francis Martocci, former Kingston city judge.

Stickles, of Yonkers, and Massiello, of Middletown, are appealing their conviction.

Renounce Atomic Weapons, Is Pope's Plea to Nations

Vatican City, Dec. 24 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, in his 17th annual Christmas message, called on the world today to renounce atomic tests and the use of atomic weapons.

The 79-year-old spiritual leader of more than 450 million Roman Catholics said control of nuclear weapons involves three simultaneous steps: Renunciation of experiments with such weapons, renunciation of their use, and general control of all armaments. He called for an international agreement to achieve them.

The pontiff, speaking from his golden throne over the Vatican radio, warned that merely halting atomic weapon tests would not be adequate. Such a limited step, he added, would give "sufficient reason to doubt a sincere desire to put into effect the other two conventions."

The pontiff also:

1. Warned that colonial peoples must not be denied political freedom.

2. Repeated emphatically the Catholic Church's rejection of communism as a social system, by virtue of Christ's doctrine.

The Pope, dressed in white and gold robes, spoke in a firm voice to 16 assembled cardinals and other prelates. His delivery was in marked contrast with last year, when he was able to give the world only a brief greeting after his convalescence from a grave illness. Persons close to him said today he appeared somewhat tired from the pressure of the Christmas season but otherwise seemed fitter than for some years.

Troubled World Again Turns Thoughts To Bethlehem for Peace and Good Will

(By The Associated Press)

Christians, wherever they are in a troubled world, turned their thoughts today to the little town of Bethlehem as Christmas observances again emphasized age-old hopes for peace and good will.

In Arab-held Bethlehem, within sight of the closely-guarded Jordan-Israeli demarcation line, everything was ready for the traditional Christmas Eve pilgrimage and midnight church services. Despite the lifting of a curfew after five days of political rioting in Jordan, the atmosphere continued more nervous than usual.

Fewer visitors were expected this year for the ancient ritual of midnight Mass in St. Catherine's Church adjoining the Church of the Nativity.

From the winter-darkened top of the world where Americans and Canadians are building the DEW (distant early warning) radar line beneath the aurora borealis, to the Byrd expedition on Antartica, it was the same story. Christians were together in thought if not in fact.

Chiefs of state and ordinary folk planned their celebrations in their own way.

A special treat was in store for President Eisenhower, celebrating the yule season quietly at the White House. Tonight the Eisenhower grandchildren—David, 7; Barbara Anne, 6; and Susan, 4—will sing Christmas carols they have been practicing earnestly.

The children's mother Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the newest member of the family, Mary Jean, will not be on hand. They will be at Walter Reed Hospital, where the baby was born Wednesday. But the mother planned to have Christmas dinner with the family Sunday.

Across the Atlantic, Queen Elizabeth II was with her family at Sandringham, the 7,000-acre estate in Norfolk where the British Royal Family has been gathering for Christmas since the days of the queen's great-grandfather, Edward VII. The queen will make her customary broadcast to the commonwealth and empire Christmas Day.

Pope Pius XII makes his 17th consecutive Christmas Eve appeal today for peace and good will among men. His message will be carried in 28 languages during the next five days.

The annual Christmas midnight Mass also will be broadcast from the Vatican (at 6 p. m. EST)

Firemen reported difficulty in fighting the blaze due to the great distance of hydrants from the structure and the handicap of a small water main in that section.

Local Traveling Hazardous

Caution Is Urged For Yule Visitors

Slippery routes will undoubtedly expedite the travel of Santa Claus' sleigh in the area for the traditional Christmas Eve visit today but should serve as a caution sign for Yuletide travelers in their holiday journeys.

The National Safety Council has predicted 560 traffic fatalities for the holiday weekend and only extreme caution by the motoring public can belie that forecast.

A misty rain falling on the area early today made city streets, area roads and highways and the Thruway slippery, freezing as it hit pavements.

Ulster County Jailer Carl Cline of the sheriff's department cautioned motorists this morning that county roads were "very, very slippery." He said that in some sections of the county a falling rain made conditions hazardous.

Wire reports of Thruway conditions, he said, listed the section from New Paltz to Catskill on the Thruway as slippery in spots with rain freezing as it fell. From Catskill to Amsterdam road conditions were described as clear and dry. Rain was falling and freezing, he reported, from Amsterdam west and sanding crews were working.

He said reports indicated all roads in the area were open but "slippery," and most roads were not sanded.

Rail and bus facilities all reported heavy traffic today as the heavy influx of holiday travelers made their way home to spend Christmas with loved ones.

Adirondack Trailways reported travel "heavy" and a spokesman at the Kingston terminal said extra sections had been added to handle the load. Greyhound Lines likewise reported "heavy travel."

The few hours remaining availed last-minute shoppers an opportunity to purchase gifts for those remaining on Christmas lists. Stores in the city will close at 5 p. m.

Albert Flanagan, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, said shopping was "very heavy" yesterday and he anticipated that last-minute shoppers would be flocking to the stores today, although the weather might prove a factor. He said overall Christmas shopping in Kingston stores had been "very good" for the holiday season.

The waning hours of the day before Christmas found the city bustling with Yuletide excitement and families making preparations for the joyous feast. Most area churches planned midnight services and many groups were ready to begin their Christmas Eve carol sings.

For the youngsters the hours were proving endless until the appointed time for Santa's arrival with Christmas toys and gifts.

The weatherman forecast warmer weather today, tonight and Christmas Day in the southeast portion of New York state. Some light snow or sleet was likely, the report said, with snow or light rain expected Sunday. Little if any drop in temperatures was expected tonight, the report added.

2 Are Hurt In Glenerie Auto Mishap

Richard Miller, 22, of Saugerties and Robert Rauk, 20, of Hoag's Corners, who were injured in a head-on collision on Route 9W near Glenerie Lake road three miles north of Kingston at 7:30 p. m. Friday, were reported in "good condition" at Kingston Hospital.

Trooper James Gorman of Kingston State Police, who investigated, said details of the accident were not available last night due to the condition of the operators of the two vechicles.

HE SAID IT had been reported to him unofficially that one of the cars pulled out to pass a truck. Both of the vehicles, which were heavily damaged, were 1949 sedans.

Corporal N. G. Lecakes of Ellenville State Police reported a one car property accident at 1:45 a. m. today on Route 209 about three-tenths of a mile north of Ellenville.

He said a 1939 sedan operated by John Pilkington, 39 of Kerhonkson, traveling north, went off the right shoulder and hit a guard rail with the right rear fender. Mr. Pilkington told troopers J. R. Pergolesi and M. J. Mahoney that he was blinded by the headlights of an oncoming vechicle.

Weatherman Predicts Dreary Yule in State

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Weatherwise, it will be a dreary Christmas in New York state.

The weather bureau here predicted today that tomorrow there would be some snow in the northeastern part of the state and rain or snow, but not heavy, in the southeast.

The weather bureau at Buffalo predicted intermittent rain for tomorrow in western New York and the southern tier.

But Uncle Sam's meteorologists had some cheering news also. They said temperatures throughout the state tomorrow would be far above zero.

That was welcome news to almost everybody, coming after four frigid days that sent temperatures well below zero.

The warming trend, which began yesterday, was continuing. Temperatures in the state last night generally were above zero. The weather bureau received only three overnight lows below zero. It was minus 3 at Massena and Glens Falls and minus 2 in Albany.

Other overnight lows, all on the plus side: Watertown 6, Utica and Rome 8, Oneonta 15, Poughkeepsie 11, Newburgh 13, Binghamton 21, Elmira 24, Sampson Air Force Base 28, Syracuse 10, Rochester 21 and Buffalo 30.

It was cloudy generally in the western part of the state today. In the eastern part it was overcast, with a light, freezing drizzle falling in some sections. A warm front, moving up from the southeastern part of the country, was expected to keep temperatures considerably above zero tonight.

Officials See Easing Of Russian 'Curtain'

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—State Department officials believe that despite the failure of the Geneva foreign ministers' conference Russia may be willing to open its "Iron Curtain" further in the next few months.

The State Department announced yesterday that the Soviet government had agreed to permit the United States to distribute a Russian language magazine in the Soviet Union. This means the revival of the magazine "Amerika" which was suspended in July 1952 after the Russians had sharply curtailed distribution.

Director Theodore C. Streibert of the U. S. Information Agency, which will prepare the magazine, said the first issue will be ready in three to six months.

In return, the Soviet embassy here will resume publication of an English language magazine for the first time in more than three years. The Soviet embassy said its plans are tentative, and no name for its publication has been chosen.

Under the deal both magazines are to be strictly non political. They are to deal with cultural and other subjects bearing on the life of each country but stay away from controversial expressions of opinion on the current east-west issues.

The Soviet agreement came as something of a surprise. There was no hint of it at the Geneva foreign ministers meet-

Schirick Signs Order Restraining Teamsters

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—A teamster meeting reputedly called for today in Newburgh by two convicted union leaders has been banned temporarily by court order.

State Supreme Court Judge Harry E. Schirick of Kingston signed the order yesterday. Returnable Jan. 6, it forbids Francis Stickles and Philip Massiello from holding a meeting and directs them to show why they should not be restrained from interfering with Teamster Local 445.

Stickles and Massiello, convicted recently of extortion, have been ousted as secretary-treasurer and business agent, respectively, by an insurgent group within the local.

Theodore Daley, who succeeded Stickles, had said the pair planned an election meeting for today. The restraining order was obtained by Francis Martocci, former Kingston city judge.

Stickles, of Yonkers, and Massiello, of Middletown, are appealing their conviction.

No Freeman On Monday

There will be no publication of The Kingston Daily Freeman on Monday, December 26 in observance of the Christmas holiday.

Renounce Atomic Weapons, Is Pope's Plea to Nations

Vatican City, Dec. 24 (AP)—Pope Pius XII, in his 17th annual Christmas message, called on the world today to renounce atomic tests and the use of atomic weapons.

The 79-year-old spiritual leader of more than 450 million Roman Catholics said control of nuclear weapons involves three simultaneous steps: Renunciation of experiments with such weapons, renunciation of their use, and general control of all armaments. He called for an international agreement to achieve them.

The pontiff, speaking from his golden throne over the Vatican radio, warned that merely halting atomic weapon tests would not be adequate. Such a limited step, he added, would give "sufficient reason to doubt a sincere desire to put into effect the other two conventions."

The pontiff also:

1. Warned that colonial peoples must not be denied political freedom.

2. Repeated emphatically the Catholic Church's rejection of communism as a social system, by virtue of Christ's doctrine.

The Pope, dressed in white and gold robes, spoke in a firm voice to 16 assembled cardinals and other prelates. His delivery was in marked contrast with last year, when he was able to give the world only a brief greeting after his convalescence from a grave illness. Persons close to him said today he appeared somewhat tired from the pressure of the Christmas season but otherwise seemed fitter than for some years.

The Pope's message, an an-

Troubled World Again Turns Thoughts To Bethlehem for Peace and Good Will

(By The Associated Press)

Christians, wherever they are in a troubled world, turned their thoughts today to the little town of Bethlehem as Christmas observances again emphasized age-old hopes for peace and good will.

In Arab-held Bethlehem, within sight of the closely-guarded Jordan-Israeli demarcation line, everything was ready for the traditional Christmas Eve pilgrimage and midnight church services. Despite the lifting of a curfew after five days of political rioting in Jordan, the atmosphere continued more nervous than usual.

Fewer visitors were expected this year for the ancient ritual of midnight Mass in St. Catherine's Church adjoining the Church of the Nativity.

From the winter-darkened top of the world where Americans and Canadians are building the DEW (distant early warning) radar line beneath the aurora borealis, to the Byrd expedition on Antartica, it was the same story. Christians were together in thought if not in fact.

Chiefs of state and ordinary folk planned their celebrations in their own way.

A special treat was in store for President Eisenhower, celebrating the yule season quietly at the White House. Tonight the Eisenhower grandchildren—David, 7; Barbara Anne, 6; and Susan, 4—will sing Christmas carols they have been practicing earnestly.

The children's mother Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the newest member of the family, Mary Jean, will not be on hand. They will be at Walter Reed Hospital, where the baby was born Wednesday. But the mother planned to have Christmas dinner with the family Sunday.

Across the Atlantic, Queen Elizabeth II was with her family at Sandringham, the 7,000-acre estate in Norfolk where the British Royal Family has been gathering for Christmas since the days of the queen's great-grandfather, Edward VII. The queen will make her customary broadcast to the commonwealth and empire Christmas Day.

Pope Pius XII makes his 17th consecutive Christmas Eve appeal today for peace and good will among men. His message will be carried in 28 languages during the next five days.

The annual Christmas midnight Mass also will be broadcast from the Vatican (at 6 p. m. EST)

Redeemer Church Announces Two Special Services

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts street (9-W) at Rogers, will hold two Christmas services this year. The schedule calls for a service of candle-lighting at 11 p. m. Christmas eve and a family service on Christmas morning at 10:45 o'clock.

THE SANCTUARY, lighted with candles and with poinsettias banked about the white marble altar, will be ready for worshippers at 10:15 p. m. on Christmas eve. Those who arrive early to worship will hear traditional carols played on the chime of cast bells in the tower by Mrs. Jack Blankschan followed by four organ works presented by Mrs. Lester Decker at the console. These will be Bach's, To Shepherds as They Watched by Night and three Christmas preludes titled, "In Dulci Jubilo," by Bach, Peeters and Dupre.

The service itself will include the well-loved Christmas hymns with a meditation by the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, on the theme, "The Beauty of Holiness." The choir of the church, under the direction of Leonard Stine, will sing Mozart's "Gloria, Kings to Thy Rising" by Butcher, the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah and "O Holy Night" by Adam. As an organ offertory, Mrs. Decker has chosen a choral prelude by Peeter's on the historic 14th century tune, "Vom Himmel Hoch."

THE CLIMAX of the service at midnight features the lighting of hundreds of candles by the congregation in the sanctuary and the great prayer for Christmas eve.

The service on Christmas morning will be a family event since there will be no session of the Sunday school that day. The pastor's sermon will center about the Holy Family and the carols loved most in the home will be sung. Vocal music will include the anthem, "From Heaven High the Angels Come," arranged by Dickinson and two solos from the Messiah by Margaret Danford and Estelle Fatum.

IN ADDITION to carols on the tower chimes, instrumental music will include organ works. During the Christmas morning service a nursery will care for small children of parents attending the service. Visitors are cordially invited to attend either or both of these Christmas services.

The program is under the direction of Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. W. Hutchins and the Sunday school teachers.

Religious TV Programs

The final program of the "We Believe" series on Catholic beliefs will be telecast over Station WKNY-TV Sunday at 1:30 p. m. The Rev. James J. McQuade, SJ, head of the Religion Department of John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio will discuss what Catholics believe about the Holy Bible. "We Believe," produced by the National Council of Catholic Men is intended to bring a clearer understanding of the beliefs of Catholics in an objective and educational manner.

In comparing the Bible to a road map of life, Father McQuade says, "Catholics love the Bible and think it is a wonderful service on the part of God to provide us all with such a fine road map of life. But they realize that not all the information about the whole route of life is in the Bible. Their Automobile Club, to which they appeal for special route instructions is the Catholic Church."

Father McQuade discusses in detail the history and origin of many of the sacred writings in the Bible and relates how the Council of Vatican around 1860 decreed, "that God was the real author of the Bible since it was written under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit."

In this final program of the "We Believe" series, Father McQuade demonstrates his unique talent for reducing the abstractions of Catholic doctrine to simple and easy-to-understand terms that every one can understand. It is certain that both non-Catholics and Catholics alike achieved a deeper understanding and appreciation of what Catholics believe as a result of Father McQuade's talented and personable talks.

Midnight Mass At St. John's

The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany avenue, announced today that the traditional Christmas services of the church will be held as usual this year.

Saturday night beginning at 11:30 o'clock the traditional Midnight Mass of Christmas Eve will be celebrated with full liturgical music. Under the direction of Harry Berchin, M. A., and with Richard Davis, A. A. G. O., at the organ, the choir will sing the ancient Merbecke settings including the Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria in Excelsis. While the people are receiving their Communion the choir will sing a group of hymns and carols including, O Little Town of Bethlehem, What Child Is This, Silent Night and Calm on the List'ning Ear. The customary Christmas hymns will also be included, O Come All Ye Faithful, Angels from the Realms of Glory, Angels We Have Heard on High, and Hark the Herald Angels Sing.

At the Offertory the choir will sing "The Night Song of Bethlehem" by Dudley Buck, with Harry Kapreilian as soloist.

For one half hour preceding the service Mr. Davis will play organ music in addition to the customary Prelude and Postlude. The organ music will include; La Nativite by Jean Langlais, Adoration by Borowski, An American Organ Mass by Richard Purvis, Noel Basque by Benoit, and Four Christmas Chorale Preludes by J. S. Bach.

On Christmas Day, Sunday at 11 a. m., the music of the Midnight Mass will be repeated.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend either or both of these services.

Redeemer Church Announces Two Special Services

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts street (9-W) at Rogers, will hold two Christmas services this year. The schedule calls for a service of candle-lighting at 11 p. m. Christmas eve and a family service on Christmas morning at 10:45 o'clock.

THE SANCTUARY, lighted with candles and with poinsettias banked about the white marble altar, will be ready for worshippers at 10:15 p. m. on Christmas eve. Those who arrive early to worship will hear traditional carols played on the chime of cast bells in the tower by Mrs. Jack Blankschan followed by four organ works presented by Mrs. Lester Decker at the console. These will be Bach's, To Shepherds as They Watched by Night and three Christmas preludes titled, "In Dulci Jubilo," by Bach, Peeters and Dupre.

The service itself will include the well-loved Christmas hymns with a meditation by the pastor, the Rev. David C. Gaise, on the theme, "The Beauty of Holiness." The choir of the church, under the direction of Leonard Stine, will sing Mozart's "Gloria, Kings to Thy Rising" by Butcher, the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah and "O Holy Night" by Adam. As an organ offertory, Mrs. Decker has chosen a choral prelude by Peeter's on the historic 14th century tune, "Vom Himmel Hoch."

THE CLIMAX of the service at midnight features the lighting of hundreds of candles by the congregation in the sanctuary and the great prayer for Christmas eve.

The service on Christmas morning will be a family event since there will be no session of the Sunday school that day. The pastor's sermon will center about the Holy Family and the carols loved most in the home will be sung. Vocal music will include the anthem, "From Heaven High the Angels Come," arranged by Dickinson and two solos from the Messiah by Margaret Danford and Estelle Fatum.

IN ADDITION to carols on the tower chimes, instrumental music will include organ works. During the Christmas morning service a nursery will care for small children of parents attending the service. Visitors are cordially invited to attend either or both of these Christmas services.

Tillson Church School to Offer Yule Eve Program

The Tillson Reformed Church Sunday school will conduct Christmas exercises on Christmas eve at 7:30 p. m.

The program is under the direction of Sunday school superintendent, Mrs. W. Hutchins and the Sunday school teachers.

Religious TV Programs

The final program of the "We Believe" series on Catholic beliefs will be telecast over Station WKNY-TV Sunday at 1:30 p. m. The Rev. James J. McQuade, SJ, head of the Religion Department of John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio will discuss what Catholics believe about the Holy Bible. "We Believe," produced by the National Council of Catholic Men is intended to bring a clearer understanding of the beliefs of Catholics in an objective and educational manner.

In comparing the Bible to a road map of life, Father McQuade says, "Catholics love the Bible and think it is a wonderful service on the part of God to provide us all with such a fine road map of life. But they realize that not all the information about the whole route of life is in the Bible. Their Automobile Club, to which they appeal for special route instructions is the Catholic Church."

Father McQuade discusses in detail the history and origin of many of the sacred writings in the Bible and relates how the Council of Vatican around 1860 decreed, "that God was the real author of the Bible since it was written under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit."

In this final program of the "We Believe" series, Father McQuade demonstrates his unique talent for reducing the abstractions of Catholic doctrine to simple and easy-to-understand terms that every one can understand. It is certain that both non-Catholics and Catholics alike achieved a deeper understanding and appreciation of what Catholics believe as a result of Father McQuade's talented and personable talks.

Midnight Mass At St. John's

The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Albany avenue, announced today that the traditional Christmas services of the church will be held as usual this year.

Saturday night beginning at 11:30 o'clock the traditional Midnight Mass of Christmas Eve will be celebrated with full liturgical music. Under the direction of Harry Berchin, M. A., and with Richard Davis, A. A. G. O., at the organ, the choir will sing the ancient Merbecke settings including the Kyrie, Creed, Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, and Gloria in Excelsis. While the people are receiving their Communion the choir will sing a group of hymns and carols including, O Little Town of Bethlehem, What Child Is This, Silent Night and Calm on the List'ning Ear. The customary Christmas hymns will also be included, O Come All Ye Faithful, Angels from the Realms of Glory, Angels We Have Heard on High, and Hark the Herald Angels Sing.

At the Offertory the choir will sing "The Night Song of Bethlehem" by Dudley Buck, with Harry Kapreilian as soloist.

For one half hour preceding the service Mr. Davis will play organ music in addition to the customary Prelude and Postlude. The organ music will include; La Nativite by Jean Langlais, Adoration by Borowski, An American Organ Mass by Richard Purvis, Noel Basque by Benoit, and Four Christmas Chorale Preludes by J. S. Bach.

On Christmas Day, Sunday at 11 a. m., the music of the Midnight Mass will be repeated.

Methodist Youths Will Offer Yule Story on Sunday

The young people of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, 122 Clinton avenue, will present a pantomine of the Christmas story Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at a special Christmas candlelight carol service.

The cast of characters includes: Mary by Heather Goodman; Joseph by Gerald Sampson; the inn keeper by Gerald W. Woodvine; the angel by Jean Everitt; the shepherds by Richard Metcalf, Carolyn Casey and William Russell; the wise men by James Priest, Barbara Brayman, and Richard Leudtke; Herod by Warner Miller, the guard by Lewis Casey and the scribe by Arthur Casey.

Interspersed throughout the pantomine will be the following musical numbers: tenor solo by Richard Bunting, "There's a Song in the Air" by Harrington; clarinet solo by Miss Shirley Morrette; "Away in a Manger" by Miller; flute duet by Misses Virginia Bunting and Dorothy Snell, "O Holy Night" by Adam. Carols will be sung by the senior choir.

The pantomine is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Warner Miller, the youth counsellors of the church, assisted by the Rev. Albert H. Shultis. Mrs. Clyde Herbert Snell will be at the organ and Dale Natoli at the piano. The narrator will be Philip A. Snell.

The church will be illuminated by the soft glow of candlelight. The public is cordially invited.

Young Stevenson To Undergo Surgery

Chicago, Dec. 24 (AP)—John Fell Stevenson, 19, youngest son of Adlai E. Stevenson, will undergo surgery next week for removal of his right kneecap, which was shattered in an automobile crash Wednesday.

Dr. James K. Stack, bone specialist treating young Stevenson at Passavant Hospital, said yesterday the youth is "doing fine," and after the operation will be able to pursue normal activities.

Dr. Stack, assistant professor of orthopedic surgery at Northwestern University and chief of staff at the hospital, said surgery will be performed Monday or Wednesday. If all goes well, Stack said, Stevenson will be released from the hospital 10 days after the operation.

Worthwhile Tips For the Amateur Paper Hanger

In calculating how much wallpaper you need for a room, figure 36 square feet of coverage a single roll.

If you want to get the old wallpaper off before applying a spanking fresh coat this spring, wet it thoroughly with warm water and scrape from the top down. Cover the baseboard areas with newspapers or dropcloths.

Wallpaper comes in rolls, 18, 22, or 30 inches wide. The 18 and 22 inch rolls are packaged in "double rolls," the 30-inch only in "triple rolls." All, however, are figured in "single rolls," which contain 36 square feet.

If you want to wallpaper a painted or varnished wall, wash it with soda (a pound of it to a pail of warm water), then wash with clear warm water with a little vinegar in it. Then "size" the walls and allow the sizing to dry before applying the paper.

Build the Fence Inside Lot Line

Going to fence in your yard? You'd better be sure to erect that fence on your side of the property line, if you want to avoid the possibility of serious trouble.

Many home owners believe that they can build a fence right on the property line. Actually, the only time this can be done is when two or more neighbors build a fence together, and share the construction and maintenance costs.

Otherwise, divisionary fences must be located inside the property line, entirely on the owner's own property.

If a neighbor should object, faulty placement of a fence can prove expensive to you, if you have to dismantle, then re-erect it at a new location. In some cases, it might even make you liable for damages.

To play safe, you should check the exact position of your property line at the appropriate local office before beginning actual construction.

'Erasers' Ease Screen Painting

Be sure to give adequate paint protection to galvanized screens to make them last as long as possible. Copper screening should also be painted to prevent the corrosive down-wash of the metal from staining light surfaces below.

To facilitate the job of applying screen enamel, special applicators are available that resemble blackboard erasers. Pour a little screen enamel into a shallow pan, dip in your "eraser" and you can complete the job in short order. Paint both sides of the screening, of course.

When you tackle a screened porch, it simplifies matters if there are two on the painting team—one to work inside; the other, out.

Save on Floors

Save money when building that new home by using low-cost utility grades of flat-grained hemlock or fir flooring where linoleum, asphalt tile, cork or wall-to-wall carpeting will cover the entire floor surface. You thus get all the advantages of resilient wood walking surfaces at lower cost.

Anchors for Wood

Wood members can be fastened together with machine screws or bolts through the use of a small threaded anchor that can be set into the wood. These anchors are especially good for any article that needs to be taken apart for one reason or another.

'The Smalley' Is Spacious, Comfortable

Rooms ..... Five
Bedrooms ..... Two
Closets ..... Seven
Cubage ..... 22,000 feet
Dimensions ..... 43 by 22 feet

"The Smalley," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is every bit as comfortable inside as its cozy appearing exterior would lead you to believe.

Because of its informal style of architecture this house lends itself especially well to a California redwood — or a stained wood—finish. Also, a naturally attractive setting — preferably in the suburbs or country — would be most appropriate.

65-Foot Lot

Measuring 43 by 32 feet, the house has a cubage of 22,000 feet. Thus, you'll need only about a 65-foot lot to build it. Measurements given for this design include both house and garage as the garage is an integral part of the house design.

To give a more charming and distinctive exterior appearance —and also to bring added beauty into the house itself through the picture window in the living room — you'll find it well worth your while to make the terrace area just as attractive as possible.

Both bedrooms in this house are placed in the right wing. Each room features good lighting and cross-ventilation. Each also has good closet space.

Third Bedroom

Should you need a third bedroom you can use the room designated as a dining room for that purpose. This room also can serve as a guest room if such an agreement best suits your needs.

Measuring 13 feet 4 inches by 19 feet, the living room is large enough to serve as both a living and a dining room. A fireplace and built-in bookshelves are suggested for the living room.

The kitchen is very compact and is arranged and planned as a work center. Yet—there is an area set aside in the left section of the room as a breakfast nook. The service entrance leads directly into the kitchen.

Storage Space

Throughout this house there is ample storage space—including a large broom closet where you can keep all of your cleaning supplies. And, of course, in the basement you'll also have more storage space.

Room for Expansion

When laying hardwood flooring in residences, do not, under any circumstances, lay it tight against studding or walls. Leave not less than ½-inch horizontal expansion space at all walls.

Cooling Fences

You can have an air-conditioned yard with plenty of privacy if you design your fences to allow for a free flow of breezes. Many new designs add charm to your red cedar fences while still keeping you cool. You can use fense boards set as louvers, or alternate flat boards on either side of top and bottom rail and many other styles.

Laying Flooring

In applying hardwood flooring, do not hammer each piece into final position as soon as it is nailed. After installing three or four pieces, place a short length of scrap flooring against the tongue edge of the outside strip and drive the units up snugly. Use of the scrap piece helps protect the tongue from breakage.

Choose Freezer To Fit Location

In planning where to put your freezer, you may be surprised to learn that the choice of size and type of machine may be dictated by the limitations in respect to location.

If a crooked hallway must be negotiated, a long, chest freezer may be out of the question. If the basement stairs have a sharp turn at the top, it may be impossible to move anything but the smallest freezer down the stairway.

The utility room may be ideal, but if space is inadequate, the freezer may have to be put somewhere else, or else ordered to fit the space.

Don't Break the Film

After you have painted a window, be very careful if you have to scrape paint off the glass not to damage the paint film over the putty with the razor blade. If this paint film is broken, moisture will get into the cracks.

Drives Bugs Away

If you have trouble with bugs getting stuck in fresh paint, mix about one teaspoon of oil of citronella to each gallon of paint. The odor of the citronella will keep the bugs off the fresh paint.

Young Stevenson To Undergo Surgery

Chicago, Dec. 24 (AP)—John Fell Stevenson, 19, youngest son of Adlai E. Stevenson, will undergo surgery next week for removal of his right kneecap, which was shattered in an automobile crash Wednesday.

Dr. James K. Stack, bone specialist treating young Stevenson at Passavant Hospital, said yesterday the youth is "doing fine," and after the operation will be able to pursue normal activities.

Dr. Stack, assistant professor of orthopedic surgery at Northwestern University and chief of staff at the hospital, said surgery will be performed Monday or Wednesday. If all goes well, Stack said, Stevenson will be released from the hospital 10 days after the operation.

Worthwhile Tips For the Amateur Paper Hanger

In calculating how much wallpaper you need for a room, figure 36 square feet of coverage a single roll.

If you want to get the old wallpaper off before applying a spanking fresh coat this spring, wet it thoroughly with warm water and scrape from the top down. Cover the baseboard areas with newspapers or dropcloths.

Wallpaper comes in rolls, 18, 22, or 30 inches wide. The 18 and 22 inch rolls are packaged in "double rolls," the 30-inch only in "triple rolls." All, however, are figured in "single rolls," which contain 36 square feet.

If you want to wallpaper a painted or varnished wall, wash it with soda (a pound of it to a pail of warm water), then wash with clear warm water with a little vinegar in it. Then "size" the walls and allow the sizing to dry before applying the paper.

Build the Fence Inside Lot Line

Going to fence in your yard? You'd better be sure to erect that fence on your side of the property line, if you want to avoid the possibility of serious trouble.

Many home owners believe that they can build a fence right on the property line. Actually, the only time this can be done is when two or more neighbors build a fence together, and share the construction and maintenance costs.

Otherwise, divisionary fences must be located inside the property line, entirely on the owner's own property.

If a neighbor should object, faulty placement of a fence can prove expensive to you, if you have to dismantle, then re-erect it at a new location. In some cases, it might even make you liable for damages.

To play safe, you should check the exact position of your property line at the appropriate local office before beginning actual construction.

'Erasers' Ease Screen Painting

Be sure to give adequate paint protection to galvanized screens to make them last as long as possible. Copper screening should also be painted to prevent the corrosive down-wash of the metal from staining light surfaces below.

To facilitate the job of applying screen enamel, special applicators are available that resemble blackboard erasers. Pour a little screen enamel into a shallow pan, dip in your "eraser" and you can complete the job in short order. Paint both sides of the screening, of course.

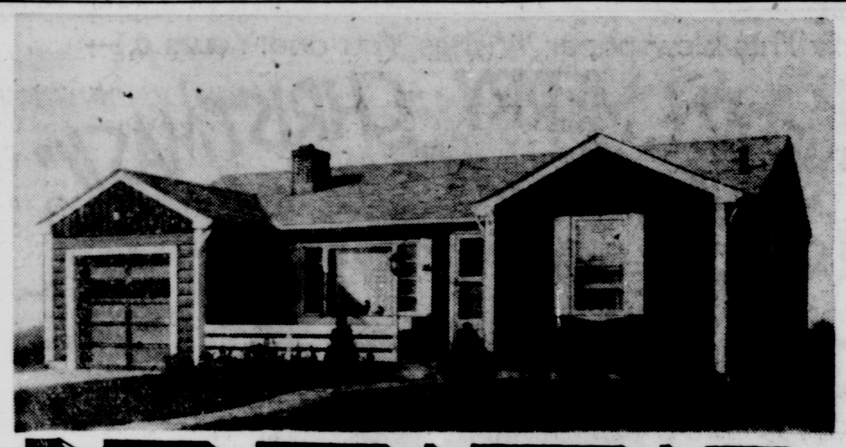
When you tackle a screened porch, it simplifies matters if there are two on the painting team—one to work inside; the other, out.

Save on Floors

Save money when building that new home by using low-cost utility grades of flat-grained hemlock or fir flooring where linoleum, asphalt tile, cork or wall-to-wall carpeting will cover the entire floor surface. You thus get all the advantages of resilient wood walking surfaces at lower cost.

Anchors for Wood

Wood members can be fastened together with machine screws or bolts through the use of a small threaded anchor that can be set into the wood. These anchors are especially good for any article that needs to be taken apart for one reason or another.



'The Smalley' Is Spacious, Comfortable

Rooms ..... Five
Bedrooms ..... Two
Closets ..... Seven
Cubage ..... 22,000 feet
Dimensions ..... 43 by 22 feet

"The Smalley," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is every bit as comfortable inside as its cozy appearing exterior would lead you to believe.

Because of its informal style of architecture this house lends itself especially well to a California redwood — or a stained wood—finish. Also, a naturally attractive setting — preferably in the suburbs or country — would be most appropriate.

65-Foot Lot

Measuring 43 by 32 feet, the house has a cubage of 22,000 feet. Thus, you'll need only about a 65-foot lot to build it. Measurements given for this design include both house and garage as the garage is an integral part of the house design.

To give a more charming and distinctive exterior appearance —and also to bring added beauty into the house itself through the picture window in the living room — you'll find it well worth your while to make the terrace area just as attractive as possible.

Both bedrooms in this house are placed in the right wing. Each room features good lighting and cross-ventilation. Each also has good closet space.

Third Bedroom

Should you need a third bedroom you can use the room designated as a dining room for that purpose. This room also can serve as a guest room if such an agreement best suits your needs.

Measuring 13 feet 4 inches by 19 feet, the living room is large enough to serve as both a living and a dining room. A fireplace and built-in bookshelves are suggested for the living room.

The kitchen is very compact and is arranged and planned as a work center. Yet—there is an area set aside in the left section of the room as a breakfast nook. The service entrance leads directly into the kitchen.

Storage Space

Throughout this house there is ample storage space—including a large broom closet where you can keep all of your cleaning supplies. And, of course, in the basement you'll also have more storage space.

Both the heating plant and your laundry equipment must be placed in the basement. The former should be placed under the living room; the latter under the kitchen or bath.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Sometimes, in the midst of talk about war and speculation on the possibility of total destruction it seems ironic to hear the message of Christmas—"Peace on Earth, to Men of Good will." Where, we ask ourselves, is there peace on earth? Who are the men of good will?

Yet the Child born on the first Christmas did not promise us an easy road. In the joy of the celebration of His birth we must not lose sight of the fact that His personal road let to Calvary. Yet it is also good to reflect that His story did not end with Calvary—that almost twenty centuries have passed and the hope He gave the world still persists, the goal He set is still one which man travels toward—sometimes losing his way, sometimes deliberately traveling in another direction—but always returning to it because it is the only direction in which peace of soul can possibly be found.

At this Christmas let us turn our eyes toward the manger, toward the Child for whom there was no room in the inn. Let us make room for Him in our hearts. If we do, the gift of hope He gave the world will enrich our lives and the message of Christmas will have meaning.

And who said that with all the Christmas bills he's piling up, all he wants from Santa is a five pound, gift wrapped, box of money?

LEARNING ABOUT CANCER

The late reports on cancer research do not say the problem has been solved, the knowledge attained, the work on cures progressing. Laboratory people are not at that point yet. But recent stories of what is being done give hope.

So many are studying the ways of cancer that almost any day now, from one laboratory or another, will come the great news. One worker learns from another, one laboratory builds on the work of another. It begins to seem plain that the knowledge of how to cure the disease is coming, slowly but inevitably. The other step will be knowledge of prevention.

When those two steps have been taken, processes of cure and prevention known, the disease will not automatically and magically vanish, any more than tuberculosis has. It will be around for a long time. But it will be on the way out. It will cease to be up in front of the procession of killers, home-wreckers. It will fall back to a far place, with a few cases every year instead of thousands. The few will still be too many.

The sooner this day comes, the better. People who want to go into medical research should be given every encouragement possible, for the good of all sufferers.

The Yankee baseball team is back from Japan after a triumphal visit. The Japanese treated the players royally—there was no evidence of signs saying "Yankees go home!"

PAY-CHECK ENCOURAGEMENT

There's a good deal of talk but not too much action on the matter of teachers' generally deplorable salaries. Credit the Ford Foundation, therefore, for doing something solid about it for the second time this year.

Last spring the Foundation handed out 50 million dollars to the nation's colleges to help boost teachers' salaries. Now they have earmarked another 210 million dollars for the same purpose.

We are accustomed to having our great foundations allot funds to educational institutions. Welcome as this has always been, too infrequently has the grant been directed to the assistance of teachers.

The Ford group hopes in making this second successive grant for salaries that it is blazing a trail that will be followed not only by other private donors but by the legislatures which must provide the monies for our huge and growing public institutions.

It is a hope that any reasonable person concerned with the future of American education might well share.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE TRAGEDY OF ISRAEL

It is unseemly that war should be permitted to break out in Israel during the Christmas season. Whereas Jews are not religiously associated with Christmas, the land, Israel, is the birthplace of Christianity and most of the early followers of Jesus were Jews and much of the basic dogma of Christianity and Judaism is identical.

The festival of Channukah, coming at about the same time as Christmas, marks a situation which, to a degree, is similar to that which faces Israel today, namely, the prospect of total destruction. The Hasmoneans overcame the Romans. It was in the reign of an Idumean, Herod, that Jesus appeared among the Jews speaking to them of God, the Father, and reminding them of the moral law which God gave to Moses and which had sustained the Jewish people in their tribulations.

As is customary these days, we forget that historic events always have their roots in the past. Egypt and Israel have been antagonistic for about 4,000 years and yet there has always been the closest associations between them. Joseph went down into Egypt and became the ruler of the land in a period of Depression. He and his brothers settled in that country, but, in time, their descendants were enslaved there.

Every year, for thousands of years, it has been customary among Jews, at the Passover Service, which is celebrated today as it was at the Last Supper over which Jesus presided, to say these words:

"Because we were slaves unto Pharaoh in Egypt and the Lord our God brought us forth from thence with a strong hand and an outstretched arm; and if the holy God, blessed be he, had not brought out our ancestors from Egypt, we, our children, and our children's children, would still have continued in bondage to Pharaoh, in Egypt: and therefore, even though all of us were wise, all of us men of understanding, all of us learned of the law, it would still be our duty to recount the departure from Egypt; and the longer we discourse on the departure from Egypt, the more it is accounted praiseworthy."

So profoundly important is the Exodus from Egypt, led by Moses, that another passage read at the Passover Seder Service emphasizes that the Jews did not save themselves from the Egyptians but that God saved them. This passage is a composite of sentences from the Book of Exodus in the Old Testament and reads:

"'And the Lord brought us forth out of Egypt': not by means of an angel, of a seraph, or of a messenger; but by the Holy One, blessed be he, himself, in his glory, as it is said, 'For I will go through the land of Egypt that night; and I will smite all the first-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beasts: and against all the gods of Egypt will I execute judgments; I am the Lord.'"

The Egyptians of today are not the same as the ancient ones nor are these the same Jews but the traditions not only linger on but are profoundly stirring. There were no present day Arabs when Moses led his people from Egypt but there were Egyptians and today the enmity between these peoples has been kindled afresh. It can be taken for granted that in a war, Jews and Egyptians will fight not only with diplomacy and weapons but with hatred. This is unfortunate as between any people because it so obscures the causes of war as to make peace difficult.

And yet, if there were statesmanship in the world, there need be no fighting at all. None of the immediate questions between these countries are so serious that there can be no settlement of them, except one: it is Egypt's intention to eliminate Israel, to destroy Israel, to make it disappear from off the Earth; it is Israel's intention to continue to exist as a state, after 2,000 years of the Diaspora. Apart from this one question of total destruction, there is nothing between these two countries that cannot be settled through the intervention of honestly motivated men and the total destruction of another people is a ridiculous ambition. It is not honest motivation to seek a compromise that will reduce Israel's territory.

Perhaps the Christmas week will induce the statesmen of this country and Great Britain to find a way to peace.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

NOSEBLEED AFTER REMOVAL OF ADENOIDS

The control of spontaneous bleeding is a problem familiar to all physicians. Epistaxis (nosebleed) and hemorrhage following removal of tonsils and adenoids are the two most common examples of this problem. The term "spontaneous hemorrhage" is used to define marked, sudden, and unexpected bleeding. It does not here refer to bleeding resulting from the rupture of a single vessel but means profuse oozing from the surface of the bleeding area, wherever it might be.

Finding a simple, reliable solution for these common emergencies has taxed the ingenuity of the medical profession. To control spontaneous epistaxis, many schemes of treatment have been recommended, such as vitamins K and C, nasal packing, penicillin, cautery, icepacks, thrombin and fibrin foam, and tying off of an artery supplying blood. In certain cases, one method or a combination of these treatments is successful. Other cases resist any attempted treatment and stop as puzzling as they begin, leaving the patient in a blood-deprived condition, and in rare cases even proving to be fatal.

Immediately following removal of adenoids, spontaneous oozing, if recognized, usually can be controlled with packing. In an occasional case this treatment is not effective; in many it is a difficult and complicated procedure; in all it is time-consuming. Now we read of a new method of controlling spontaneous epistaxis and hemorrhage following the removal of tonsils which is felt to be the treatment of choice by those using it. It is the injection of ovary extract either under the skin or into a vein in a dosage of either 5 or 10 mg. depending on the weight of the child. This study was prompted by the work of Dr. P. Jacobson who reported successful treatment of over 300 cases by this means.

The present report by Dr. H. C. Menger, Evangelical Deaconess Hospital, N. Y., is on sixteen cases of spontaneous epistaxis and hemorrhage following the removal of adenoids who found that the response in all cases was dramatic. In only three cases was the length of time between the administration of the medicine and the easing of bleeding over one hour. In no case was there any side effects from the treatment and in no case was there failure.

Why the administration of estrogen (ovary extract) stops this bleeding after adenoidectomy is not yet known. Estrogen in the management of spontaneous hemorrhage was first used in the treatment of functional bleeding from the uterus and it may be found in the future that it may control bleeding at other sites in the body. Thus one more vista is opened for medical research to explore.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—They've done killed Santa Claus for this Christmas, insofar as the U. S. government's foreign aid program is concerned. But they've given the old boy a new, full-time, year-round job.

This is the import of the extended, surplus food distribution program just announced by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson in a preholiday surprise.

For the two previous Christmases, there were big U. S. government giveaways of food parcels abroad.

This had been President Eisenhower's own idea.

The President's purpose was to overcome the criticism that too much of the American foreign aid went to people at the top who didn't need it. What he tried to do was make a generous gesture of Christmas good will from the American people to the poor and needy in free, non-Communist countries.

FOUR MILLION food parcels were distributed in 20 countries at a cost of 12 million dollars in "Operation Reindeer," Christmas 1953. In "Operation Poinsettia" last Christmas, six million parcels went to 40 countries at a cost of [illegible] million.

The decision to discontinue this program was made quietly last September while President Eisenhower was in Denver. Officials of the State and Agriculture Departments and the International Cooperation Administration decided that Chirstmas giving was too expensive and that it cut down on higher priority, year-round foreign aid programs.

There was no public announcement of this action. But the word got around. And private U. S. foreign relief agencies that had cooperated on distribution of the Christmas parcels last year started a quiet campaign.

Through their Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, they asked Department of Agriculture to enlarge its program.

Under authority granted by Congress, surplus butter, dry milk, cheese and cottonseed oil supplies are now given to welfare agencies in this country and abroad.

THE TROUBLE WAS, according to relief workers, that these supplies alone didn't fill the need. What people wanted more was basic flour, corn meal, rice and dried beans.

But there was a catch in the law. Government agencies were authorized to "reprocess" these foods for charitable use. But the law didn't specify that bulk surpluses could be "processed."

The distinction was that 250-pound drums of dry milk powder could be "reprocessed" into small cans for family use. But wheat and corn couldn't be "processed" —meaning ground into flour—for the various relief agencies.

It is still going to take an act of Congress to straighten out this matter before the new Benson program can be made fully effective.

In the meantime, the first red-tape roadblocks have been removed. Dry beans and rice surpluses, in 100-pound bags, can be distributed to relief agencies at home and abroad.

And wheat and corn, unprocessed, can be shipped in bulk to countries like India, where the grain is cracked by hand and boiled for food.

$25,000 Negotiable Bonds Disappear

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Twenty-five thousand dollars in negotiable U. S. Treasury bonds disappeared yesterday from the ledge of a teller's cage in a Wall Street district bank.

A stop order went out immediately on the missing securities—two $10,000 bonds and five for $1,000. The serial numbers were flashed to every bank and bond house.

Harold Davis, 55, a messenger for the brokerage firm of C. F. Childs and Co., gave this account:

He placed the bonds on the ledge for a moment while he walked about 10 feet to a chair and checked his briefcase for other possible deposits in the Marine Midland Trust Co., 120 Broadway.

When he got back to the cage the ledge was bare. Davis said there was one man back of him when he first went up to the teller's cage.

Buffalo Couple Cleared Of Kidnaping Charge

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Kidnapping charges against a Buffalo couple accused of taking a three-week-old baby girl from her unwed mother have been dismissed.

City Judge Madge Taggart said yesterday that the charges against William Goodenough, 38, and his wife, Edith, 21, had not been proved.

The couple was accused of taking a baby born to Miss Patricia Pelow, 18, a friend of Mrs. Goodenough. Miss Pelow said the couple took her baby Dec. 3 and moved to Ann Arbor, Mich., where they were found.

The Goodenoughs claimed that Miss Pelow agreed to let them have the baby in return for paying maternity bills. Authorities said the baby's birth certificate carried the name "Sandra Goodenough," and that Miss Pelow had registered at a local hospital under the name of "Mrs. William Goodenough."

The baby is now in the custody of a welfare agency.

Atomic Fire Power Boosted

70-Mile Range Missiles Are To Go to Europe Early in '56

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—The army is giving another boost to the atomic fire power it has deployed along western Europe's anti-Communist defense line.

It has been announced that six more battalions of Corporal guided missiles will go to Europe during the first four months of the new year.

THESE WEAPONS, capable of using nuclear explosive warheads and with a range up to about 70 miles, will be added to a growing variety of atomic weapons the ground force already has stationed in Europe.

Army atomic weapons already there include one battalion of Corporal missiles, several batteries of Honest John bombardment rockets and six battalions of 280 millimeter cannon. In addition, the air force has units of the matador guided missile—like the army weapons capable of carrying nuclear warheads—and hundreds of air craft designed to use tactical atomic bombs on the battlefield.

All six of the Corporal missile battalions will leave from Ft. Bliss, Tex., where they have been organizing and training for months.

The announcement described the Corporal merely as a "surface-to-surface guided missile capable of extending the range of conventional artillery." Actually, the Corporal travels at supersonic speed and has a range of 50 to 70 miles—well beyond even the 30-mile maximum reach of the 280 millimeter cannon, which is a conventional weapon as far as the propellent and firing methods are concerned.

THE ARMY ALSO has in development, but probably still far from perfection for actual troop use, a longer range missile, the Redstone.

The Corporal is a semi-guided missile. It follows a radar beam during the first phase of its flight. Then, when it is headed correctly, it proceeds like any ballistic projectile—on a high, curving arc, without further guidance, to the target.

The Redstone is a ballistic rocket, with no guidance system after it has been aimed and fired. Range of the Redstones may be between 200 and 300 miles. As is the case with all ballistic missiles, the major problem is perfecting the intricate aiming system needed to hit a target at a distance of hundreds or thousands of miles.

BALLISTIC ROCKETS were first used by the Germans in World War 2. These were popularly known as V2s, but the technical designation used by the Germans was A4. Several German scientists who helped create the first rockets used by the Germans in the closing months of World War 2 are now working for the army at its Huntsville, Ala., arsenal, where the Redstone is being developed.

One of these scientists, asking that he not be named, told a reporter today that considerably improved accuracy was attained in the comparatively few months during which the Germans lobbed rockets in the direction of London, an average distance of about 100 miles from the launching sites.

AT THE OUTSET of combat firing, the "circle of error" in aiming ran as high as 20 miles. But before firings stopped with the defeat of Germany, he said, the fire control (aiming) system had been improved until some shots were hitting within two miles of the intended point.

Using conventional explosive, this still was entirely too large a margin of error. The German V2 program produced poor results on the basis of casualties in relation to ammunition expended:.

AMERICAN ARMY records show that between Sept. 8, 1944, and April 25, 1945, a total of 1,050 V2 rockets reached England. Those rockets killed 2,754 persons—an average of 2 persons for each rocket.

But rockets now can carry nuclear explosive warheads, which changes the picture drastically. Detonation of even a tactical size nuclear warhead of 20 or 30 kilotons energy yield could produce major casualties more than a mile from the explosion. A hydrogen warhead, with a yield of several million tons of energy, could produce total or major destruction and casualties 10 or more miles away.

Modena

Modena, Dec. 23—Miss Lu Smalley and Harold Sutton of Clintondale will be soloists at the third annual midnight candlelight service to be held in the Modena Methodist Church on Christmas eve. The topic of the midnight meditation will be "The Light of Christ," with the Rev. John E. Swords, pastor of the Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gunderman and children, Linda and Theron of Coxsackie were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr. and family here.

Mrs. William Adams accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Williamson of Walden, to Danbury, Conn., recently.

Those attending the annual Christmas party for members of the Womans Society of Christian Service of the Modena Methodist Church held Friday at the home of Mrs. Floyd B. Wells were Mrs. Myron L. Shultis of Kingston; Mrs. William Cole of Highland; Mrs. LeRoy Gruman of Clintondale; Mrs. Joseph Simmons of Irelands Corners; Mrs. Gershom Mount, Mrs. Ira Hyatt, Mrs. Eldred Smith and daughter, Valerie of Ardonia; the Rev. and Mrs. John E. Swords and children, Peter, Mary and Martha; Mrs. Anna Tonnesen, Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., Mrs. Emory Conklin, Mrs. Lois Black, Mrs. Stewart Pink, Mrs. Fred Bernard, Mrs. William Becker, Mrs. Hallock Harris, Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck, all of this place. A covered dish luncheon was served, gifts exchanged and a social time enjoyed. The Society will meet Thursday, Jan. 5 at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. Lillian Courter in an all-day session. Box lunch at noon.

Brazil Siege State Continues for Month

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Dec. 24 (AP)—Acting President Nereu Ramos has extended Brazil's state of siege another 30 days. He will ask Congress to okay the action Monday.

The step is part of a move to guard against any disorders that might prevent the inauguration of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek Jan. 23.

The state of siege, a modified form of martial law, gives the police greater freedom in preserving order. Another important effect is to prevent any court action aimed at restoring Joao Cafe Filho to the presidency.

Otherwise the state of siege has had little effect. A special congressional act bars police invasion of homes, censorship of the Brazilian press and radio has been lax, and there is no censorship of outgoing news dispatches.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Sometimes, in the midst of talk about war and speculation on the possibility of total destruction it seems ironic to hear the message of Christmas—"Peace on Earth, to Men of Good will." Where, we ask ourselves, is there peace on earth? Who are the men of good will?

Yet the Child born on the first Christmas did not promise us an easy road. In the joy of the celebration of His birth we must not lose sight of the fact that His personal road let to Calvary. Yet it is also good to reflect that His story did not end with Calvary—that almost twenty centuries have passed and the hope He gave the world still persists, the goal He set is still one which man travels toward—sometimes losing his way, sometimes deliberately traveling in another direction—but always returning to it because it is the only direction in which peace of soul can possibly be found.

At this Christmas let us turn our eyes toward the manger, toward the Child for whom there was no room in the inn. Let us make room for Him in our hearts. If we do, the gift of hope He gave the world will enrich our lives and the message of Christmas will have meaning.

And who said that with all the Christmas bills he's piling up, all he wants from Santa is a five pound, gift wrapped, box of money?

LEARNING ABOUT CANCER

The late reports on cancer research do not say the problem has been solved, the knowledge attained, the work on cures progressing. Laboratory people are not at that point yet. But recent stories of what is being done give hope.

So many are studying the ways of cancer that almost any day now, from one laboratory or another, will come the great news. One worker learns from another, one laboratory builds on the work of another. It begins to seem plain that the knowledge of how to cure the disease is coming, slowly but inevitably. The other step will be knowledge of prevention.

When those two steps have been taken, processes of cure and prevention known, the disease will not automatically and magically vanish, any more than tuberculosis has. It will be around for a long time. But it will be on the way out. It will cease to be up in front of the procession of killers, home-wreckers. It will fall back to a far place, with a few cases every year instead of thousands. The few will still be too many.

The sooner this day comes, the better. People who want to go into medical research should be given every encouragement possible, for the good of all sufferers.

The Yankee baseball team is back from Japan after a triumphal visit. The Japanese treated the players royally—there was no evidence of signs saying "Yankees go home!"

PAY-CHECK ENCOURAGEMENT

There's a good deal of talk but not too much action on the matter of teachers' generally deplorable salaries. Credit the Ford Foundation, therefore, for doing something solid about it for the second time this year.

Last spring the Foundation handed out 50 million dollars to the nation's colleges to help boost teachers' salaries. Now they have earmarked another 210 million dollars for the same purpose.

We are accustomed to having our great foundations allot funds to educational institutions. Welcome as this has always been, too infrequently has the grant been directed to the assistance of teachers.

The Ford group hopes in making this second successive grant for salaries that it is blazing a trail that will be followed not only by other private donors but by the legislatures which must provide the monies for our huge and growing public institutions.

It is a hope that any reasonable person concerned with the future of American education might well share.

'These Days'

THE TRAGEDY OF ISRAEL

It is unseemly that war should be permitted to break out in Israel during the Christmas season. Whereas Jews are not religiously associated with Christmas, the land, Israel, is the birthplace of Christianity and most of the early followers of Jesus were Jews and much of the basic dogma of Christianity and Judaism is identical.

The festival of Channukah, coming at about the same time as Christmas, marks a situation which, to a degree, is similar to that which faces Israel today, namely, the prospect of total destruction. The Hasmoneans overcame the Romans. It was in the reign of an Idumean, Herod, that Jesus appeared among the Jews speaking to them of God, the Father, and reminding them of the moral law which God gave to Moses and which had sustained the Jewish people in their tribulations.

As is customary these days, we forget that historic events always have their roots in the past. Egypt and Israel have been antagonistic for about 4,000 years and yet there has always been the closest associations between them. Joseph went down into Egypt and became the ruler of the land in a period of Depression. He and his brothers settled in that country, but, in time, their descendants were enslaved there.

Every year, for thousands of years, it has been customary among Jews, at the Passover Service, which is celebrated today as it was at the Last Supper over which Jesus presided, to say these words:

"Because we were slaves unto Pharaoh in Egypt and the Lord our God brought us forth from thence with a strong hand and an outstretched arm; and if the holy God, blessed be he, had not brought out our ancestors from Egypt, we, our children, and our children's children, would still have continued in bondage to Pharaoh, in Egypt: and therefore, even though all of us were wise, all of us men of understanding, all of us learned of the law, it would still be our duty to recount the departure from Egypt; and the longer we discourse on the departure from Egypt, the more it is accounted praiseworthy."

So profoundly important is the Exodus from Egypt, led by Moses, that another passage read at the Passover Seder Service emphasizes that the Jews did not save themselves from the Egyptians but that God saved them. This passage is a composite of sentences from the Book of Exodus in the Old Testament and reads:

"'And the Lord brought us forth out of Egypt': not by means of an angel, of a seraph, or of a messenger; but by the Holy One, blessed be he, himself, in his glory, as it is said, 'For I will go through the land of Egypt that night; and I will smite all the first-born in the land of Egypt, both man and beasts: and against all the gods of Egypt will I execute judgments; I am the Lord.'"

The Egyptians of today are not the same as the ancient ones nor are these the same Jews but the traditions not only linger on but are profoundly stirring. There were no present day Arabs when Moses led his people from Egypt but there were Egyptians and today the enmity between these peoples has been kindled afresh. It can be taken for granted that in a war, Jews and Egyptians will fight not only with diplomacy and weapons but with hatred. This is unfortunate as between any people because it so obscures the causes of war as to make peace difficult.

And yet, if there were statesmanship in the world, there need be no fighting at all. None of the immediate questions between these countries are so serious that there can be no settlement of them, except one: it is Egypt's intention to eliminate Israel, to destroy Israel, to make it disappear from off the Earth; it is Israel's intention to continue to exist as a state, after 2,000 years of the Diaspora. Apart from this one question of total destruction, there is nothing between these two countries that cannot be settled through the intervention of honestly motivated men and the total destruction of another people is a ridiculous ambition. It is not honest motivation to seek a compromise that will reduce Israel's territory.

Perhaps the Christmas week will induce the statesmen of this country and Great Britain to find a way to peace.

That Body of Yours

NOSEBLEED AFTER REMOVAL OF ADENOIDS

The control of spontaneous bleeding is a problem familiar to all physicians. Epistaxis (nosebleed) and hemorrhage following removal of tonsils and adenoids are the two most common examples of this problem. The term "spontaneous hemorrhage" is used to define marked, sudden, and unexpected bleeding. It does not here refer to bleeding resulting from the rupture of a single vessel but means profuse oozing from the surface of the bleeding area, wherever it might be.

Finding a simple, reliable solution for these common emergencies has taxed the ingenuity of the medical profession. To control spontaneous epistaxis, many schemes of treatment have been recommended, such as vitamins K and C, nasal packing, penicillin, cautery, icepacks, thrombin and fibrin foam, and tying off of an artery supplying blood. In certain cases, one method or a combination of these treatments is successful. Other cases resist any attempted treatment and stop as puzzling as they begin, leaving the patient in a blood-deprived condition, and in rare cases even proving to be fatal.

Immediately following removal of adenoids, spontaneous oozing, if recognized, usually can be controlled with packing. In an occasional case this treatment is not effective; in many it is a difficult and complicated procedure; in all it is time-consuming. Now we read of a new method of controlling spontaneous epistaxis and hemorrhage following the removal of tonsils which is felt to be the treatment of choice by those using it. It is the injection of ovary extract either under the skin or into a vein in a dosage of either 5 or 10 mg. depending on the weight of the child. This study was prompted by the work of Dr. P. Jacobson who reported successful treatment of over 300 cases by this means.

The present report by Dr. H. C. Menger, Evangelical Deaconess Hospital, N. Y., is on sixteen cases of spontaneous epistaxis and hemorrhage following the removal of adenoids who found that the response in all cases was dramatic. In only three cases was the length of time between the administration of the medicine and the easing of bleeding over one hour. In no case was there any side effects from the treatment and in no case was there failure.

Why the administration of estrogen (ovary extract) stops this bleeding after adenoidectomy is not yet known. Estrogen in the management of spontaneous hemorrhage was first used in the treatment of functional bleeding from the uterus and it may be found in the future that it may control bleeding at other sites in the body. Thus one more vista is opened for medical research to explore.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—They've done killed Santa Claus for this Christmas, insofar as the U. S. government's foreign aid program is concerned. But they've given the old boy a new, full-time, year-round job.

This is the import of the extended, surplus food distribution program just announced by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson in a preholiday surprise.

For the two previous Christmases, there were big U. S. government giveaways of food parcels abroad.

This had been President Eisenhower's own idea.

The President's purpose was to overcome the criticism that too much of the American foreign aid went to people at the top who didn't need it, What he tried to do was make a generous gesture of Christmas good will from the American people to the poor and needy in free, non-Communist countries.

FOUR MILLION food parcels were distributed in 20 countries at a cost of 12 million dollars in "Operation Reindeer," Christmas 1953. In "Operation Poinsettia" last Christmas, six million parcels went to 40 countries at a cost of $9 million.

The decision to discontinue this program was made quietly last September while President Eisenhower was in Denver. Officials of the State and Agriculture Departments and the International Cooperation Administration decided that Chirstmas giving was too expensive and that it cut down on higher priority, year-round foreign aid programs.

There was no public announcement of this action. But the word got around. And private U. S. foreign relief agencies that had cooperated on distribution of the Christmas parcels last year started a quiet campaign.

Through their Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid, they asked Department of Agriculture to enlarge its program.

Under authority granted by Congress, surplus butter, dry milk, cheese and cottonseed oil supplies are now given to welfare agencies in this country and abroad.

THE TROUBLE WAS, according to relief workers, that these supplies alone didn't fill the need. What people wanted more was basic flour, corn meal, rice and dried beans.

But there was a catch in the law. Government agencies were authorized to "reprocess" these foods for charitable use. But the law didn't specify that bulk surpluses could be "processed."

The distinction was that 250-pound drums of dry milk powder could be "reprocessed" into small cans for family use. But wheat and corn couldn't be "processed"—meaning ground into flour—for the various relief agencies.

It is still going to take an act of Congress to straighten out this matter before the new Benson program can be made fully effective.

In the meantime, the first red-tape roadblocks have been removed. Dry beans and rice surpluses, in 100-pound bags, can be distributed to relief agencies at home and abroad.

And wheat and corn, unprocessed, can be shipped in bulk to countries like India, where the grain is cracked by hand and boiled for food.

THE 17 PRIVATE American relief agencies who have taken over the job of distributing U. S. surpluses in 67 countries are:

American Friends of Austrian Children, American Friends Service Committee, American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, American National Red Cross, Assemblies of God for Foreign Service, Catholic Relief Services, CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Everywhere), Church World Services, Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, International Rescue Committee, Iran Foundation, Lutheran World Relief, Mennonites Central Committee, Unitarian Service Committee, United Lithuanian Relief Foundation, United Nations Children's Fund and the Tolstoy Foundation.

Atomic Fire Power Boosted

70-Mile Range Missiles Are To Go to Europe Early in '56

BALLISTIC ROCKETS were first used by the Germans in World War 2. These were popularly known as V2s, but the technical designation used by the Germans was A4. Several German scientists who helped create the first rockets used by the Germans in the closing months of World War 2 are now working for the army at its Huntsville, Ala., arsenal, where the Redstone is being developed.

One of these scientists, asking that he not be named, told a reporter today that considerably improved accuracy was attained in the comparatively few months during which the Germans lobbed rockets in the direction of London, an average distance of about 100 miles from the launching sites.

AT THE OUTSET of combat firing, the "circle of error" in aiming ran as high as 20 miles. But before firings stopped with the defeat of Germany, he said, the fire control (aiming) system had been improved until some shots were hitting within two miles of the intended point.

Using conventional explosive, this still was entirely too large a margin of error. The German V2 program produced poor results on the basis of casualties in relation to ammunition expended:.

AMERICAN ARMY records show that between Sept. 8, 1944, and April 25, 1945, a total of 1,050 V2 rockets reached England. Those rockets killed 2,754 persons—an average of 2 persons for each rocket.

But rockets now can carry nuclear explosive warheads, which changes the picture drastically. Detonation of even a tactical size nuclear warhead of 20 or 30 kilotons energy yield could produce major casualties more than a mile from the explosion. A hydrogen warhead, with a yield of several million tons of energy, could produce total or major destruction and casualties 10 or more miles away.

Modena

Modena, Dec. 23—Miss Lu Smalley and Harold Sutton of Clintondale will be soloists at the third annual midnight candlelight service to be held in the Modena Methodist Church on Christmas eve. The topic of the midnight meditation will be "The Light of Christ," with the Rev. John E. Swords, pastor of the Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gunderman and children, Linda and Theron of Coxsackie were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr. and family here.

Mrs. William Adams accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Williamson of Walden, to Danbury, Conn., recently.

Those attending the annual Christmas party for members of the Womans Society of Christian Service of the Modena Methodist Church held Friday at the home of Mrs. Floyd B. Wells were Mrs. Myron L. Shultis of Kingston; Mrs. William Cole of Highland; Mrs. LeRoy Gruman of Clintondale; Mrs. Joseph Simmons of Irelands Corners; Mrs. Gershom Mount, Mrs. Ira Hyatt, Mrs. Eldred Smith and daughter, Valerie of Ardonia; the Rev. and Mrs. John E. Swords and children, Peter, Mary and Martha; Mrs. Anna Tonnesen, Mrs. Earl B. DeWitt Sr., Mrs. Emory Conklin, Mrs. Lois Black, Mrs. Stewart Pink, Mrs. Fred Bernard, Mrs. William Becker, Mrs. Hallock Harris, Mrs. Joseph E. Hasbrouck, all of this place. A covered dish luncheon was served, gifts exchanged and a social time enjoyed. The Society will meet Thursday, Jan. 5 at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. Lillian Courter in an all-day session. Box lunch at noon.

Brazil Siege State Continues for Month

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Dec. 24 (AP)—Acting President Nereu Ramos has extended Brazil's state of siege another 30 days. He will ask Congress to okay the action Monday.

The step is part of a move to guard against any disorders that might prevent the inauguration of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek Jan. 23.

The state of siege, a modified form of martial law, gives the police greater freedom in preserving order. Another important effect is to prevent any court action aimed at restoring Joao Cafe Filho to the presidency.

Otherwise the state of siege has had little effect. A special congressional act bars police invasion of homes, censorship of the Brazilian press and radio has been lax, and there is no censorship of outgoing news dispatches.

Lost Wallet

Stephen Lucatuorto, of RD 1, Kingston, reported to police at 8:15 p. m. Friday that he had lost a brown wallet in the uptown section of the city. He said it contained a chauffeur's license, car registration, draft card and $60. Mr. Lucatuorto said he lost it approximately about 2 p. m.

Britons Scale Peak

London, Dec. 24 (AP) — Three Britons have scaled 9,060-foot Mount Francis, one of the highest mountains in the South Polar Falkland Islands. The British governor of the Falklands radioed the colonial office today that this was the first time the summit had been reached. The climbers were from the British base at Anvers Island, just off the west coast of Graham Land. The three were Arthur Shewry, William Hindson, and James Rennie.

U. S. Fire Losses Lower Than 1954

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—The General Services Administration (GSA) reported today that the government's fire losses and fire deaths in the 12 months ended June 30 were cut below half those of the previous year.

The reduction, it said, "is the result of emphasizing fire prevention throughout the year."

A REPORT of the Federal Fire Council, comprised of representatives of 14 major government agencies, showed that there were 15 deaths from fires on federal property in the fiscal year 1955 compared with 36 in fiscal 1954. Monetary losses dropped from $10,440,572 in 1954 to $4,926,770 in 1955.

Issuing a summary of the report on the eve of the Christmas holidays, GSA Administrator Edmund F. Mansure said the same intelligent efforts to prevent fires can help reduce the number that mar the holiday season.

THE GOVERNMENT had a total of 12,931 reported fires in fiscal 1955, but more than 90 per cent of the total monetary damages was concentrated in 491 blazes.

Three causes—flammable liquids, electricity, and heating equipment—accounted for 35 per cent of the total fire loss. Fires caused by matches and smoking contributed 8.3 per cent of the total damage, compared with 20.7 per cent in 1954.

Mother Fears Son Lost While Checking Water

Colusa, Calif., Dec. 24 (AP)—"My boy went out to see how deep the water was and never came back," sobbed Mrs. Opal Coats of Yuba City, who was being treated today by physicians for shock at an improvised Colusa refugee center.

Mrs. Coats, one of almost 2,000 Yuba city evacuees being cared for here, told Red Cross workers she feared her 11-year-old son perished in the dike-bursting Feather river floodwaters.

ANOTHER REFUGEE, Burke Adams, thought four members of his family were stranded at the home four miles south of Yuba City near the point of the first big break in the levee last night. He was trying to get to the house when his car stalled in the rising waters and he had to flee for his life.

Arch Davison, Red Cross disaster chairman in Colusa county, said that by 6:30 a. m. today some 2,000 Yuba City refugees were being cared for in private homes, the city hall, churches, lodge halls and the center at the fairgrounds.

Davison said about 1,000 others from Yuba City had been sent to neighboring towns of Maxwell, Williams and Arbuckle. He said another 2,000 could be cared for at Colusa, if necessary, but the stream of refugees was slowing down.

WATER WAS reported eight feet deep in downtown Yuba City and still rising at 6:30 today.

Yuba City Police Chief Schuyler N. Martin, forced out earlier today when water flooded the city hall, started back to the town to organize rescue parties. Two of his squad cars continued operations in high areas in the northeast part of the city, Martin said, adding that they radioed a helicopter was rescuing "some" people.

A local radio broadcast heard here reported an unconfirmed fatality, a 5-year-old boy, unidentified.

Festivities Off Out of Respect To Flood Victims

Beirut, Lebanon, Dec. 24 (AP)—Christmas festivities in North Lebanon have been cancelled out of respect for the victims of recent floods which swept the town of Tripoli.

More than 100 persons were drowned when the Abou Ali river overflowed its banks in heavy rains and divided the North Lebanon town into two halves last weekend.

Bishop Theodosious Abou Rjeili of the Greek Orthodox Church said: "How can my community celebrate Christmas when 70 of its families have become destitute?"

THE. MARONITE. patriarch also cancelled celebrations of Christmas. Father Michel, secretary of the Maronite Bishop of North Lebanon, said: "Children's new clothes, toys and Christmas trees were destroyed."

The official toll was 117 known dead, but the consensus is that there are more persons still missing. Most of the victims were Moslems. 'But among those drowned were four Christian Maronites, including a student priest, and two Greek Orthodox women teachers.

The Maronite and Greek Orthodox churches announced there would be no calls on church leaders by members of the churches to wish them a happy Christmas.

PRIVATE CHRISTMAS parties in homes and public celebrations in night clubs and hotels are among the events cancelled.

In a circular to Maronite churches in North Lebanon, Bishop Antoun Abed said: "In view of the flood disaster which has befallen Tripoli we have cut down festivities to churches Masses and prayers." He urged well-wishers to shift their calls on church leaders to visits of the homeless.

THE FLOOD made 2,000 of Tripoli's 100,000 inhabitants homeless. They are being sheltered meantime in schools.

The Abou Ali river begins just below "The Cedars of Lebanon." runs down mountain slopes and flows into the sea in the coastal town. Tripoli itself dates back to pre-Roman times and was once conquered by the Crusaders, who built the high fortress which today stands reminiscent of the time when Christians of Europe came east to free the Holy Land from the grip of Infidels.

Gunmen Ruin Yule Party, Take $6,000

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Three masked gunmen made a shambles of a Christmas office party in Brooklyn yesterday, making off with $6,000 in cash.

Ten employes of a dyeing plant were in an office set aside for the party when the bandits forced the plant owner, Henry Danesi, 44, to hand over a $4,000 payroll set aside for night shift workers.

Two of the thugs then joined the party. The third of the trio ushered 10 other day employes into the party room and the 20 workers were robbed of $2,000. They had just been paid.

The thieves got away in an auto driven by a fourth man.

ExonerateKorean War Prisoner Of Collaboration

Nashville, N. C., Dec. 24 (AP)—Daniel L. Wheeless, 29, of Rocky Mount, N. C., accused by the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission of collaborating with the Communists while a prisoner of war in Korea, has been exonerated.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D.-N.C.) said yesterday he was informed of the action by Joseph N. Dewitt, director of the Prisoner of War Claims Division of the commission.

THE EXONERATION reversed the commission's decision which had denied Wheeless benefit payments for his captivity period.

At a hearing last Monday, Wheeless and Perry M. Walker of Mount Olive were represented by Col. Hubert E. May, Cooley's law partner. No decision was announced in Walker's case.

Wheeless and Walker were among 250 former POWs denied payments because of collaboration charges. Secret accusers made the charges against the men. Cooley and May criticized the use of information and charges by unnamed persons in the claims cases.

Cooley called the commission's procedures "Gestapo practices" and said, "I have every reason to believe other cases will be opened. I don't believe Congress will tolerate the star chamber practices which have been used in approximately 250 cases in which the men were apparently denied their constitutional rights."

AT THE HEARING, Wheeless and Walker categorically denied or explained the charges made against them. The charges were similar but not identical. Requests that the names of the accusers and any documents of the accusers be made public were denied by the commission, May said.

The claims, $2.50 a day for POWs during their capitivity, were voted by Congress for all POWs except those who collaborated with the enemy "voluntarily, knowingly and without duress."

Student Killed

New Rochelle, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Richard M. Stugard, 20, of (41 Chatham Road), was killed early today when his automobile went off the road, struck a tree and overturned. Stugard, a student at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan., was pinned in the wreckage and was dead when police arrived. He was home for the Christmas holidays. The youth's mother, Mrs. Erwin Stugard, is a former regent of the state DAR, and a Republican county committeewoman of Westchester county. Stugard's parents and grandparents attended the University of Kansas.

1,700 Expected In Pilgrimage To Holy Land

Jerusalem, Dec. 24 (AP) — A huge sign in English — "Merry Christmas" — marked the Holy City's armistice frontier between Jordan and Israel today.

The first group of Christian pilgrims, from Israel and abroad, passed under the sign last night and entered Jordan to make the annual pilgrimage to Bethlehem, where they will hear the bells of peace in the town of the Nativity at midnight tonight.

SOME OF THE luggage-laden travelers were turned back because Jordan authorities had struck them off a list submitted earlier by the Israelis.

Those who made the pilgrimage ignored widespread disturbances in Jordan earlier this week which upset two governments and, according to informed sources, resulted in 15 to 16 killed and more than 100 injured. The Jordan blowup followed British efforts to induce Jordan to join the pro-Western Baghdad pact of Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Iraq. Palestinian Arabs in Jordan said they were opposed to the pact because it would freeze Israel's borders.

ALTOGETHER about 1,700 pilgrims from Israel and a number of tourists from abroad were expected to cross into Jordan for the trek across the Judean Hills to Bethlehem despite the recent troubles. Some who cancelled the journey planned instead to spend Christmas in Nazareth, on the Israeli side, where a solemn service will be held in the Church of St. Joseph and about 25 other churches.

Among those who refused to be discouraged and succeeded in crossing the frontier this year was a Christian Arab truck driver from Galilee who had been refused permission in two previous years.

Reporters witnessed one moving family reunion at the border—an Arab woman from Damascus and her two daughters from Nazareth who had not been able to see each other for 11 years.

Israeli and Jordan policemen mounted guard at the Mandelbaum gate—a few feet from one another. Barbed wire entaglements and anti-tank dragon teeth separate the two sectors at that point.

HUGE STRINGS of colored lights illuminated the YMCA, in the Israeli sector which will be the center of Christmas festivities here. A Christmas party for 500 children from the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox communities was given there. J. Leli Lutnam, YMCA general secretary, read the Christmas story from Matthew and Luke and the children sang carols in English and Arabic before Santa Claus distributed gifts.

Christmas trees were given to the YMCA, and to all diplomats and UN personnel in Jerusalem by the Jewish National Land Fund from its forest.

Paper Boy Finds Yule Savings Of Needy Family

St. Louis, Dec. 24 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, selling newspapers to help out at his own home, made this Christmas a happy one for another St. Louis family.

Dale Reed Jr. found a purse containing $23 downtown Thursday night but with only an address written on a piece of paper for identification. He set out to find the owner while his mother put the money in the bank for safekeeping.

YOUNG REED, whose dad only recently found a job after being out of work for a time, went to the address where a friend of the owner directed him to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Koonley.

"It was al the money I had," Mrs. Koonley sobbed after identifying the purse. "I had scrimped and saved so I could buy the children something for Christmas. Then I lost it when I went to buy the gifts."

Dale returned the money last night and refused to accept a reward although his own family was hard pressed too. Mrs. Koonley, whose husband works in a warehouse, has two children, Robert, 5, and Richard, 7.

Trabert Triumphs

Denver, Dec. 24 (AP) — Tony Trabert used his powerful service and a strong net game to defeat Pancho Gonzales, 6-4, 6-3, last night for his third victory against five losses in their cross-country professional tennis tour.

President . . .

that the President is not complying or will not comply with the program the physicians have outlined. But he said there are no plans to announce now on a southern journey.

In response to further questions, Hagerty said there are "no emergencies" tying Eisenhower to his desk although he does have "considerable work" remaining on the State of the Union and other messages to Congress. Hagerty conceded this work could be done somewhere else as well as here.

TOMORROW the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will look on while three sprightly grandchildren open presents. Then they will attend 11 a. m. (EST) services at National Presbyterian Church—the first service for the President since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

Counting in-laws and a great nephew and great niece, 18 members and four generations of the family will gather for the traditional turkey and trimmings Christmas dinner at 6 p. m. in the state dining room at the White House. Even Mrs. Barbara Eisenhower, who presented the President and first lady with another granddaughter only last Wednesday, will be there.

Because of the President, it will be a merrier Christmas, too, for 43 convicted criminals.

TO 42 OF THEM, most of whom already had served their sentences, he granted pardons yesterday restoring their civil rights. For one, John Vigneault of Manchester, N. H., who was convicted of murder while in the armed forces in Germany, he commuted a death sentence to 55 years in prison.

The President also declared flooded areas of California a "major disaster" area and authorized unlimited federal assistance to relieve distress there.

Milk Prices Drop

Boston, Dec. 24 (AP)—A drop in fluid milk prices of 88 cents a hundredweight, or about two cents a quart, will occur Jan. 1, due to a growing regional surplus, Robert Cherry, acting federal milk market administrator, announced today for the Boston market. A fourth of the 88-cent reduction in the Greater Boston, Merrimack Valley and Springfield-Worcester markets reflects the first of four scheduled seasonal reductions in 1956. By May 1 the remaining three seasonal adjustments will have reduced the fluid milk price a further 88 cents. The major part of the increase on New Year's Day reflects operation of the supply-demand adjustment in the economic milk pricing formula which automatically adjusts the Class 1 price as market supplies change in relation to fluid milk sales.

Issuing a summary of the report on the eve of the Christmas holidays, GSA Administrator Edmund F. Mansure said the same intelligent efforts to prevent fires can help reduce the number that mar the holiday season.

THE GOVERNMENT had a total of 12,931 reported fires in fiscal 1955, but more than 90 per cent of the total monetary damages was concentrated in 491 blazes.

Three causes—flammable liquids, electricity, and heating equipment—accounted for 35 per cent of the total fire loss. Fires caused by matches and smoking contributed 8.3 per cent of the total damage, compared with 20.7 per cent in 1954.

Memoriam

LONGTO — In memory of our dear husband and father, Willett C. Longto who departed this life one year ago, Dec. 26, 1955.

Loving memories never die,
As years roll on and days pass by.
In our heart a memory is kept,
Of one we loved and will never forget.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, SONS & DAUGHTER.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Willett C. Longto, who departed this life December 26, 1954.

Mother Fears Son Lost While Checking Water

Colusa, Calif., Dec. 24 (AP)—"My boy went out to see how deep the water was and never came back," sobbed Mrs. Opal Coats of Yuba City, who was being treated today by physicians for shock at an improvised Colusa refugee center.

Mrs. Coats, one of almost 2,000 Yuba city evacuees being cared for here, told Red Cross workers she feared her 11-year-old son perished in the dike-bursting Feather river floodwaters.

ANOTHER REFUGEE, Burke Adams, thought four members of his family were stranded at the home four miles south of Yuba City near the point of the first big break in the levee last night. He was trying to get to the house when his car stalled in the rising waters and he had to flee for his life.

Arch Davison, Red Cross disaster chairman in Colusa county, said that by 6:30 a. m. today some 2,000 Yuba City refugees were being cared for in private homes, the city hall, churches, lodge halls and the center at the fairgrounds.

Davison said about 1,000 others from Yuba City had been sent to neighboring towns of Maxwell, Williams and Arbuckle. He said another 2,000 could be cared for at Colusa, if necessary, but the stream of refugees was slowing down.

WATER WAS reported eight feet deep in downtown Yuba City and still rising at 6:30 today.

Yuba City Police Chief Schuyler N. Martin, forced out earlier today when water flooded the city hall, started back to the town to organize rescue parties. Two of his squad cars continued operations in high areas in the northeast part of the city, Martin said, adding that they radioed a helicopter was rescuing "some" people.

A local radio broadcast heard here reported an unconfirmed fatality, a 5-year-old boy, unidentified.

Festivities Off Out of Respect To Flood Victims

Beirut, Lebanon, Dec. 24 (AP)—Christmas festivities in North Lebanon have been cancelled out of respect for the victims of recent floods which swept the town of Tripoli.

More than 100 persons were drowned when the Abou Ali river overflowed its banks in heavy rains and divided the North Lebanon town into two halves last weekend.

Bishop Theodosious Abou Rjeili of the Greek Orthodox Church said: "How can my community celebrate Christmas when 70 of its families have become destitute?"

THE. MARONITE. patriarch also cancelled celebrations of Christmas. Father Michel, secretary of the Maronite Bishop of North Lebanon, said: "Children's new clothes, toys and Christmas trees were destroyed."

The official toll was 117 known dead, but the consensus is that there are more persons still missing. Most of the victims were Moslems. 'But among those drowned were four Christian Maronites, including a student priest, and two Greek Orthodox women teachers.

The Maronite and Greek Orthodox churches announced there would be no calls on church leaders by members of the churches to wish them a happy Christmas.

PRIVATE CHRISTMAS parties in homes and public celebrations in night clubs and hotels are among the events cancelled.

In a circular to Maronite churches in North Lebanon, Bishop Antoun Abed said: "In view of the flood disaster which has befallen Tripoli we have cut down festivities to churches Masses and prayers." He urged well-wishers to shift their calls on church leaders to visits of the homeless.

THE FLOOD made 2,000 of Tripoli's 100,000 inhabitants homeless. They are being sheltered meantime in schools.

The Abou Ali river begins just below "The Cedars of Lebanon." runs down mountain slopes and flows into the sea in the coastal town. Tripoli itself dates back to pre-Roman times and was once conquered by the Crusaders, who built the high fortress which today stands reminiscent of the time when Christians of Europe came east to free the Holy Land from the grip of Infidels.

Gunmen Ruin Yule Party, Take $6,000

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Three masked gunmen made a shambles of a Christmas office party in Brooklyn yesterday, making off with $6,000 in cash.

Ten employes of a dyeing plant were in an office set aside for the party when the bandits forced the plant owner, Henry Danesi, 44, to hand over a $4,000 payroll set aside for night shift workers.

Two of the thugs then joined the party. The third of the trio ushered 10 other day employes into the party room and the 20 workers were robbed of $2,000. They had just been paid.

The thieves got away in an auto driven by a fourth man.

ExonerateKorean War Prisoner Of Collaboration

Nashville, N. C., Dec. 24 (AP)—Daniel L. Wheeless, 29, of Rocky Mount, N. C., accused by the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission of collaborating with the Communists while a prisoner of war in Korea, has been exonerated.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D.-N.C.) said yesterday he was informed of the action by Joseph N. Dewitt, director of the Prisoner of War Claims Division of the commission.

THE EXONERATION reversed the commission's decision which had denied Wheeless benefit payments for his captivity period.

At a hearing last Monday, Wheeless and Perry M. Walker of Mount Olive were represented by Col. Hubert E. May, Cooley's law partner. No decision was announced in Walker's case.

Wheeless and Walker were among 250 former POWs denied payments because of collaboration charges. Secret accusers made the charges against the men. Cooley and May criticized the use of information and charges by unnamed persons in the claims cases.

Cooley called the commission's procedures "Gestapo practices" and said, "I have every reason to believe other cases will be opened. I don't believe Congress will tolerate the star chamber practices which have been used in approximately 250 cases in which the men were apparently denied their constitutional rights."

AT THE HEARING, Wheeless and Walker categorically denied or explained the charges made against them. The charges were similar but not identical. Requests that the names of the accusers and any documents of the accusers be made public were denied by the commission, May said.

The claims, $2.50 a day for POWs during their capitivity, were voted by Congress for all POWs except those who collaborated with the enemy "voluntarily, knowingly and without duress."

Student Killed

New Rochelle, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Richard M. Stugard, 20, of (41 Chatham Road), was killed early today when his automobile went off the road, struck a tree and overturned. Stugard, a student at the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan., was pinned in the wreckage and was dead when police arrived. He was home for the Christmas holidays. The youth's mother, Mrs. Erwin Stugard, is a former regent of the state DAR, and a Republican county committeewoman of Westchester county. Stugard's parents and grandparents attended the University of Kansas.

1,700 Expected In Pilgrimage To Holy Land

Jerusalem, Dec. 24 (AP) — A huge sign in English — "Merry Christmas" — marked the Holy City's armistice frontier between Jordan and Israel today.

The first group of Christian pilgrims, from Israel and abroad, passed under the sign last night and entered Jordan to make the annual pilgrimage to Bethlehem, where they will hear the bells of peace in the town of the Nativity at midnight tonight.

SOME OF THE luggage-laden travelers were turned back because Jordan authorities had struck them off a list submitted earlier by the Israelis.

Those who made the pilgrimage ignored widespread disturbances in Jordan earlier this week which upset two governments and, according to informed sources, resulted in 15 to 16 killed and more than 100 injured. The Jordan blowup followed British efforts to induce Jordan to join the pro-Western Baghdad pact of Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Iraq. Palestinian Arabs in Jordan said they were opposed to the pact because it would freeze Israel's borders.

ALTOGETHER about 1,700 pilgrims from Israel and a number of tourists from abroad were expected to cross into Jordan for the trek across the Judean Hills to Bethlehem despite the recent troubles. Some who cancelled the journey planned instead to spend Christmas in Nazareth, on the Israeli side, where a solemn service will be held in the Church of St. Joseph and about 25 other churches.

Among those who refused to be discouraged and succeeded in crossing the frontier this year was a Christian Arab truck driver from Galilee who had been refused permission in two previous years.

Reporters witnessed one moving family reunion at the border —an Arab woman from Damascus and her two daughters from Nazareth who had not been able to see each other for 11 years.

Israeli and Jordan policemen mounted guard at the Mandelbaum gate—a few feet from one another. Barbed wire entaglements and anti-tank dragon teeth separate the two sectors at that point.

HUGE STRINGS of colored lights illuminated the YMCA, in the Israeli sector which will be the center of Christmas festivities here. A Christmas party for 500 children from the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox communities was given there. J. Leli Lutnam, YMCA general secretary, read the Christmas story from Matthew and Luke and the children sang carols in English and Arabic before Santa Claus distributed gifts.

Christmas trees were given to the YMCA, and to all diplomats and UN personnel in Jerusalem by the Jewish National Land Fund from its forest.

Paper Boy Finds Yule Savings Of Needy Family

St. Louis, Dec. 24 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, selling newspapers to help out at his own home, made this Christmas a happy one for another St. Louis family.

Dale Reed Jr. found a purse containing $23 downtown Thursday night but with only an address written on a piece of paper for identification. He set out to find the owner while his mother put the money in the bank for safekeeping.

YOUNG REED, whose dad only recently found a job after being out of work for a time, went to the address where a friend of the owner directed him to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Koonley.

"It was al the money I had," Mrs. Koonley sobbed after identifying the purse. "I had scrimped and saved so I could buy the children something for Christmas. Then I lost it when I went to buy the gifts."

Dale returned the money last night and refused to accept a reward although his own family was hard pressed too. Mrs. Koonley, whose husband works in a warehouse, has two children, Robert, 5, and Richard, 7.

Trabert Triumphs

Denver, Dec. 24 (AP) — Tony Trabert used his powerful service and a strong net game to defeat Pancho Gonzales, 6-4, 6-3, last night for his third victory against five losses in their cross-country professional tennis tour.

President . . .

that the President is not complying or will not comply with the program the physicians have outlined. But he said there are no plans to announce now on a southern journey.

In response to further questions, Hagerty said there are "no emergencies" tying Eisenhower to his desk although he does have "considerable work" remaining on the State of the Union and other messages to Congress. Hagerty conceded this work could be done somewhere else as well as here.

TOMORROW the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will look on while three sprightly grandchildren open presents. Then they will attend 11 a. m. (EST) services at National Presbyterian Church—the first service for the President since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

Counting in-laws and a great nephew and great niece, 18 members and four generations of the family will gather for the traditional turkey and trimmings Christmas dinner at 6 p. m. in the state dining room at the White House. Even Mrs. Barbara Eisenhower, who presented the President and first lady with another granddaughter only last Wednesday, will be there.

Because of the President, it will be a merrier Christmas, too, for 43 convicted criminals.

TO 42 OF THEM, most of whom already had served their sentences, he granted pardons yesterday restoring their civil rights. For one, John Vigneault of Manchester, N. H., who was convicted of murder while in the armed forces in Germany, he commuted a death sentence to 55 years in prison.

The President also declared flooded areas of California a "major disaster" area and authorized unlimited federal assistance to relieve distress there.

Milk Prices Drop

Boston, Dec. 24 (AP)—A drop in fluid milk prices of 88 cents a hundredweight, or about two cents a quart, will occur Jan. 1, due to a growing regional surplus, Robert Cherry, acting federal milk market administrator, announced today for the Boston market. A fourth of the 88-cent reduction in the Greater Boston, Merrimack Valley and Springfield-Worcester markets reflects the first of four scheduled seasonal reductions in 1956. By May 1 the remaining three seasonal adjustments will have reduced the fluid milk price a further 88 cents. The major part of the increase on New Year's Day reflects operation of the supply-demand adjustment in the economic milk pricing formula which automatically adjusts the Class 1 price as market supplies change in relation to fluid milk sales.

Christmas 1955

This Christmas, as we rejoice in celebrating the birth of The Redeemer, let us again pause in our devotions to give thanks to our Heavenly Father for the manifold blessings bestowed upon us. Let us again reaffirm our faith in God and be guided by the teachings of Christ to be charitable to our fellowmen. Let us pray for the less fortunate, who exist under oppression, that they will have strength and courage to cast off the yoke of tyranny and again become free men. Let us ever be mindful of this great nation of ours populated, governed and loved by its peoples of many racial origins and religious beliefs; but Americans all.

Let us pray that free nations of the world will stand united for universal peace and understanding with good will to all mankind.

Of all great words of tongue or pen,
The greatest are: "Good will toward men."

This 'N' That

This is the birth of freedom for all men; The Christmas Story . . . told and told again. So old yet ever new—the Christ-child's birth, brought lasting hope and love and truth to earth. And purge our souls of hate and lust to kill; and offered peace to all men of good-will. The Star of Bethlehem led wise men on, to find the Son of God—the world's new dawn. Hope of the hopeless, savior of us all; above the world's dark tumult hear His call. Remove from your heart the hate and pride. With courage, take you stand there . . . by His side. Offer the hand of fellowship to men. Forgive your foes again—and yet again. Seek only truth; strive to do right alone. And humbly for your many faults atone. And then . . . be truly joyous in your praise, of Him . . . who keeps and blesses all your days.—Karl Flaster.

Endicott Man Gets Ohio College Post

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Earl S. Durand of (317 E. Edwards St.) Endicott, a former Fulbright lecturer in Iraq, has been appointed head of the Department of Health, Physical and Recreation Education at Youngstown University, Youngstown, Ohio.

Durand, who was supervisor of physical education at Bethlehem Central School in suburban Delmar until June, 1954, disclosed the appointment yesterday. He is 38.

He lectured in physical education and served as consultant to the Iraq Ministry of Education from September, 1954, until last June.

Durand is a graduate of Ticonderoga High School and Cortland State Teachers College. He also received a degree from Albany State Teachers and one of Doctor of Education from Columbia University.

Before joining the U. S. Navy in 1942, he taught at Whitney Point and Hudson. He went to Bethlehem Central on return from service.

Bard Establishes Endowment Fund From Ford Grant

A decision to allocate the entire basic Ford Foundation Grant of $108,500 to establish a permanent Ford Endowment Fund for Faculty Salaries at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, has been announced by Dr. Harry J. Carman, board chairman. At a special meeting in New York city, board members also voted to match the Accomplishment Grant within the next two and one-half years, to combine the resulting income with that of the Endowment for faculty salary increases and to inaugurate a new and higher scale of salaries on July 1, 1956.

Under the terms of the Ford Grant, $108,500 was awarded to the college explicitly for faculty salary increases. In addition, Bard received a $54,200 Accomplishment Grant in recognition of its leadership in the field of higher education, and either principal or interest may be used for salary increases or any pressing academic need. With the application of both Ford Grants and the matching fund of $54,200, it is expected that the total will reach $216,900 by June 1958.

Watertown Man Due For Federal Post

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower intends to appoint Charles K. Rice of Watertown when Congress reconvenes as an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Tax Division.

The President accepted yesterday the resignation of H. Brian Holland, effective Jan. 31. The White House announced the President's intention to nominate Rice, now first assistant to Holland.

Rice was graduated from Cornell Law School with honors in 1934 and had been associated with the New York city law firm of White and Case since that year, except for military duty, until he joined federal service in May 1953. He is a Republican.

Two Men Killed As Auto Slams Tree, Overturns

Essex, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Two men were killed yesterday when their automobile skidded on icy Route 22 near here, struck a tree and overturned in a field.

State police identified them as Thurland Provost, 25, and Roland F. La Bounty, 35, both of nearby Willsboro. Both were employed at the Champlain Forest Industries' lumber finishing plant at Bouguet.

Troopers said Provost apparently was driving.

Essex is a village on Lake Champlain near the Vermont state line.

Average Incomes Below '53 Level

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—A government survey shows that average family income in the United States last year was about $4,173—some $60 less than in the 1953 boom year but nearly $300 above that in 1952.

The Census Bureau reported yesterday that the average income of farm families last year was $2,000, less than half the national average. However, this figure did not take into account products raised and used on the farm.

THE BUREAU said the general family income average in the north and west was $4,500 last year, about $1,200 higher than in the south. The disparity was attributed to the high percentage of rural and nonwhite families in the south.

According to bureau estimates, about 16 million families had incomes of $5,000 or more last year, about 18 million received from $2,000 to $5,000 and about 8 million families got along on under $2,000.

Endicott Man Gets Ohio College Post

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Earl S. Durand of (317 E. Edwards St.) Endicott, a former Fulbright lecturer in Iraq, has been appointed head of the Department of Health, Physical and Recreation Education at Youngstown University, Youngstown, Ohio.

Durand, who was supervisor of physical education at Bethlehem Central School in suburban Delmar until June, 1954, disclosed the appointment yesterday. He is 38.

He lectured in physical education and served as consultant to the Iraq Ministry of Education from September, 1954, until last June.

Durand is a graduate of Ticonderoga High School and Cortland State Teachers College. He also received a degree from Albany State Teachers and one of Doctor of Education from Columbia University.

Before joining the U. S. Navy in 1942, he taught at Whitney Point and Hudson. He went to Bethlehem Central on return from service.

Bard Establishes Endowment Fund From Ford Grant

A decision to allocate the entire basic Ford Foundation Grant of $108,500 to establish a permanent Ford Endowment Fund for Faculty Salaries at Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, has been announced by Dr. Harry J. Carman, board chairman. At a special meeting in New York city, board members also voted to match the Accomplishment Grant within the next two and one-half years, to combine the resulting income with that of the Endowment for faculty salary increases and to inaugurate a new and higher scale of salaries on July 1, 1956.

Under the terms of the Ford Grant, $108,500 was awarded to the college explicitly for faculty salary increases. In addition, Bard received a $54,200 Accomplishment Grant in recognition of its leadership in the field of higher education, and either principal or interest may be used for salary increases or any pressing academic need. With the application of both Ford Grants and the matching fund of $54,200, it is expected that the total will reach $216,900 by June 1958.

THE TWAIN DO MEET IN ADORATION OF THE CHILD

Kipling was wrong—East and West would not meet, he said, "till Earth and Sky stand presently at God's Great Judgment Seat." Converts to Christianity of all the races of man have long since met in worship before the manger where lies the Babe of Bethlehem. Each of the world's peoples has learned the story of the Infant Savior expressed in terms of its own culture. The Christmas story as seen through Chinese eyes is pictured below, in the fragile grace of traditional Oriental artistry. Paintings are reproduced by permission of Friendship Press and author Daniel Johnson Fleming, from whose book, "Each With His Own Brush," they are taken.

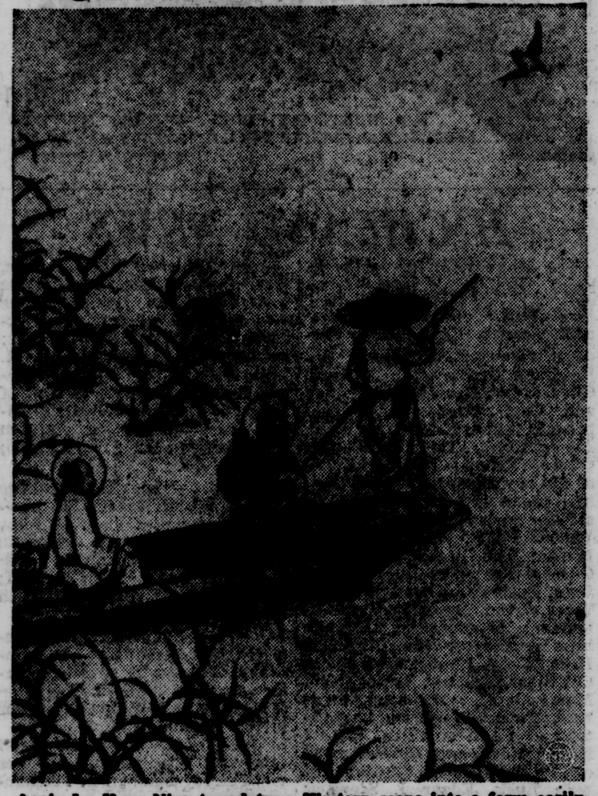
No Room in the Inn - -

Lu Hung Nien was considering conversion to Christianity when he painted "No Room in the Inn," at the age of 24. The austere chill of a wintertime Chinese landscape translates into Eastern idiom the heartless preoccupation of a Bethlehem, intent on making the most of the opportunity, as hordes of taxpayers descended upon it in obedience to the taxing decree of Caesar Augustus.

Visit of the Magi - -

Symbolism of the Orient is blended with the Christmas story in this painting by Hsu San Ch'un, a convert to Christianity. The Magi represent the three traditional religions of China. Kneeling before the Babe is a Buddhist monk. At right is a Confucianist and in the center is Lao-tse, Chinese moralist, representing Taoism. Joseph is at extreme left.

Flight Into Egypt - -



Again Lu Hung Nien translates a Western scene into a form easily pictured by the Chinese mind. The weariness of the Holy Family making its way along a dusty road into Egypt becomes this desolate water scene. Even the bird, upper right, has been painted to heighten urgency of the journey, undertaken in obedience to the angel which appeared to Joseph, warning of Herod's wrath.

Three Local Men Enlisted in Army

Three Kingston men have enlisted in the Army for a 3-year period it was announced today by Master Sergeant Frank J. Carr, Army recruiting office, City Hall. They are now spending a 14 day delay en route to Fort Dix, N. J. where they will report January 3. Those enlisting are Urban L. Albright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Albright of 116 Wilbur avenue who enlisted for the Armor Corps; Vincent L. Bouck, son of Mrs. Ellen Bouck of 486 Wilbur avenue who also picked the Armor Corps as his choice of branch and Donald F. Keegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Keegan of 136 Smith avenue who selected the Military Police as his choice of branch. Private Albright and Bouck upon completion of their eight weeks of basic training at Fort Dix will be sent to Fort Knox, Ky., where they will receive specialist training in tanks. Private Keegan upon completion of his basic training will be sent to the Military Police School at Camp Gordon, Ga. He is a graduate of Kingston High School. Men interested in picking the branch of service of their choice in the Army for a three year enlistment period are advised to contact Sergeant Carr at the Kingston City Hall every Thursday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Highland, Dec. 24—Mrs. Jesse Alexander left Thursday to spend the holiday at the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Erdel Lawson, Homer.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Schantz are spending the holidays with her parents in Toledo, O.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burnett moved to Delmar December 9 as Mr. Burnett had been transferred to the Albany territory by the telephone company. They have returned to occupy the house of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Schantz for the holidays.

Jack Meekins visited from New York for Christmas and Robert Meekins, Washington will be home on the 27th to remain until New Years.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. Stewart MacCool are having open house to members of the congregation and friends Christmas Eve from 8:15 until 10:45 o'clock.

Robert Fox, a student at Albany State Teachers College is substituting in the library this week. Last week Miss Eliza Raymond was the substitute owing to the illness of Miss Emily Lent.

Fire in brush in the vicinity of Reservoir road called out the fire company late Sunday afternoon. No damage was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Seaman, Bywater, Esopus, were hosts to his mother, Mrs. Rose Seaman and members of Mrs. Seaman's family on Christmas.

Miss Helen DuBois, Glen Cove spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. DuBois.

TIME TO STOP — Postman Simon H. Schneider holds the 89th pint of blood he has contributed to the Red Cross blood bank in New York City. It's the last pint he'll give, however, since he is almost 60 years old, the age limit for giving blood.

Sunday School At Ponckhockie Plans Exercises

The annual Christmas exercises of the Sunday school of Ponckhockie Union Congregational Church will be held Christmas Day at 7:30 p. m. in the church auditorium, 93 Abruyn street.

The program will include a presentation by the nursery class entitled "In the Manger," and will include Christie Bell, Marilyn Colavecchio, Debbie Lewis, Barbara Lowe, Joey Lowe, Jeffrey Mackey and Raymond Williams.

Lyonsville

Lyonsville, Dec. 24—Lyonsville Reformed Church, the Rev. Richard B. Coons, pastor—Services at 11:15 a. m. On Christmas morning, the Rev. Mr. Coons will be assisted with the service by the participation of Roxanne and Wayne Cummins, Sandra and Billy Judd, Wanda and Ronald Roosa. The recently completed inclosure of the church balcony by Elder Ray Davis and Deacon Arthur Cummins has greatly increased cold weather comfort in the church. They also are responsible for the construction and the setting of the Christmas Star in front of the church which will be lighted throughout the Yuletide season.

The Lyonsville Community Club members enjoyed a Christmas party and covered dish supper prior to their regular meeting Saturday night. Members and their families numbered 31. Before the meeting all participated in the singing of Christmas carols. Highlights of the business meeting were the collection of gaily wrapped gifts for the Children's Home in Kingston and the donation of a $25 check presented by Mrs. Frank DeFranco, club treasurer, to Mrs. Oscar Christensen, treasurer of the Lyonsville Reformed Church repair fund. The card party committee reported for the party which will be held Saturday night, Jan. 28. Tickets have been distributed to members.

School 7 Holds Christmas Party

Various Christmas programs were celebrated in all classrooms of School 7 this past week. The entire school gathered around the Christmas tree in the lower hall for a musical program. The tree was furnished by the Parent Teacher group.

The program under the direction of Mrs. Branigan included songs by the first grade with Linda Kilmer soloist.

The second grade offered songs with Susan Soper and Lynn Blackwell. The third, fourth fifth and sixth grades also rendered numbers.

Santa Claus made his appearance and presented each child with candy.

Lyonsville

Lyonsville, Dec. 24—Lyonsville Reformed Church, the Rev. Richard B. Coons, pastor—Services at 11:15 a. m. On Christmas morning, the Rev. Mr. Coons will be assisted with the service by the participation of Roxanne and Wayne Cummins, Sandra and Billy Judd, Wanda and Ronald Roosa. The recently completed inclosure of the church balcony by Elder Ray Davis and Deacon Arthur Cummins has greatly increased cold weather comfort in the church. They also are responsible for the construction and the setting of the Christmas Star in front of the church which will be lighted throughout the Yuletide season.

The Lyonsville Community Club members enjoyed a Christmas party and covered dish supper prior to their regular meeting Saturday night. Members and their families numbered 31. Before the meeting all participated in the singing of Christmas carols. Highlights of the business meeting were the collection of gaily wrapped gifts for the Children's Home in Kingston and the donation of a $25 check presented by Mrs. Frank DeFranco, club treasurer, to Mrs. Oscar Christensen, treasurer of the Lyonsville Reformed Church repair fund. The card party committee reported for the party which will be held Saturday night, Jan. 28. Tickets have been distributed to members.

School 7 Holds Christmas Party

Various Christmas programs were celebrated in all classrooms of School 7 this past week. The entire school gathered around the Christmas tree in the lower hall for a musical program. The tree was furnished by the Parent Teacher group.

The program under the direction of Mrs. Branigan included songs by the first grade with Linda Kilmer soloist.

The second grade offered songs with Susan Soper and Lynn Blackwell. The third, fourth fifth and sixth grades also rendered numbers.

Santa Claus made his appearance and presented each child with candy.

New Hurley Home Unit Plans Christmas Party

Wallkill, Dec. 24—The New Hurley unit of the Home Extension Service Association of Ulster County will hold its Christmas party on Wednesday, Dec. 28 at 8 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Joseph Morris, Main street. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Edmund Cooper and Mrs. Howard Terwilliger. Refreshments will be provided by individual members who will bring their Christmas specialty and the recipes will be sold to members for a penny. Members are asked to come prepared to swell the Pennies for Friendship Fund for the New Hurley Unit.

Mrs. Anna Butler, program chairman, reminds members to bring a gift for the Christmas gift exchange among the members costing not more than one dollar in value. Members who have attended past programs know that there will be fun and merriment when Mrs. Butler begins the games.

The group recently met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Fox, North Plank road and made individual Christmas decorations under the leadership of Mrs. Laverne Hastings. These were presented to Mrs. Jean Spoth for her nursing home.

Mrs. Wallace Palen, chairman of the New Hurley Home Demonstration unit also announces that lessons for hooked mats will begin early in January under the training of Mrs. Howard Teller. More details will be given at the Christmas meeting and by the monthly card notices.

Holiday Assembly Held In Wallkill School

Wallkill, Dec. 24—Special holiday assemblies were presented this week by the children of grades one through four in the Wallkill Elementary School. Each program had been prepared to observe the holiday season. The first and second grade gave their program on Monday and the third and fourth grades were featured in the Tuesday assembly.

The Monday assembly had Mrs. Barbara Repke's first grade presenting two songs, "O Christmas Tree" and "Up on a Housetop." Mrs. Gloria Fogden's first grade followed with the boys singing "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer" and the girls contributing the song, "Christmas Is Coming." The entire class then gave a choral recitation of a Christmas poem. Truth Wolcott, a member of the class, sang a solo of "Away in a Manger." Mrs. Catherine Bunt's first grade answered the question of "Why Do Bells for Christmas Ring" in group song and recitation.

The second grades continued with Mrs. Marion Tysse's class dramatizing the spelling of Christmas. The three second grades then sang "Santa Claus is Coming to Town.'" Mrs. Sarah Meredith's class followed with "The Tale of Christmas" after which the grade chorus sang "Christmas Bells." Mrs. Helen Casey's grade concluded with three group poems, "The New Doll," "A Christmas Greeting" and "Happy Holiday."

Mrs. Barbara Repke, first grade teacher, was the accompanist for all the singing.

The third and fourth grades presented A Christmas Carol Pageant in the Tuesday assembly. Miss M. Poppen, music supervisor of the Central School District organized the program and it was prepared by the teachers of these grades. Miss Carolyn Kniffin, a high school student was the accompanist.

Participating in the pageant were Reader, Robert Terwilliger; Monks, Fred Klein and Thomas Harris; Angels, Barbara Keeping, Linda Terwilliger, Frederica Teasdale, Marie Mullen, Karen Klein, Pauline Shatney, Betty Schuber, Diane Gustafsen, Betty Carr and Mary Domnissey; Candle bearers, Michael Romano and Ronald Mullen; Kings, Thomas Mosier, Daniel Francabandiero and Robert Comerford; Villagers, Cheri Cacossa, Jeffrey Morris, Catharine Andrews, Marie Rhine, Beverly Crans, Ruth Beardsley, Diana Cronk and Lois Dylewski; Shepherds, Raymond Warren, Robert Byrne, David Freer, J. Guy Holmes, James Lynch and Eddie Strickland; Pages, Douglas Agor, Herbert Heaslip and John Tansosch. Yvonne O'Connor and Theodore Booth portrayed Mary and Joseph. A chorus consisting of pupils from the third and fourth grades sang the carols of the pageant.

Teachers of the third grades in the Wallkill Elementary School are Mrs. Helen Anderson, Mrs. Estelle Caswell and Mrs. Miriam Dutcher. Mrs. Hazel Ronk, Mrs. Marie Henzel and Miss Sarah Gulick are the teachers of the fourth grades.

Card Party Planned

Wallkill, Dec. 24—The Ivanhoe Lodge of the Knights of Pythias of Wallkill will hold a public card party on Friday, Dec. 30 at 8 p. m. at the lodge rooms on Main street. In charge of arrangements are William Tucker and Ira Tuthill.

Jolly Eight Meets

Wallkill, Dec. 24—The Jolly Eight Club met at the home of Mrs. Adrian Hulse on Tuesday evening. Those present were Mrs. Louise Parliman, Mrs. Arthur Terwilliger, Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. Harry Morehouse, Mrs. Nettie Crookston, Miss Anna Rhinehart, Mrs. Everett Cameron and Mrs. Hugh Galbraith, as well as the hostess.

A surprise event of the evening was featured when Mrs. Hulse led the group into the dining room where the table beautifully decorated in the Christmas theme was graced with a large birthday cake in honor of Mrs. Parliman and Mrs. Cameron marking their birthdays on Tuesday.

Marbletown Unit Aided in Trips To Tumor Clinic

During the past eight weeks the Marbletown Transportation Unit of the Friendly Red Door of Ulster county has been given the opportunity of making 32 trips to and from the Tumor Clinic in Kingston on behalf of four of its county neighbors. An aggregate of 1,238 miles was covered in the accomplishment of the project.

The transportation program is an important part of the services of the American Cancer Society. It is carried out entirely by volunteers, contributing their time and family car for the benefit of a neighbor.

Mrs. Matthew Hasbrouck, Ulster county director of Volunteer Services, extends congratulations and appreciation to those who drove from those who rode, and from the Friendly Red Door in Kingston.

The following "neighborly hearted" members of the community made this service possible:

Mrs. Anna Greenberg, Kripplebush; Mrs. Fred Holmes, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Maurice Davenport, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Phineas Millis, Kripplebush; Matthew Hasbrouck, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Ross Osterhoudt, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Thomas Brownlie, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Frank De France, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Otto Zoehrer, Stone Ridge; Mrs. Harold Cubberly, Hurley; Mrs. Mary Doremus, High Falls.

The Consitution states that for any speech or debate in either House, congressmen shall not be questioned in any other place.

"You're very nice fellows," remarked Generous George, "and it's Christmas Eve. Therefore I'll give you a trick that you don't really deserve."

The hand was played exactly a year ago, but the defenders still remember the hand, since George's generosity cost him nothing, as usual.

South won the first trick with the ace of spades, carefully discarding a diamond from the dummy. He then cashed the ace and king of clubs, entering dummy with a spade ruff in order to discard a diamond on the queen of clubs. It was at this point that George made his little speech, since he saw that it was vital to give the opponents a trick they didn't expect.

George led the last club from the dummy, discarding the remaining diamond from his hand. This wasn't actually a gift. The opponents got a club, to be sure, but this merely in exchange for a diamond that they would have won otherwise.

The defenders were now helpless. East could get his ace of hearts, but South was sure to make the rest of the tricks.

George would have lost his contract if he had failed to lead the last club from dummy in order to discard his last diamond. For example, suppose that he leads the king of hearts from dummy instead of leading the last club. East wins with the ace of hearts and can lead a low diamond to West's king. West now leads the last club, since it isn't hard to see what's going on, and East is bound to win the setting trick with the jack of hearts.

If West had opened a diamond, of course, the contract would have been defeated very easily.

To all our friends and patrons who have helped make our year a prosperous one . . . may peace and good cheer reign in your household this Holiday season, and throughout the year!

Talks Off Again On Westinghouse Strike Deadlock

Pittsburgh, Dec. 24 (AP) — A surprise resumption of negotiations in the nine-week-old Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike ended just as abruptly last night with no progress reported, leaving the deadlock unbroken at least until after Christmas.

Federal Mediator John R. Murray had brought together top bargainers of the company and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers after peace talks collapsed Wednesday.

BUT THERE were no reports that anything was accomplished and negotiations were recessed until Tuesday morning.

James B. Carey, union president, presented what he said was a revised proposal for settlement of the strike. But company officials said there was nothing new in it, and therefore no need to discuss it further.

The proposal, as outlined by Carey:

1. No job studies affecting wages shall be made without the union's consent unless there are safeguards agreed upon.

2. No wage cuts or changes in wage payment plans shall be made during the life of the agreement without the union's consent or arbitration at the consent of the union.

3. A wage increase be made under the reopening clause of the current two-year contract expiring next year.

Plattekill

Plattekill, Dec. 23—Members of the Plattekill Grange met recently at the hall and made plans for the annual Christmas party and program to be held Tuesday, Dec. 27, at the Grange. In charge of the program of entertainment will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Fosler, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Martin DePew. Tree and hall decorations will be arranged by the young adult committee. Refreshments will be served by an appointed committee and gifts exchanged. A New Years Eve party and dance has been planned. On Saturday Jan. 7, at 8 p. m. a card and game party will be held at the Grange hall as a fund raising project.

Local members of the Lloyd unit of the American Legion attended the annual Christmas meeting held at the Legion hall in Highland recently. Mrs. William Feldt, representing the rehabilitation committee, reported on a visit to Veterans Hospital in Albany, where gifts were taken.

Local members of the Plattekill Town Board attended the regular meeting held Wednesday evening of the past week at the town building in Modena.

Four families were deprived of their home following the fire that damaged the interior of the Danardo apartments, south of Plattekill, on Route 32, on Thursday evening of last week. Some of the occupants of the apartment were Stewart Field personnel.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Paltridge and sons, Kenneth and Billy visited relatives in Modena Sunday.

C-H Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, at its monthly meeting held at its South Road office Poughkeepsie, Friday, declared a dividend of 19 cents per share on its common stock payable February 1, 1956 to holders of record January 10, 1956.

160 Ferroxcube Employes Attend Christmas Party

The Ferrexcube Corporation, manufacturers of ferrites, in Saugerties, held its Christmas dinner party for employes and guests at the Flamingo Restaurant on Thursday night.

A turkey dinner was served to 160 people attending the party and an additional 38 dinners were carried to the employes working on the 4 to 12 shift at the plant on East Bridge street.

Darcy Young, president of the Ferroxcube Corporation, talked briefly on the progress the company had made in the last year and expressed the opinion that next year would be even bigger.

Annual gift awards were distributed by Mrs. Irene Mills.

Movies of previous years picnics and Christmas parties were shown by Basil Kane, production superintendent. Mr. Kane also took movies of this year's party which will be shown to the employes at the plant at a later date.

The Velvetones were on hand to provide music for dancing after the dinner.

Talks Off Again On Westinghouse Strike Deadlock

Pittsburgh, Dec. 24 (AP) — A surprise resumption of negotiations in the nine-week-old Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike ended just as abruptly last night with no progress reported, leaving the deadlock unbroken at least until after Christmas.

Federal Mediator John R. Murray had brought together top bargainers of the company and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers after peace talks collapsed Wednesday.

BUT THERE were no reports that anything was accomplished and negotiations were recessed until Tuesday morning.

James B. Carey, union president, presented what he said was a revised proposal for settlement of the strike. But company officials said there was nothing new in it, and therefore no need to discuss it further.

The proposal, as outlined by Carey:

1. No job studies affecting wages shall be made without the union's consent unless there are safeguards agreed upon.

2. No wage cuts or changes in wage payment plans shall be made during the life of the agreement without the union's consent or arbitration at the consent of the union.

3. A wage increase be made under the reopening clause of the current two-year contract expiring next year.

Should She Offer Her Seat?..

A letter tells me: "I am a young business woman in the early twenties. I ride the bus to and from work every day. On several occasions I have offered my seat to an elderly woman passenger. The other day an elderly gentleman got on the bus and my first impulse was to offer him my seat, but on second thought did not do so for fear of embarrassing him. Is it proper for a young woman to offer her seat to a man? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

If he's really old or in any way incapacitated it would be a very kind gesture, but a man still strong would resent it very much.

Saying Grace in Public

Dear Mrs. Post: At a dinner party in a restaurant the other evening, something came up on which I would like your opinion. Just before we were served, one of the men rose and said Grace. It seemed to me to be out of place in a crowded restaurant, and in my opinion it would have been much better to have a moment of silent prayer. What do you have to say about this?

Answer: I agree with you that in a public restaurant it is better for each one at the table to silently say Grace.

Must Fresh Napkins Be Used?

Dear Mrs. Post: When having guests stay in your house for a week end or longer, is it necessary to provide them with fresh napkins for every meal, or might the same napkins be used over again if they are not soiled. It would certainly save a lot of laundering if this could be done.

Answer: If they are really fresh, it would not be improper to use them again.

Brother and Sister Graduate Together

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother and I will be graduating from the same school at the same time. Would it be proper to send one invitation to each of our relatives with both of our name cards enclosed or are separate invitations necessary?

Answer: One invitation with both your cards enclosed is sufficient.

Pelts Pay Off

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Fur trapping, though less glamorous than in the days of the voyagers, still takes nearly a million dollars a year from the backs of the mink, muskrat, racoon and beaver in Michigan. Many of the trappers are farmers and their sons, who tend their traps after school. The usual muskrat take each year is about a half million, the State Conservation Department reports. Muskrat pelts last year brought about $1 each. Mink bring about $20 a pelt and Michigan trappers average about 15,000 of them a year. The raccoon kill averages about 150,000 yearly; the badger, 400, and the skunk, 2,000. About 15,000 persons buy trapping licenses each year.

Several Trapped As Explosion Demolishes Plant

Oklahoma City, Dec. 24 (AP)—A two-story brick building housing a produce company was demolished by an explosion today, injuring a dozen persons and trapping several others in the ruins.

Police said that at least one or two persons were believed dead in the explosion, which took place shortly before 8 a. m. and rocked the east side of the Oklahoma City business district.

ALL AVAILABLE ambulances were rushed to the scene and at least a half dozen persons were taken immediately to hospitals. Several others were lying in the streets awaiting aid.

A small fire blazed in the back end of the building, which housed the Janger Produce Co.

First reports said about 15 girls were in the building plus several office employes.

THE FRONT of the two-story building was blown out and the top caved in. An adjoining cafe's roof collapsed.

J. C. Hawk, operator of a filling station on the other side of the building, was in the cafe at the time.

He said that about nine persons were in the cafe and only the heavy wooden counter saved them from injury or death.

"The concussion was terrific," Hawk said. "We heard the explosion and two seconds later everything started falling. We instinctively got under the counter and that is what saved us."

FIREMEN and other rescue workers moved swiftly to get into the ruins in an effort to free the trapped workers.

Hawk said it "sounded like a natural gas explosion to me."

Monoxide Poisoning Seen Fatal to Two

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Two men were pronounced dead early today, apparently of monoxide poisoning, five hours after the wife of one of them found the two in an apartment and thought they were asleep.

The dead were James Caskie, 51, of 44 Clinton street, and Daniel Elliot, 48, who has been living at the Caskie apartment.

Police said Mrs. Caskie returned home at 7:30 last night and found Elliott in bed and her husband seated in a chair, both apparently asleep. She went out and returned five hours later, to find both men had not moved. She called police and both were pronounced dead.

Police said a gas hot water heater and the oven of a gas range were burning, and no windows were open. The men were believed to have suffocated from lack of oxygen.

Williamsburg, Virginia, was named in honor of King William III, of England.

Transform Leftovers Into New Year's Eve Delights

THE NEW YEAR will start right if you serve spectacular-looking chicken or turkey sandwiches dressed up this way.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

This is the big season of leftover chicken and turkey. That's why the saucy sandwich recipe is so timely.

For the New Year's Eve party, these individual chicken or turkey sandwiches baked with melted cheese over them would be very welcome.

Saucy Chicken or Turkey Sandwiches (Yield: 8 sandwiches)

One-quarter cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup enriched flour, 1 pint milk, 1½ cups grated process cheese, 16 slices enriched bread toast, 1 cup whole cranberry sauce, 16 slices cooked chicken or turkey.

Melt butter in a saucepan; blend in flour. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add cheese and stir until it melts. Trim crusts from toast. Arrange a slice of toast in each of 8 individual flat serving dishes and cover it with 2 tablespoons cranberry sauce, 2 slices chicken or turkey and another toast slice. Pour 1/3 cup cheese sauce over each sandwich. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes.

For Christmas or New Year's Eve, gala stuffed eggs can add to the fun and good eating.

Gala Eggs (Yield: 8 gala eggs)

Eight hard-cooked eggs, ¼ cup piccalilli, ¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 dozen whole cloves, 8 pimento strips.

Shell eggs. Cut off a part of the broad end of each egg so that eggs will stand upright. Cut off other end to make a cap. Scoop out egg yolk and mash it with a fork. Add piccalilli, mayonnaise and mustard. Refill eggs and replace cap. Place 3 whole cloves into deviled egg mixture for eyes and nose. Cut pimento strip into 8 long tassels for cap; place tassel on the side of each cap.

NEW YEAR'S EVE BUFFET: Hot tomato bouillion in cups, crackers, individual saucy chicken or turkey sandwiches, with cheese and cranberry sauce, pickles, celery, olives, radishes, chocolate coconut cake, fruit bowl, coffee (tea or milk).

Dies of Burns

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—William Davey, 27, of nearby Grant, died last night in Memorial Hospital of burns suffered Monday when he fell into a vat of scalding water. Davey fell while working on top of a load of logs that were being dumped into the vat at the plant of the Jamestown Veneer and Plywood Co. in neighboring Poland. The 180-degree water is used to soften the bark on the logs.

About three-fourths of the letters are written and half the newspapers in the world are printed in English.

Woodstock Motor Club Elects New Officers

Woodstock, Dec. 24—At the last meeting of the year of the Woodstock Motor Club Wednesday night election of officers for the coming year took place. The following were elected: Jim Smith, president; Phil Halzell, vice president; Marion Gardner of Cementon, secretary; Al Chant, assistant secretary; Gus Lovy, treasurer and Gordon Van De Bogart, assistant treasurer.

The annual dinner of the club will be given Saturday, Feb. 14 at the Woodland Valley Inn. The club has authorized the purchase of a new microphone to be used with their already purchased public address system at banquets and rallies.

The list of members who have assembled the largest number of points for the year in rallies are: drivers, Phil Halzell 4390; Anne Franckling 3230; Wes Whittaker 2950; John Ford 2840; Frank Gardner 2835; Jerry Gardner 1980; navigators, Joe Clark 4390; Doug Franckling 3480; Marion Gardner 2095; Herb Brunning 1915; Jeanne Ford 1505 and Vince Coons 1480.

Rebekah Lodge Has Kiddie Yule Party

Woodstock, Dec. 24—All the children of the members of the Agapae Rebekah Lodge were invited to the annual Christmas party of the organization held Wednesday evening at the Bearsville Lodge hall.

The following program was presented by the children; songs by Lloyd, Emmy and Jimmy Gibson; Elaine and Carol Cousins; Priscilla Melville, Lillian Melville and Barry Wingert; piano selection of Christmas Carols, Emmy Gibson and song by Lloyd Gibson. Santa Claus arrived, distributed gifts and candy after which refreshments were served.

A short meeting was held before the party. A new refreshment committee for the month of January includes: Miss Barbara Gibson, Mrs. Marcelle Holumzer, Mrs. Fannie Parnett and Mrs. Margaret Antenucci.

At the next meeting Mrs. Anna DeWitt, district deputy president, is planning to make her official visit. All members are requested to be present.

Woodstock Library Additions Are Listed

Woodstock, Dec. 24—The following list of new books has been announced by the Woodstock Library: O'Hara, Ten North Frederick; McCarthy, A Charmed Life; Schindler, How to Live 365 Days a Year; Lehmann, The Whispering Gallery; Toynbee, Study of History Vols. I-X (Gift from Schleicher fund); Bishop, Poems North and South; Thomson, The Foreseeable Future; Weeks, The Open Heart; West, Heritage; Kanter, Andersonville; Maurette, Anastasia; Bowles, The Spicer's House; Lord, A Night to Remember; Schoonover, Queen's Cross; Asch, The Prophet Bridge, A Family of Two Worlds; Benchley, Robert Benchley; Corey, ed., Letters of George Santayana; Ceram, Secret of the Hittites; Howarth, We Die Alone; Kuhn, On the Track of Prehistoric Man; Oppenheimer, The Open Mind; Foley, ed., Best American Short Stories, 1955; Fitzgerald, Papa Married a Mormon; LaMure, Beyond Desire; House and Garden, Book of Gardens; Boeck, Picasso; and good mysteries and many new children's books.

Legion Auxiliary Has Party for Youngsters

Woodstock, Dec. 24—A group of 45 children attended the Christmas party given by the Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary, Post 1026, Monday evening at the Legion hall. A solo, "Silent Night" was sung by Lloyd Gibson Jr., who was accompanied by his sister, Emmy Gibson.

The role of Santa Claus was taken by Daniel Wallingford, who distributed gifts. A program of games followed. Although not a member of the American Legion, Fennell (Pop) Franckling played piano selections.

The committee in charge of the party was as follows: Mrs. Richard Bark, chairman; Mrs. Roger Gracier and Mrs. K. Robetello. The committee would like to thank all who helped to make the party a success. A sheet cake and cookies were contributed by Artie DiNapoli, formerly of the Woodstock Bakery.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Dec. 24—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wolters left Sunday by plane for a trip through Spain, Italy and Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garnett are expected in Woodstock this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hamilton had as their weekend guests at their Bearsville home, Mrs. Hamilton's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bell and their daughter, Susan, and their son, Paul, all of Massachusetts.

BLAMED — Japan's Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu faces a no-confidence vote for his failure to gain Japan's admission to the United Nations. The powerful Socialist party is demanding his resignation, blaming Japan's rejection on Shigemitsu's "mistaken knowledge of and policy regarding Nationalist China's attitude and his failure to restore relations with the Soviet Union."

Think It Through

WHOSE OX IS GORED?

This is about Governor J. Bracken Lee, of Utah, who has announced that he will not pay any more income taxes until the courts decide whether the Constitution authorizes Congress to toss his money, and yours, around the world in global welfare schemes.

Mr. Hutton

This is an important question and should be decided by the highest court in the land. For the President has said he wants the program made permanent.

But the Internationalists, One-Worlders and the rest of this group have landed on the Governor like a ton of bricks. He is "defying the law," "setting a bad example," etc., etc.

In reply. I call their attention to the following: Last summer Congress put a provision in an Appropriation Bill that the Government could NOT STOP competing with Free Enterprise unless Congress O.K'd it.

Now, hold your horses and grip your saddle horn. President Eisenhower, on LEGAL ADVICE, said that he would not comply with this "law." He says it is an unconstitutional interference with the Executive Branch of the Government.

Maybe he is right. But maybe Governor Lee is also right. Nothing is "the law" that is not authorized by the Constitution.

But did any of these boys who skinned Governor Lee alive, make any howls of horror about President Ike "violating the law"?

Nary a word! Silent as the tomb! Neighbor, it wasn't their ox!

The Stable Door

Luke, in his lovely account of the Christmas happening, tosses out the hint that Mary and Joseph were turned away from the inn and had to seek refuge in a lowly stable. The door of the inn was closed to them. They were filled to capacity. There was no room—not even for one in Mary's plight! But the door of the stable was open. They had no trouble entering there.

In symbol that gave the Saviour to the world. For He was born, not in a cozy inn, but a rude stable. And stable doors in that ancient day were hardly ever shuttable. There were cracks in the sides of that shed to let the night in. But those same cracks served to let the glory out.

Often, if we read with an alerted eye, we catch the hint of something wonderful just as truly by what is omitted as by what is said. The silence of scripture are as much a part of the grandeur of its revelations as the messages that are etched in words. They are, of course, harder to see. It is so easy to overlook a silence. A keenness of mind is required of us if we would learn from what is not there.

It has always seemed tremendously significant to me that there is nowhere a hint in the Christmas story that the shepherds, having left their flocks on the hillside, had to open any door. Apparently they stepped across a doorless threshold to enter where the baby Jesus lay. Wise men, after making their long journey, did not have to pound and "holler" at the door for any tender to "open up." There was no doorkeeper on duty at the stable that night with his careful instructions "not to let everybody in." Mary sheltered her Son in a huddle of straw that was available to anyone who desired to come.

Have you ever wondered how many of the germs of ideas for the matchless stories Jesus told came out of the things His mother told Him as He was growing up? How many of the lovely allegories with their fresh touches that made (and make) His teaching so vibrant with reality had their birth in incidents His mother shared with Him about His earlier years? Of course we shall never know. But I like to think that when He said: "I am the door; by me if any man enter in he shall be saved, and shall go in and out and find pasture," (John 10:9) His mind was on that stable which Mary so often had told Him about—with its door that was never closed!

Legion Auxiliary Has Party for Youngsters

Woodstock, Dec. 24—A group of 45 children attended the Christmas party given by the Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary, Post 1026, Monday evening at the Legion hall. A solo, "Silent Night" was sung by Lloyd Gibson Jr., who was accompanied by his sister, Emmy Gibson.

The role of Santa Claus was taken by Daniel Wallingford, who distributed gifts. A program of games followed. Although not a member of the American Legion, Fennell (Pop) Franckling played piano selections.

The committee in charge of the party was as follows: Mrs. Richard Bark, chairman; Mrs. Roger Gracier and Mrs. K. Robetello. The committee would like to thank all who helped to make the party a success. A sheet cake and cookies were contributed by Artie DiNapoli, formerly of the Woodstock Bakery.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Dec. 24—Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wolters left Sunday by plane for a trip through Spain, Italy and Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garnett are expected in Woodstock this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hamilton had as their weekend guests at their Bearsville home, Mrs. Hamilton's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bell and their daughter, Susan, and their son, Paul, all of Massachusetts.

BLAMED — Japan's Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu faces a no-confidence vote for his failure to gain Japan's admission to the United Nations. The powerful Socialist party is demanding his resignation, blaming Japan's rejection on Shigemitsu's "mistaken knowledge of and policy regarding Nationalist China's attitude and his failure to restore relations with the Soviet Union."

Think It Through

WHOSE OX IS GORED?

This is about Governor J. Bracken Lee, of Utah, who has announced that he will not pay any more income taxes until the courts decide whether the Constitution authorizes Congress to toss his money, and yours, around the world in global welfare schemes.

Mr. Hutton

This is an important question and should be decided by the highest court in the land. For the President has said he wants the program made permanent.

But the Internationalists, One-Worlders and the rest of this group have landed on the Governor like a ton of bricks. He is "defying the law," "setting a bad example," etc., etc.

In reply, I call their attention to the following: Last summer Congress put a provision in an Appropriation Bill that the Government could NOT STOP competing with Free Enterprise unless Congress O.K'd it.

Now, hold your horses and grip your saddle horn. President Eisenhower, on LEGAL ADVICE, said that he would not comply with this "law." He says it is an unconstitutional interference with the Executive Branch of the Government.

Maybe he is right. But maybe Governor Lee is also right. Nothing is "the law" that is not authorized by the Constitution.

But did any of these boys who skinned Governor Lee alive, make any howls of horror about President Ike "violating the law"?

Air Lanes Cleared for St. Nick

Santa's Gift Load Tonight Said To Be His Heaviest in 20 Years

Note to editors: "Will Santa Claus really come to our house?" That is the most anxious question in America today. It is answered in the following column, written for parents to read aloud to their children. Since its first appearance in 1948, it has become a scrapbook favorite in many homes.)

BY HAL BOYLE

North Pole, Dec. 24 (AP)—He's off!

Santa Claus is on his way at last!

The jolly old saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The northern lights switched on to a clear steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"WE ARE CLEARING all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go fast as you like. Good luck."

And Santa needed that wide clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was piled so high with gifts it overflowed. It looked like a flying hayrack as it raced through the crisp cold air.

"Oh dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope none of these presents fall out and bean some poor innocent rabbit down below. I believe this must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" whispered Donner to Vixen. "He's only riding in that sled. We have to pull it."

VIXEN LAUGHED so hard the bells on his harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, puffing a little because he has gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"Here, here, get out of the way please," said Santa Claus importantly. Then he said, surprised:

"WHY WHAT ARE you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking for Florida. Have you seen it anywhere?"

"Climb aboard, climb aboard," boomed Santa. "I'll drop you off there. But I must say this is the first time I ever picked up three hitchhikers wearing tuxedoes."

Just then Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper.

"YOU ALMOST FORGOT your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa, "I don't need it This year I am going to give a present to every little boy and girl good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. It'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old softie."

SANTA STOOD UP to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But then he heard a small voice crying:

"Wait, please wait."

It was Cluny, Santa's favorite littel elf. The other elves gossipped about Cluny and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small shiny figure.

"What's this? What's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."

"IT IS ONLY my present to the world," said Cluny. "I made it at night in my room—all by myself."

Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angel with butterfly wings and a robe of purest white. In her hand the angel held a small magic wand.

"It is the angel of peace," explained Cluny.

"WHY, CLUNY!" said Santa. "This is better than all the other gifts put together. I'll see that your angel waves her wand for one day at least over every home in the land."

And he picked up Cluny and gave her a big whisker-tickly kiss on her cheek. Then he picked up his long whip again and cracked it sharply in the frosty air."

THE EIGHT reindeer leaped forward and the big sled began sliding through the snow. Faster, faster, faster, faster—and then they were off the ground and into the air.

Santa was on his way. And tonight, if you go to bed, he will come to your house, wherever you are.

Grandmother Awaits GI Son and Three Tots

New York, Dec. 244 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Bennett waited anxiously today for a Christmas reunion with her army veteran son and the three grandchildren she has never seen.

Mrs. Bennett flew here yesterday from her home in Groton, near Ithaca in central New York.

Meanwhile, her son Robert and the children winged westward across the Atlantic from Germany in a race to reach home by Christmas. Their plane was scheduled to arrive at Idlewild Airport this afternoon (3:35 p. m., EST).

Bennett, his wife and children were to leave Germany 10 days ago. But their airline reservations were mixed up. The airline rescheduled the Bennetts for the flight arriving today.

Then military officials held Mrs. Bennett, the former Hildegard Webber, in Germany for security clearance. She expects to join her husband in Groton after Jan. 1.

"I just hope everything goes along smoothly this time," Grandmother Bennett remarked. "The last time was hectic enough to last forever."

VA Returns Pension To Jersey Amputee

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—James Kutcher, who lost his legs fighting the Germans in World War 2, has his government pension back—at least until the question of his loyalty is resolved.

The Veterans Administration (VA) announced late yesterday it was restoring Kutcher's $329 a month veterans compensation—his sole income—pending a hearing on officially undisclosed charges against him. The VA said it was acting out of a "sense of fair play and to prevent hardship . . ."

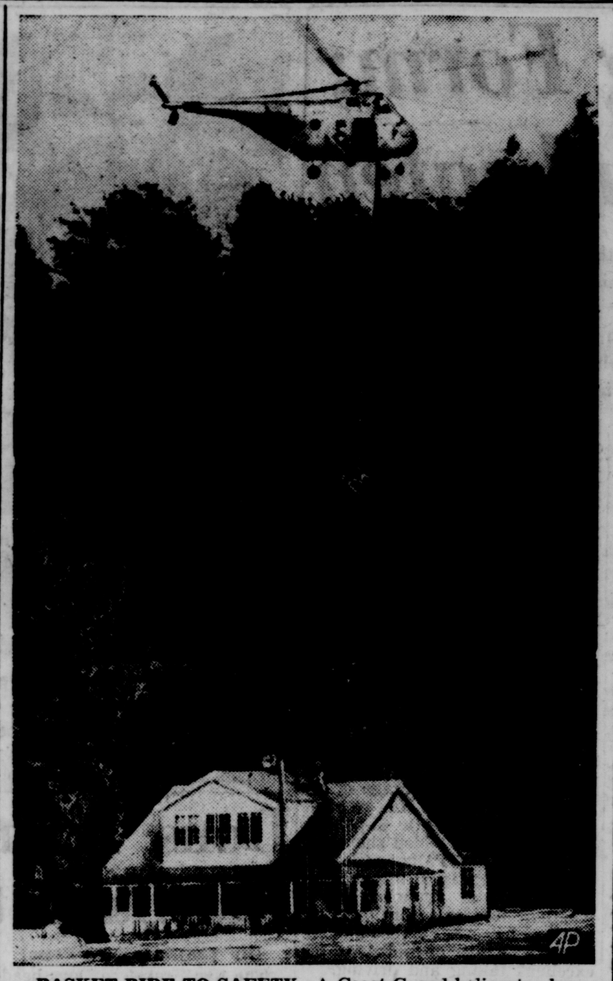
The VA move followed disclosure by the New York Post that Kutcher's compensation payments had been suspended by a regional VA office, effective Nov. 30.

Kutcher said in New York he was happy to get his pension back. But, he added, "the question is how long will this order . . . be in effect."

The Newark, N. J., veteran has been beset by job and housing troubles growing out of doubts cast on his loyalty. A bachelor, he will be 44 years old on Monday.

15 Dead at Jordan

Jerusalem, Jordan Sector, Dec. 24 (AP)—Informed sources said today estimates of casualties in five days of bloody rioting in Jordan put the dead at 15 or 16 and more than 100 injured. The government imposed strict censorship during the days of rioting and still has given no casualty figures. An uneasy peace was restored Wednesday. The riots broke out in protest to moves to bring Jordan into the Baghdad pact, linking Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Britain.



BASKET RIDE TO SAFETY—A Coast Guard helicopter hovers over a house in the flooded area near Guerneville, Cal., Dec. 23 as it pulls up a basket containing one of several members of a family that had been marooned on the rooftop directly below. Other members of the family watch as the basket goes up and await their turns. (AP Wirephoto).

FINDS WAY TO SAFETY—Bewhiskered, tired and sore, but safe, Sgt. John M. Horan, of Maynard, Mass., rests on a cot in a mountain inn near Seattle, Wash., the night of Dec. 22, after the Army paratrooper walked out of the cold and rugged wilderness to safety. Searchers had all but given up hope for Horan who bailed out of a crippled plane high in the Cascade Mountains Dec. 18. (AP Wirephoto).

104 MPH Winds Lash Colorado; Damage Is Heavy

Denver, Dec. 24 (AP) — Dust-laden winds clocked in gusts up to 104 m.p.h. lashed Colorado east of the Rocky Mountains last night and early today causing thousands of dollars damage.

The hardest hit area was around Colorado Springs. Southward from there the winds apparently abated. Pueblo reported only light dust.

TREES WERE uprooted, power lines downed, windows broken and porches and roofs ripped off homes and business establishments throughout the state's midsection and northeast quarter.

The weather bureau here reported winds were clocked in gusts up to 104 m.p.h. at Fort Collins and 96 m.p.h. at Ft. Carson.

A Boulder police dept. official said his switchboard was swamped for a time with fire calls and pleas for assistance from stricken home owners.

AT FORT MORGAN, fans sat for 45 minutes in darkness during a preliminary basketball game matching Fort Morgan and Brush. There were other power failures at Brush, Boulder, Longmont and Denver. Telephones lines were out in the Colorado Springs suburbs of Palmer Lake and Monument.

At Manitou Springs, police Capt. Lloyd Klock said Christmas tree decorations were "scattered all over town.

The state patrol closed U. S. 287 from Lafayette northward to the Wyoming line for several hours at a time.

TRAFFIC FIRST was halted after a power line blew down across the route two miles south of Lafayette. Thereafter cars moved only in caravans led by patrol cars or snow plows clearing the drifted dirt from the road.

Spellman to Hold Yule Mass for Soldiers Tonight

Western Front, Korea, Dec. 24 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, arrived by helicopter today to celebrate Christmas eve Mass for American soldiers 10 miles from the Korean truce line.

The cardinal stepped from the helicopter into the cold mist of a frosty afternoon after flying over the snow-powdered hills from Pohang in the south to spend his fifth consecutive Christmas among the GI's.

HE WAS welcomed to the forward area by Maj. Gen. S. B. Mason, commander of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, and proceeded to 19th Regiment headquarters where he will celebrate Mass.

Earlier, he was welcomed to Korea by U. S. 8th Army Commander Gen. I. D. White. He landed at Pohang from Japan to be greeted by men and officers of the First Marine Air Wing.

Cardinal Spellman arrived on the same plane with U. S. Navy Secretary Charles Thomas, who continued to Chinhae to call on President Syngman Rhee.

Young Free Today

Tallahassee, Fla., Dec. 24 (AP)—E. Merl Young, convicted of perjury in Washington's "mink coat" case during the Truman administration, will get his best Christmas present today—his freedom. Young was scheduled for release from the Federal Correctional Institution here during the day. Frank A. Edwards, chief probation officer of the Miami Federal Court, said Young had completed his 2-year perjury sentence, thanks to 144 days off for good conduct and another 36 days off for "meritorius service."

Mount Rainier is the third highest peak in continental United States.

Briefly Told

NIAGARA FALLS, Dec. 24 (AP)—A 42-year-old invalid was shot to death by his 77-year-old father here yesterday. The father then turned the gun on himself and inflicted a fatal wound.

Police said John Pescio shot his son Gino as he sat in a wheelchair and then shot himself in the temple. The father was taken to a hospital where he died two hours later without regaining consciousness.

Police said they found a note at the feet of the elder Pescio saying that he shot his son to put him "out of his misery." The note was found alongside a .38 caliber pistol.

MEDINA, Dec. 24 (AP) — Two men were fatally injured yesterday when the automobiles they were driving collided near this Orleans county village.

Dead were: Joseph Lewandowski, 26, of Medina, and William Babcock, 21, of Albion.

Police said road conditions at the time were good and could give no reason for the almost head-on collision.

BUFFALO, Dec. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Rita Marie Driscoll, 30, was fatally injured last night when the automobile she was driving and another car collided.

NIAGARA FALLS, Dec. 24 (AP) Ronald Seaman, 13, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile as he was riding a bike near his home in the suburban town of Wheatfield.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 24 (AP)—Miss Alanna Loomis, 24, was killed yesterday when a rifle discharged in a bedroom closet, where it was stored.

Dr. C. C. Whittemore, Herkimer county coroner, said he believed the .22-caliber rifle may have discharged when she pulled something from the closet. He issued a certificate of accidental death.

UTICA, Dec. 24 (AP)—Harrison H. Buxton, a physical education instructor in the Utica school system for 26 years prior to his retirement in 1942, died yesterday.

Buxton previously had worked as a physical education director for YMCAs in Orange, N. J., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Lynn, Mass.

Saugerties P-TA Dance Set Dec. 28

The Saugerties Parent Teacher Association will sponsor a dance on Wednesday, Dec. 28, for students of grades 7 through 12 of Saugerties High School and recent graduates.

The dance will be held from 8 until 11 p. m. in the Saugerties High School auditorium. Mrs. Milton Armstrong will act as chairman for the affair. A local orchestra will provide the music, and light refreshments will be served.

Air Lanes Cleared for St. Nick

Santa's Gift Load Tonight Said To Be His Heaviest in 20 Years

Note to editors: "Will Santa Claus really come to our house?" That is the most anxious question in America today. It is answered in the following column, written for parents to read aloud to their children. Since its first appearance in 1948, it has become a scrapbook favorite in many homes.)

BY HAL BOYLE

North Pole, Dec. 24 (AP)—He's off!

Santa Claus is on his way at last!

The jolly old saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The northern lights switched on to a clear steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"WE ARE CLEARING all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go fast as you like. Good luck."

And Santa needed that wide clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was piled so high with gifts it overflowed. It looked like a flying hayrack as it raced through the crisp cold air.

"Oh dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I do hope none of these presents fall out and bean some poor innocent rabbit down below. I believe this must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" whispered Donner to Vixen. "He's only riding in that sled. We have to pull it."

VIXEN LAUGHED so hard the bells on his harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, puffing a little because he has gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"Here, here, get out of the way please," said Santa Claus importantly. Then he said, surprised:

"WHY WHAT ARE you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking for Florida. Have you seen it anywhere?"

"Climb aboard, climb aboard," boomed Santa. "I'll drop you off there. But I must say this is the first time I ever picked up three hitchhikers wearing tuxedoes."

Just then Mrs. Santa Claus came running out waving a long piece of paper.

"YOU ALMOST FORGOT your list of good children," she said.

"Never mind," said Santa, "I don't need it This year I am going to give a present to every little boy and girl. good or bad. The bad ones will feel sorry then, because they know they don't deserve a nice present. It'll make 'em try harder to be good next year."

"That isn't according to Hoyle," said Mrs. Claus, who likes to play bridge. "But it does make sense, you old softie."

SANTA STOOD UP to crack his whip in the air—the signal to be off. But then he heard a small voice crying:

"Wait, please wait."

It was Cluny, Santa's favorite littel elf. The other elves gossipped about Cluny and said she was clumsy at making toys. But Santa knew it was only because she was so young. He liked her because she had a good heart.

"Here," said the tiny elf, holding up a small shiny figure.

"What's this? What's this?" grumbled Santa. "You're too late. My pack is already loaded."

"IT IS ONLY my present to the world," said Cluny. "I made it at night in my room—all by myself."

Santa took the little figure from her hands. It was a beautiful angel with butterfly wings and a robe of purest white. In her hand the angel held a small magic wand.

"It is the angel of peace," explained Cluny.

"WHY, CLUNY!" said Santa. "This is better than all the other gifts put together. I'll see that your angel waves her wand for one day at least over every home in the land."

And he picked up Cluny and gave her a big whisker-tickly kiss on her cheek. Then he picked up his long whip again and cracked it sharply in the frosty air."

THE EIGHT reindeer leaped forward and the big sled began sliding through the snow. Faster, faster, faster, faster—and then they were off the ground and into the air.

Santa was on his way. And tonight, if you go to bed, he will come to your house, wherever you are.

Grandmother Awaits GI Son and Three Tots

New York, Dec. 244 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Bennett waited anxiously today for a Christmas reunion with her army veteran son and the three grandchildren she has never seen.

Mrs. Bennett flew here yesterday from her home in Groton, near Ithaca in central New York.

Meanwhile, her son Robert and the children winged westward across the Atlantic from Germany in a race to reach home by Christmas. Their plane was scheduled to arrive at Idlewild Airport this afternoon (3:35 p. m., EST).

Bennett, his wife and children were to leave Germany 10 days ago. But their airline reservations were mixed up. The airline rescheduled the Bennetts for the flight arriving today.

Then military officials held Mrs. Bennett, the former Hildegard Webber, in Germany for security clearance. She expects to join her husband in Groton after Jan. 1.

"I just hope everything goes along smoothly this time," Grandmother Bennett remarked. "The last time was hectic enough to last forever."

VA Returns Pension To Jersey Amputee

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—James Kutcher, who lost his legs fighting the Germans in World War 2, has his government pension back—at least until the question of his loyalty is resolved.

The Veterans Administration (VA) announced late yesterday it was restoring Kutcher's $329 a month veterans compensation—his sole income—pending a hearing on officially undisclosed charges against him. The VA said it was acting out of a "sense of fair play and to prevent hardship . . ."

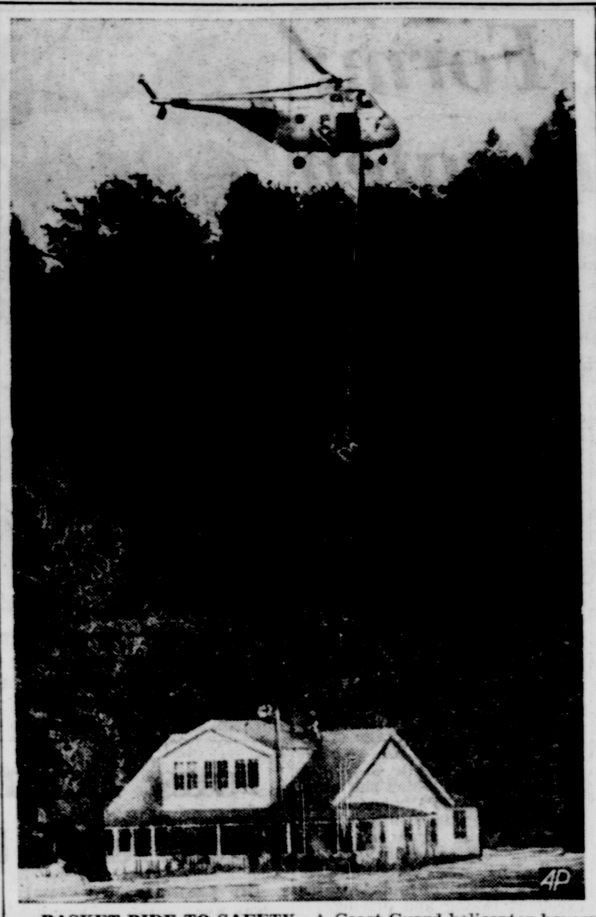
The VA move followed disclosure by the New York Post that Kutcher's compensation payments had been suspended by a regional VA office, effective Nov. 30.

Kutcher said in New York he was happy to get his pension back. But, he added, "the question is how long will this order . . . be in effect."

The Newark, N. J., veteran has been beset by job and housing troubles growing out of doubts cast on his loyalty. A bachelor, he will be 44 years old on Monday.

15 Dead at Jordan

Jerusalem, Jordan Sector, Dec. 24 (AP)—Informed sources said today estimates of casualties in five days of bloody rioting in Jordan put the dead at 15 or 16 and more than 100 injured. The government imposed strict censorship during the days of rioting and still has given no casualty figures. An uneasy peace was restored Wednesday. The riots broke out in protest to moves to bring Jordan into the Baghdad pact, linking Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Britain.



BASKET RIDE TO SAFETY—A Coast Guard helicopter hovers over a house in the flooded area near Guerneville, Cal., Dec. 23 as it pulls up a basket containing one of several members of a family that had been marooned on the rooftop directly below. Other members of the family watch as the basket goes up and await their turns. (AP Wirephoto).

FINDS WAY TO SAFETY—Bewhiskered, tired and sore, but safe, Sgt. John M. Horan, of Maynard, Mass., rests on a cot in a mountain inn near Seattle, Wash., the night of Dec. 22, after the Army paratrooper walked out of the cold and rugged wilderness to safety. Searchers had all but given up hope for Horan who bailed out of a crippled plane high in the Cascade Mountains Dec. 18. (AP Wirephoto).

104 MPH Winds Lash Colorado; Damage Is Heavy

Denver, Dec. 24 (AP) — Dust-laden winds clocked in gusts up to 104 m.p.h. lashed Colorado east of the Rocky Mountains last night and early today causing thousands of dollars damage.

The hardest hit area was around Colorado Springs. Southward from there the winds apparently abated. Pueblo reported only light dust.

TREES WERE uprooted, power lines downed, windows broken and porches and roofs ripped off homes and business establishments throughout the state's midsection and northeast quarter.

The weather bureau here reported winds were clocked in gusts up to 104 m.p.h. at Fort Collins and 96 m.p.h. at Ft. Carson.

A Boulder police dept. official said his switchboard was swamped for a time with fire calls and pleas for assistance from stricken home owners.

AT FORT MORGAN, fans sat for 45 minutes in darkness during a preliminary basketball game matching Fort Morgan and Brush. There were other power failures at Brush, Boulder, Longmont and Denver. Telephones lines were out in the Colorado Springs suburbs of Palmer Lake and Monument.

At Manitou Springs, police Capt. Lloyd Klock said Christmas tree decorations were "scattered all over town.

The state patrol closed U. S. 287 from Lafayette northward to the Wyoming line for several hours at a time.

TRAFFIC FIRST was halted after a power line blew down across the route two miles south of Lafayette. Thereafter cars moved only in caravans led by patrol cars or snow plows clearing the drifted dirt from the road.

Spellman to Hold Yule Mass for Soldiers Tonight

Western Front, Korea, Dec. 24 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, arrived by helicopter today to celebrate Christmas eve Mass for American soldiers 10 miles from the Korean truce line.

The cardinal stepped from the helicopter into the cold mist of a frosty afternoon after flying over the snow-powdered hills from Pohang in the south to spend his fifth consecutive Christmas among the GI's.

HE WAS welcomed to the forward area by Maj. Gen. S. B. Mason, commander of the U. S. 24th Infantry Division, and proceeded to 19th Regiment headquarters where he will celebrate Mass.

Earlier, he was welcomed to Korea by U. S. 8th Army Commander Gen. I. D. White. He landed at Pohang from Japan to be greeted by men and officers of the First Marine Air Wing.

Cardinal Spellman arrived on the same plane with U. S. Navy Secretary Charles Thomas, who continued to Chinhae to call on President Syngman Rhee.

Young Free Today

Tallahassee, Fla., Dec. 24 (AP)—E. Merl Young, convicted of perjury in Washington's "mink coat" case during the Truman administration, will get his best Christmas present today—his freedom. Young was scheduled for release from the Federal Correctional Institution here during the day. Frank A. Edwards, chief probation officer of the Miami Federal Court, said Young had completed his 2-year perjury sentence, thanks to 144 days off for good conduct and another 36 days off for "meritorius service."

Briefly Told

NIAGARA FALLS, Dec. 24 (AP)—A 42-year-old invalid was shot to death by his 77-year-old father here yesterday. The father then turned the gun on himself and inflicted a fatal wound.

Police said John Pescio shot his son Gino as he sat in a wheelchair and then shot himself in the temple. The father was taken to a hospital where he died two hours later without regaining consciousness.

Police said they found a note at the feet of the elder Pescio saying that he shot his son to put him "out of his misery." The note was found alongside a .38 caliber pistol.

MEDINA, Dec. 24 (AP) — Two men were fatally injured yesterday when the automobiles they were driving collided near this Orleans county village.

Dead were: Joseph Lewandowski, 26, of Medina, and William Babcock, 21, of Albion.

Police said road conditions at the time were good and could give no reason for the almost head-on collision.

BUFFALO, Dec. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Rita Marie Driscoll, 30, was fatally injured last night when the automobile she was driving and another car collided.

NIAGARA FALLS, Dec. 24 (AP) Ronald Seaman, 13, was fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile as he was riding a bike near his home in the suburban town of Wheatfield.

FRANKFORT, Dec. 24 (AP)—Miss Alanna Loomis, 24, was killed yesterday when a rifle discharged in a bedroom closet, where it was stored.

Dr. C. C. Whittemore, Herkimer county coroner, said he believed the .22-caliber rifle may have discharged when she pulled something from the closet. He issued a certificate of accidental death.

UTICA, Dec. 24 (AP) — Harrison H. Buxton, a physical education instructor in the Utica school system for 26 years prior to his retirement in 1942, died yesterday.

Buxton previously had worked as a physical education director for YMCAs in Orange, N. J., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Lynn, Mass.

Cage Season Following Form; Only Two Teams Still Unbeaten

OLD HANDS—Georgia Tech co-captains Wade Mitchell, left, and Franklin Brooks try to count to the last New Year's Day they've had free as they prep for the Sugar Bowl. This is the third bowl game for Mitchell, a quarterback, and Brooks, the star guard, will be in his fourth when he goes against Pittsburgh, Jan. 2, at New Orleans.

To date, the scholastic basketball season has been noteworthy in only one big respect, it is running true to pre-season form. Upsets have been at a premium.

Only two Ulster county high schools—Kingston and Saugerties—are undefeated. The locals have gained four successes while the latter squad has triumphed in seven starts.

Neither squad, however, has faced a top-notch team. But both have tough engagements awaiting them after the holiday recess.

KINGSTON MEETS Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Middletown—the first two unbeaten—in DUSO League duels in that order. These will be the acid tests for the Maroons.

To date, Jack Gilligan's cage troupe has been a pleasant surprise to its followers. The locals are a tall group, probably bigger than any starting five in the DUSO.

Kingston has been a good team to watch; the Maroons mix their offensive and defensive patterns and their passwork is classy. They shoot from all angles of the court.

Bob Smith, the sharpshooting guard, is the team's leading pointmaker with 75 markers. Richie Strong, six-foot-six center, has 57. Forwards Tom Flemming and Tony Grimaldi have tallied 48 and 40 respectively.

To date the Kingstonians have been a team in every sense of the word. No "ball-hogging" or "gunning" has been evident.

POUGHKEEPSIE APPEARS to be the team to beat, with Port Jervis and Newburgh (despite the latter's loss to PHS) strong contenders.

Sam Kalloch has only one big man on his team, 6-5 Monty Stickles, now averaging better than 20 points per game. But the Blue and White has two slippery forwards, Stu Sonne and Lee J. Nelson, and a pair of rugged rebounders and good playmakers in the guards, George Phillips and Charley Johnson.

The backcourt men, however, will complete their athletic eligibility after January examinations. Poughkeepsie can't expect to be quite as tough after that. And for the final year, the Pioneers have their pint-sized gym as a home-game ally.

As had been expected, Saugerties is dominating the Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL).

Bud Smith, former Kingston High School star, inherited a plethora of talent when he took over the coaching reins this year at the upcounty school.

THE SAWYERS have all the ingredients of a championship team—height, speed, passwork, shooting ability. Their starting team averages approximately six feet, two inches. And it isn't composed of basketball "goons." All the lads are the genuine articles.

The big men in the attack have been center Bob Hansen and guards Joe Martin and Bill Hanna. Hansen, who stands six-four, is currently averaging a fraction short of 20 points per game. Martin is a stocky ball-handling wizard who can also score consistently. Hanna is always a double-figure scorer and top rebounder.

This trio has had plenty of help from the forwards, John Kerin and Don Whitaker, and from an ineligibility returnee, Bert Ledwith. Together, they form the Saugerties "Super Six," the power of Ulster county.

If anyone gives Smith and his Sawyers a battle for the UCAL diadem, it will be Kerhonkson, a team which has lost only once in six starts and is unbeaten in three league games. Chick Meehan also has a veteran club, headed by forward John Mustion and center Werner Wustrau. Kerhonkson, however, does not appear to have the all-around scoring potentcy and height of Saugerties. The meeting of the teams at the Sawyer court Jan. 6 will probably decide the UCAL crown.

THE OTHER UCAL clubs don't have what it takes to check Saugerties, although some could give Kerhonkson a fight.

New Paltz, a team with a poor record, has come up with the Hudson Valley's 1955-56 scoring sensation, Darrell Harp.

Harp, a blond, husky 6-2 center, has registered 181 points in seven outings, an average of almost 26 per game. His greatest show to date was a 45-pointer against Wallkill which shattered all existing New Paltz and UCAL records. Harp is a threat anywhere in the keyhole area—whether he's got the ball or whether he's after a rebound. He draws a number of fouls with his excellent faking and driving.

Dons Triumph Again, Run Skein to 33 Games

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons headed for New York today with their 33-game victory streak intact and with designs on the college basketball record for consecutive triumphs.

San Francisco, the nation's top ranked team, easily rolled over Loyola of New Orleans 61-43 last night to make it seven straight this season and 33 over a two-year span. The all-time mark is 39 straight.

Next stop for the well-balanced Dons is Madison Square Garden where they tangle with La Salle Monday afternoon in the second game of the E. C. A. C. holiday festival tournament.

Holy Cross faces Syracuse in the opener while UCLA meets St. John's of Brooklyn and Duquesne goes up against Fordham in a night doubleheader. UCLA, incidently was the last team to defeat the Dons—in Dec. 1954.

The existing mark for consecutive victories was set by Long Island University from 1935 to 1937 and was later equalled by Seton Hall of South Orange, N. J., 1939-1941.

OFF LAST NIGHT'S performance, there'll be no stopping the Dons.

They drew off to a 24-8 lead in the 15th minute of the game with Bill Russell, K. C. Jones and Mike Preseau spearheading the attack. Russell, the brilliant 6-10 Negro All-America, scored 20 points before leaving the game with eight minutes left to play.

Although San Francisco used five Negro players there was no repetition of Tuesday night's incident when Loyola fans jeered Bradley's Negro forward Shellie McMillon for allegedly sticking out his tongue after fouling out.

The Loyola band, which broke into "Dixie" during the Bradley incident, confined its selections to the Loyola fight song and the national anthem.

VANDERBILT was the only other team among the first 10 to see action and the eighth-ranked Commodores were knocked off by Iowa State 87-76 in the upset of the night. It was Vandy's first setback after six triumphs.

Illinois, No. 17, built up a 21-1 lead against Oklahoma and breezed in 82-58. The Sooners did not register their first field goal until 10:38 of the first half.

Junius McCoy popped in 16 straight points in the last 10 minutes as Michigan State whipped Wyoming 72-62. McCoy wound up with 32 points, but he had to give up scoring honors to Wyoming's Joe Capua, who netted 34. The victory was the Spartans' fourth in as many games. Wyoming is 1-6.

Oklahoma A & M jumped off to a 19 point lead and coasted to an easy 70-51 victory over Baylor.

OKLAHOMA CITY pulled away from Texas Christian in the final four minutes to win 64-54 and hand TCU its eighth straight defeat.

Washington of St. Louis, trailing by two points at halftime, nipped Cornell 55-50.

In other games, Spring Hall (Ala.) tripped Washington State 63-60, St. Francis of Brooklyn beat Queens 87-63 and Elon College defeated Pfeiffer 100-77 to win the first annual Paris Island, S. C., Christmas invitation tourney.

Cage Season Following Form; Only Two Teams Still Unbeaten

OLD HANDS—Georgia Tech co-captains Wade Mitchell, left, and Franklin Brooks try to count to the last New Year's Day they've had free as they prep for the Sugar Bowl. This is the third bowl game for Mitchell, a quarterback, and Brooks, the star guard, will be in his fourth when he goes against Pittsburgh, Jan. 2, at New Orleans.

To date, the scholastic basketball season has been noteworthy in only one big respect, it is running true to pre-season form. Upsets have been at a premium.

Only two Ulster county high schools—Kingston and Saugerties—are undefeated. The locals have gained four successes while the latter squad has triumphed in seven starts.

Neither squad, however, has faced a top-notch team. But both have tough engagements awaiting them after the holiday recess.

KINGSTON MEETS Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Middletown—the first two unbeaten—in DUSO League duels in that order. These will be the acid tests for the Maroons.

To date, Jack Gilligan's cage troupe has been a pleasant surprise to its followers. The locals are a tall group, probably bigger than any starting five in the DUSO.

Kingston has been a good team to watch; the Maroons mix their offensive and defensive patterns and their passwork is classy. They shoot from all angles of the court.

Bob Smith, the sharpshooting guard, is the team's leading pointmaker with 75 markers. Richie Strong, six-foot-six center, has 57. Forwards Tom Flemming and Tony Grimaldi have tallied 48 and 40 respectively.

To date the Kingstonians have been a team in every sense of the word. No "ball-hogging" or "gunning" has been evident.

POUGHKEEPSIE APPEARS to be the team to beat, with Port Jervis and Newburgh (despite the latter's loss to PHS) strong contenders.

Sam Kalloch has only one big man on his team, 6-5 Monty Stickles, now averaging better than 20 points per game. But the Blue and White has two slippery forwards, Stu Sonne and Lee J. Nelson, and a pair of rugged rebounders and good playmakers in the guards, George Phillips and Charley Johnson.

The backcourt men, however, will complete their athletic eligibility after January examinations. Poughkeepsie can't expect to be quite as tough after that. And for the final year, the Pioneers have their pint-sized gym as a home-game ally.

As had been expected, Saugerties is dominating the Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL).

Bud Smith, former Kingston High School star, inherited a plethora of talent when he took over the coaching reins this year at the upcounty school.

THE SAWYERS have all the ingredients of a championship team—height, speed, passwork, shooting ability. Their starting team averages approximately six feet, two inches. And it isn't composed of basketball "goons." All the lads are the genuine articles.

The big men in the attack have been center Bob Hansen and guards Joe Martin and Bill Hanna. Hansen, who stands six-four, is currently averaging a fraction short of 20 points per game. Martin is a stocky ball-handling wizard who can also score consistently. Hanna is always a double-figure scorer and top rebounder.

This trio has had plenty of help from the forwards, John Kerin and Don Whitaker, and from an ineligibility returnee, Bert Ledwith. Together, they form the Saugerties "Super Six," the power of Ulster county.

If anyone gives Smith and his Sawyers a battle for the UCAL diadem, it will be Kerhonkson, a team which has lost only once in six starts and is unbeaten in three league games. Chick Meehan also has a veteran club, headed by forward John Mustion and center Werner Wustrau. Kerhonkson, however, does not appear to have the all-around scoring potency and height of Saugerties. The meeting of the teams at the Sawyer court Jan. 6 will probably decide the UCAL crown.

THE OTHER UCAL clubs don't have what it takes to check Saugerties, although some could give Kerhonkson a fight.

New Paltz, a team with a poor record, has come up with the Hudson Valley's 1955-56 scoring sensation, Darrell Harp.

Harp, a blond, husky 6-2 center, has registered 181 points in seven outings, an average of almost 26 per game. His greatest show to date was a 45-pointer against Wallkill which shattered all existing New Paltz and UCAL records. Harp is a threat anywhere in the keyhole area—whether he's got the ball or whether he's after a rebound. He draws a number of fouls with his excellent faking and driving.

Dons Triumph Again, Run Skein to 33 Games

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Dons headed for New York today with their 33-game victory streak intact and with designs on the college basketball record for consecutive triumphs.

San Francisco, the nation's top ranked team, easily rolled over Loyola of New Orleans 61-43 last night to make it seven straight this season and 33 over a two-year span. The all-time mark is 39 straight.

Next stop for the well-balanced Dons is Madison Square Garden where they tangle with La Salle Monday afternoon in the second game of the E. C. A. C. holiday festival tournament.

Holy Cross faces Syracuse in the opener while UCLA meets St. John's of Brooklyn and Duquesne goes up against Fordham in a night doubleheader. UCLA, incidently was the last team to defeat the Dons—in Dec. 1954.

The existing mark for consecutive victories was set by Long Island University from 1935 to 1937 and was later equalled by Seton Hall of South Orange, N. J., 1939-1941.

OFF LAST NIGHT'S performance, there'll be no stopping the Dons.

They drew off to a 24-8 lead in the 15th minute of the game with Bill Russell, K. C. Jones and Mike Preseau spearheading the attack. Russell, the brilliant 6-10 Negro All-America, scored 20 points before leaving the game with eight minutes left to play.

Although San Francisco used five Negro players there was no repetition of Tuesday night's incident when Loyola fans jeered Bradley's Negro forward Shellie McMillon for allegedly sticking out his tongue after fouling out.

The Loyola band, which broke into "Dixie" during the Bradley incident, confined its selections to the Loyola fight song and the national anthem.

VANDERBILT was the only other team among the first 10 to see action and the eighth-ranked Commodores were knocked off by Iowa State 87-76 in the upset of the night. It was Vandy's first setback after six triumphs.

Illinois, No. 17, built up a 21-1 lead against Oklahoma and breezed in 82-58. The Sooners did not register their first field goal until 10:38 of the first half.

Junius McCoy popped in 16 straight points in the last 10 minutes as Michigan State whipped Wyoming 72-62. McCoy wound up with 32 points, but he had to give up scoring honors to Wyoming's Joe Capua, who netted 34. The victory was the Spartans' fourth in as many games. Wyoming is 1-6.

Oklahoma A & M jumped off to a 19 point lead and coasted to an easy 70-51 victory over Baylor.

OKLAHOMA CITY pulled away from Texas Christian in the final four minutes to win 64-54 and hand TCU its eighth straight defeat.

Washington of St. Louis, trailing by two points at halftime, nipped Cornell 55-50.

In other games, Spring Hall (Ala.) tripped Washington State 63-60, St. Francis of Brooklyn beat Queens 87-63 and Elon College defeated Pfeiffer 100-77 to win the first annual Paris Island, S. C., Christmas invitation tourney.

'—AND STILL CHAMPION'

From The Freeman Sports Staff

Many editions ago a newspaper man answered a little girl's inquiry about Santa Claus. His reply was to the affirmative.

What, then, could be more appropriate than to have a pair of modern-day ink-stained wretches of the fourth estate, as our chosen profession is sometimes termed, play the part of old Saint Nick?

Newsmen develop, early in their career, an outer shell of cynicism. We hope that it's not too evident in this list, our Christmas gifts to the sporting fraternity of the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Sports Editor

CHUCK NORD
Assistant

COACH G. WARREN KIAS — Our hopes that he is enjoying his "retirement."

COACH JOHN GILLIGAN — An unbeaten season and DUSO basketball title.

SAM KALLOCH—That 1000th victory.

JAKE SENOR—A cook book with a special chapter on roast beef.

ANDREW MURPHY III—Scorekeepers for the summer softball leagues. No more midnight snacks.

IRWIN J. THOMAS — IBM computer for bowling averages.

EDDIE PALLADINO—A night at home.

GEORGE PALMATEER—Forsooth, a long night out.

WESLEY F. "BO" GILL—Those long-sought personnel biographies of Poughkeepsie High school athletes.

RALPH FREDERICK—Success in his managing editor's role.

STAN LEVINSON—Plenty of guests in his Hotel Newburgh.

MONTY STICKLES—An All-DUSO basketball berth (if he's a good boy).

LEWIS WILSON, JOE FORNO, FRANK ANTENUCCI—A Geiger counter for deer hunting.

CHARLIE MANFRO — A new flip on the seeing-eye ball.

TOMMY SICKLER — Alley markers at the Central Recs.

JOHNNY FERRARO—A bigger and better National All Star elimination tournament next year.

TOM CARLINO — More home runs and a hook ball next season.

FRED DAVI—A crowd at a ball game next summer. Just a teen weeny little crowd.

WILLIAM D. RYAN—A successful and prosperous stewardship as Mayor of Newburgh.

DICK BEZEMER—Another All-Florida basketball honor.

SKIP BRODHEAD—A change of mind and back to some college.

PAUL J. FREER—A silver cocktail shaker and another pennant for the Yankees.

DUKE SEMILOF — Safety belt and crash proof convertible.

WALTER S. VAN WAGENEN — A shankproof mashie.

ALBERT CAWEIN—A new organization to join.

ROSE SCHATZEL—A little Marion Ladewig.

MANNIE COLAO — A highly successful KBA 20th anniversary celebration.

HOWARD WOOD — Have Old Santa take the anchors off the 7 and 10 pins at the Central Recs.

JOHN "RED" SANGI — That brand new tenpin layout during 1956.

BOB "GIANTS" TIERNEY — Range finder to keep the ball on the same board at all times. And, of course, a pennant for Bill Rigney.

GEORGE WEEKS—A new bowling ball allergic to gutters.

KINGSTON HIGH — The DUSO League sportsmanship award in basketball.

DICK McCARTHY—Open the door, Santa, but please don't ask for Richard.

DOROTHY NAREL—A nice little Jaguar.

CRAIG PLOUGH—One of those expansion belts.

CHET JOY—A market for his spinning reel.

HAROLD "BOOMER" MILLER — Some support from Sickler's Delivery in the Independent League.

EMERSON MAYES—A deer with a rack.

BOB SAEHLOFF—Good fishing in the reservoir and a date with the minister.

JOE HUBER — More boat meetings and fewer floods in 1956.

SONNY BARNES—MIKE SPADA — More archery days for deer.

MAYOR ARTHUR SIMMONS (Saugerties) —A moose on the first shot next time.

MAYOR FRED STANG—More trips to the first tee in '56.

BOB SHELIGHTNER—A click in minor league baseball.

MAJOR HOOPLE—More infallible wizardry and peerless prognostications in football. Harrumph!

BILL STRAUB AND FRANK HAMBLET—That bigger West Shore Football League.

ERNIE SCHIRMER — A legitimate 200-pound deer.

CHARLIE DERRENBACHER—A fireman's helmet.

DON SCHRYVER—A pair of dark glasses like King Farouk.

JERRY CONRAD—Just one more 600 in the Independent League, please Santa.

ART SHELIGHTNER—A compass to find his way home from Monday bowling.

JAKE BERINATO, MONK MCGRATH—A deep sea fishing expedition . . . with fish.

FRANK REIS—A little Univac to take care of FYL and CYO sports activities.

EX-FIRE CHIEF JOSEPH L. MURPHY — Less noise from the Freeman composing room.

TO ONE AND ALL: A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

And 32 years ago Sports Editor P. Joseph Beichert bequeathed gifts, too, like these:

HARRY E. SCHIRICK—To complete the deal with the St. Louis Cardinals whereby Bill Schwab goes to the Cards in exchange for Rogers Hornsby and $50,000.

FRITZIE BRUHN—His 1924 contract to mascot the Colonials.

Mrs. Zaharias Takes Holiday Leave of Hospital

Galveston, Tex., Dec. 24 (AP)—Sporting her first new permanent wave in eight months, Babe Didrickson Zaharias was to fly to Fort Worth for a three-day Christmas holiday.

The famous golfer, who had been in a Galveston hospital for a physical checkup, said she would appear at, but would not play in, an exhibition golf match at Houston next Wednesday for the benefit of a cancer fund.

Ryff Fails To Impress, Beats Vasquez

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Frankie Ryff did little to help himself as a top flight lightweight contender by his victory over Baby Vasquez and he knows it.

"I'd rather lose and give the fans a show," he said last night, apologizing in his dressing room at Madison Square Garden. The 23-year-old New Yorker knew his unanimous decision over the squat Mexican in a 10-round nationally televised bout hadn't been a crowd pleaser.

"He was sloppy and he made me sloppy, too," Ryff added. "I wanted to give the fans a fight so I upset my style. He was a slow cautious, counter puncher so I decided to slug when I could.

"When I got down (into a half crouch) we were having a wing ding until I got this." He pointed to a deep cut around his right eye that will sideline him for six weeks. "We banged heads and this happened. Then I switched back again."

AFTER RYFF was cut in the fourth round, he became cautious for a couple of rounds. Then he reverted to form and rushed in with both fists flying to earn a substantial edge. Ryff was wild and ineffective much of the time, but Vasquez didn't hit hard enough to offset his persistent drive.

Charlie Black, Ryff's manager, said he wanted matches with lightweight champion Bud Smith, ex-champ Jimmy Carter or any other good fighter. Ryff weighed 138 last night, Vasquez 136.

'—AND STILL CHAMPION'

From The Freeman Sports Staff

Many editions ago a newspaper man answered a little girl's inquiry about Santa Claus. His reply was to the affirmative.

What, then, could be more appropriate than to have a pair of modern-day ink-stained wretches of the fourth estate, as our chosen profession is sometimes termed, play the part of old Saint Nick?

Newsmen develop, early in their career, an outer shell of cynicism. We hope that it's not too evident in this list, our Christmas gifts to the sporting fraternity of the Mid-Hudson Valley.

CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

CHUCK NORD
Assistant

COACH G. WARREN KIAS — Our hopes that he is enjoying his "retirement."

COACH JOHN GILLIGAN — An unbeaten season and DUSO basketball title.

SAM KALLOCH—That 1000th victory.

JAKE SENOR—A cook book with a special chapter on roast beef.

ANDREW MURPHY III—Scorekeepers for the summer softball leagues. No more midnight snacks.

IRWIN J. THOMAS — IBM computer for bowling averages.

EDDIE PALLADINO—A night at home.

GEORGE PALMATEER—Forsooth, a long night out.

WESLEY F. "BO" GILL—Those long-sought personnel biographies of Poughkeepsie High school athletes.

RALPH FREDERICK—Success in his managing editor's role.

STAN LEVINSON—Plenty of guests in his Hotel Newburgh.

MONTY STICKLES—An All-DUSO basketball berth (if he's a good boy).

BROOKLYN DODGERS — Another world championship.

LEWIS WILSON, JOE FORNO, FRANK ANTENUCCI—A Geiger counter for deer hunting.

CHARLIE MANFRO — A new flip on the seeing-eye ball.

TOMMY SICKLER — Alley markers at the Central Recs.

JOHNNY FERRARO—A bigger and better National All Star elimination tournament next year.

TOM CARLINO — More home runs and a hook ball next season.

FRED DAVI—A crowd at a ball game next summer. Just a teen weeny little crowd.

WILLIAM D. RYAN—A successful and prosperous stewardship as Mayor of Newburgh.

DICK BEZEMER—Another All-Florida basketball honor.

SKIP BRODHEAD—A change of mind and back to some college.

PAUL J. FREER—A silver cocktail shaker and another pennant for the Yankees.

DUKE SEMILOF — Safety belt and crash proof convertible.

WALTER S. VAN WAGENEN — A shankproof mashie.

ALBERT CAWEIN—A new organization to join.

ROSE SCHATZEL—A little Marion Ladewig.

MANNIE COLAO — A highly successful KBA 20th anniversary celebration.

HOWARD WOOD — Have Old Santa take the anchors off the 7 and 10 pins at the Central Recs.

JOHN "RED" SANGI — That brand new tenpin layout during 1956.

BOB "GIANTS" TIERNEY — Range finder to keep the ball on the same board at all times. And, of course, a pennant for Bill Rigney.

GEORGE WEEKS—A new bowling ball allergic to gutters.

KINGSTON HIGH — The DUSO League sportsmanship award in basketball.

DICK McCARTHY—Open the door, Santa, but please don't ask for Richard.

HAROLD STYLES—GENE FREER—A liberal handicap to play Lou Netter and Frank Campochiaro on even terms.

DOROTHY NAREL—A nice little Jaguar.

CRAIG PLOUGH—One of those expansion belts.

CHET JOY—A market for his spinning reel.

HAROLD "BOOMER" MILLER — Some support from Sickler's Delivery in the Independent League.

EMERSON MAYES—A deer with a rack.

BOB SAEHLOFF—Good fishing in the reservoir and a date with the minister.

JOE HUBER — More boat meetings and fewer floods in 1956.

SONNY BARNES—MIKE SPADA — More archery days for deer.

MAYOR ARTHUR SIMMONS (Saugerties) —A moose on the first shot next time.

MAYOR FRED STANG—More trips to the first tee in '56.

BOB SHELIGHTNER—A click in minor league baseball.

MAJOR HOOPLE—More infallible wizardry and peerless prognostications in football. Harrumph!

BILL STRAUB AND FRANK HAMBLET—That bigger West Shore Football League.

ERNIE SCHIRMER — A legitimate 200-pound deer.

CHARLIE DERRENBACHER—A fireman's helmet.

DON SCHRYVER—A pair of dark glasses like King Farouk.

JERRY CONRAD—Just one more 600 in the Independent League, please Santa.

ART SHELIGHTNER—A compass to find his way home from Monday bowling.

JAKE BERINATO, MONK MCGRATH—A deep sea fishing expedition . . . with fish.

FRANK REIS—A little Univac to take care of FYL and CYO sports activities.

EX-FIRE CHIEF JOSEPH L. MURPHY — Less noise from the Freeman composing room.

TO ONE AND ALL: A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

And 32 years ago Sports Editor P. Joseph Beichert bequeathed gifts, too, like these:

HARRY E. SCHIRICK—To complete the deal with the St. Louis Cardinals whereby Bill Schwab goes to the Cards in exchange for Rogers Hornsby and $50,000.

FRITZIE BRUHN—His 1924 contract to mascot the Colonials.

Mrs. Zaharias Takes Holiday Leave of Hospital

Galveston, Tex., Dec. 24 (AP)—Sporting her first new permanent wave in eight months, Babe Didrickson Zaharias was to fly to Fort Worth for a three-day Christmas holiday.

The famous golfer, who had been in a Galveston hospital for a physical checkup, said she would appear at, but would not play in, an exhibition golf match at Houston next Wednesday for the benefit of a cancer fund.

Ryff Fails To Impress, Beats Vasquez

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—Frankie Ryff did little to help himself as a top flight lightweight contender by his victory over Baby Vasquez and he knows it.

"I'd rather lose and give the fans a show," he said last night, apologizing in his dressing room at Madison Square Garden. The 23-year-old New Yorker knew his unanimous decision over the squat Mexican in a 10-round nationally televised bout hadn't been a crowd pleaser.

"He was sloppy and he made me sloppy, too." Ryff added. "I wanted to give the fans a fight so I upset my style. He was a slow cautious, counter puncher so I decided to slug when I could.

"When I got down (into a half crouch) we were having a wing ding until I got this." He pointed to a deep cut around his right eye that will sideline him for six weeks. "We banged heads and this happened. Then I switched back again."

AFTER RYFF was cut in the fourth round, he became cautious for a couple of rounds. Then he reverted to form and rushed in with both fists flying to earn a substantial edge. Ryff was wild and ineffective much of the time, but Vasquez didn't hit hard enough to offset his persistent drive.

Charlie Black, Ryff's manager, said he wanted matches with lightweight champion Bud Smith, ex-champ Jimmy Carter or any other good fighter. Ryff weighed 138 last night, Vasquez 136.

Introduced High Heels

High-heeled shoes are said to have been introduced by Catherine de Medici, wife of Henry II of France, and her heels were about an inch high.

Troubled World

from Germany, in his apartment. He receives the tree each year from a friend of the days when the Pontiff was apostolic nuncio in Berlin and Munich during World War I.

Two American Church leaders —one Protestant and the other Roman Catholic — took the Christmas message to American military forces far from home. Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, was in South Korea with U. S. Navy secretary Charles Thomas. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, president of the National Council of Churches, was spending the Christmas weekend at Air Force Base at Thule, Greenland, on the edge of the Polar icecap.

On the European continent, almost every U. S. military unit gave holiday parties or help to thousands of orphans, needy children, and refugees. The army estimated 70,000 children were entertained at pre-Christmas festivities in Germany alone.

Similar parties were planned by the Americans in France, Italy, and elsewhere.

Radio Free Europe broadcast Christmas messages to the Iron Curtain countries. One from President Eisenhower told those forced to live in the satellite countries he wanted them to know "that the American people recognize the trials under which you are suffering; join you in your concern for the restoration of individual freedoms and political liberty; and share your faith that right in the end will prevail to bring you once again among the free nations of the world."

Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, told the satellite countries that "no man is finally free until all mankind is free. No nation is truly at peace until all nations in our world dwell together in brotherhood . . . We in America will continue to work for the time when peace is joined to justice and both are wed to freedom for all peoples of the earth."

Messages also were broadcast from former President Herbert Hoover, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, New York Gov. Averell Harriman, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Renounce Atomic

nual plea for peace which he has made every year since he was elected to St. Peter's throne, was carried by radio to countries throughout the world.

Repeating the angels' words to the shepherds on the hill the night that Christ was born, the Pope said:

"Fear not for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy that shall be to all the people." (Luke 2: 10).

Hearing the ringing words of the frail Pope were cardinals in their scarlet robes, ecclesiastical and lay dignitaries of the papal court, Roman clergymen and members of the Pope's family.

"How we wish," the Pope said, "that all men scattered over the continents, in cities, in villages, in valleys, in deserts, on steppes, on stretches of ice and seas, on the whole globe would again hear as thought it were said to each one of them in particular—the voice of an angel announcing the mystery of divine grandeur and of infinite love."

But the pontiff warned that "one must ask oneself with fearful anxiety whether modern man is disposed to let himself be approached by so much supernatural grandeur."

"In reality," the Pope continued, "modern man, exactly because he possesses all that human spirit and labor have produced in the course of time, should recognize the even more infinite distance between his immediate work and that of the immense God."

But the Pope said that reality is very different because of false and restricted view of the world and of life accepted by men.

Nine Day . . .

mated early today that upwards of 20,000 persons had been evacuated from homes in California, some 1,500 in Oregon and more than 600 in Nevada.

Damage estimates ran up to 10 million dollars and likely will go higher.

State and national agencies marshalled their forces for the immense relief and reconstruction job. They got a "blank check" go ahead in President Eisenhower's order declaring northern California a "major disaster area."

HEAVY RAIN was reported falling early today on the central coast area soouth of San Francisco, in the southern part of the vast central valley and in the Sierra foothills—arousing fears of heavy flooding for the south central interior.

Except for the dramatic battle to save Yuba City and Marysville, flood dangers appeared to be easing for the battered northern part of the state. The weather bureau said only light rain is expected over northern sectors today.

Following the levee break at Yuba City, authorities said the rampaging Feather had dropped approximately four inches and authorities cautiously predicted the crest had passed. More than 1,500 men toiled through the night at the sister city of Marysville in a desperate effort to bolster the sagging levees with sandbags.

San Francisco Chronicle reporter Tim Adams telephoned from the scene:

"THERE IS panic here. Everyone is piling into cars and taking off . . ."

The evacuees included many persons who fled their homes in Marysville only yesterday and sought refuge in Yuba City.

In Marysville, street lights blazed brightly and rain-soaked Christmas decorations hung limply over the streets. But it was a ghost city. . . . The streets and houses were empty except for police patrols—who had orders to shoot to kill if they found looters.

Marysville's Mayor Walter Burke voiced optimism with reports the river was dropping. He said the town's citizens may be able to be back in their homes for Christmas Eve.

TO THE NORTHWEST, meanwhile, the flooding Eel and Klamath rivers began dropping after devastating a huge area on northern California's coast. Associated Press photographer Ernie Bennett flew over the scene yesterday and reported that "the job of rebuilding will be truly gigantic."

He added:

"Entire communities were wiped out, railroads and highways were undermined, logs and buildings were swept out in the Pacific Ocean.

Bennett said, however, that by yesterday the Eel had dropped from 12 to 15 feet.

Across the Sierra from Marysville, the city of Reno battled to save itself from the raging Truckee river.

Gov. Charles H. Russell wired President Eisenhower asking that Reno and Washoe county be designated as disaster areas.

The Truckee, running through the center of Reno, had flooded most of the downtown district, including major shops and hotels. All five of Reno's bridges were closed last night.

Governor Russell estimated the damage at a million dollars.

Eight of the California victims died in Santa Cruz, where a flash flood of the San Lorenzo river swept 30 square blocks Thursday night.

Four others died in north coastal California and four in the Sierra.

The 17th California death was recorded in the San Francisco Bay area.

President Eisenhower's major disaster proclamation yesterday in effect gave federal agencies a blank check with which to tackle the northern California relief and rehabilitation job and to battle the continuing floods.

An engineering battalion rushed to Marysville, along with 100 national guardsmen. 37 trucks and two amphibious ducks.

Built on a low finger of land between the confluence of the Feather and Yuba rivers, Marysville faced certain disaster should the levees — on which millions have been spent—be breached.

The State Department of Water Resources received a report last night that a minor break had occured in the Feather river levee, on the west side of town.

POLICE CHIEF John Blevins told the Associated Press by telephone that "the levees haven't been breached yet—but it's touch and go. Anything can happen.

"We have been able to plug the danger points so far," the chief said. "But the situation is strictly in the balance."

Water Resources Engineer Irvin Engerson said the reports led him to believe that the levees are holding, but may be weakening.

THE FLOOD crest was not expected until 4 a. m.

No one would predict whether the workmen could hold the dikes against the increasing pressure.

Engerson said the problem was "one of elevation of water around the city—not the force of the curent against any one levee."

The city itself was deserted except for patrols of police, with orders to shoot to kill if looters were found.

Officials See

ing in October, when the western Big Three tried without success to get the Russians to agree on a many-sided program of travel and information exchange.

The fact that they have now decided in favor of publication of the magazines is regarded by State Department officials as evidence that there very well may be other agreements of this kind which they are willing to make over a period of time.

They believe that while the Soviets are fully determined to wage the cold war full scale against the west, particularly in Asia and the Middle East, the Russians do not want to return fully to the bitter name calling and increasing isolation of the Stalin regime.

If this analysis is correct, these informants say, the Western powers may still be able to achieve some of the objectives of their Geneva program for improving East-West contacts. The Soviets, they say, may be willing to agree to exchanges of cultural and scientific exhibits, such as the United States exhibit on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

They may also be willing to improve opportunities for private tourist travel and for exchanges of scientists and scholars, sports teams and the like.

In general American officials favor developments along these lines because they believe it is a good thing to open up Russia as much as possible to the Western world. Similarly they think it is profitable for Russians to travel abroad and discover in increasing numbers what the rest of the world is like.

Snow Covers Wide Areas of North

(By The Associated Press)

Snow covers wide areas of the northern states but chances of a white Christmas in other areas appeared dim today.

The blanket of white extends in sections of New England, New York, Pennsylvania and westward through the Great Lakes region, the northern plains and most of the Rockies into the interior and northern areas of Washington and Oregon.

MORE SNOW fell in some of these regions during the night. Falls were light in the northeast and in parts of Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. Snow was in prospect for northern midwest areas during the day.

Mild weather for late December prevailed in wide areas in the eastern half of the nation. Temperatures were up as much as 20 degrees in most of the southwestern plains and southern Rockies.

Fog was reported in the Great Lakes region to western and central Pennsylvania.

HEAVY RAIN continued in sections of the flood-stricken far west, with heaviest amounts in central California. The death toll in the flooded areas of northern California was 17, while five have died in Oregon. No deaths were reported in Nevada. In Reno the Truckee river has flooded most of the downtown area.

Northern California was declared a "major disaster area" yesterday by President Eisenhower. Worst hit by the week-long floods was Marysville, where the city's 12,500 residents were evacuated because of the flood-swollen Feather and Yuba rivers.

Winds, with gusts up to 85 miles per hour, hit the Colorado Springs, Okla., area last night. Roofs were ripped off, windows blown out and telephone lines knocked down. No injuries were reported.

THE RAINS and cloudy skies brought a drop in temperatures of from 5 to 20 degrees in the Pacific Northwest. A new surge of cold air from Canada moved into Montana and readings were below zero in some areas. One of the lowest marks was –8 at Cut Bank.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from 18 at Havre, Mont., to 89 at Laredo, Tex. Early this morning readings in the central states ranged from around zero in northwestern North Dakota to the 60s in Texas. It was 67 and clear in Brownsville, Tex. Other reports: New York (LaGuardia Field) 28 and cloudy; Chicago 41 and drizzle; Denver 67 and partly cloudy; Miami 63 and partly cloudy; Los Angeles 57 and cloudy; South Bend, Ind., 40 and fog.

Average depth of underground coal mines in the United States is 190 feet.

BIRD-FEEDING HOBBY PAYS OFF—C. R. Likins, almost 75 years old, retired in 1950 as an aircraft inspector and has since parlayed his hobby into a new business—building "scientific" bird feeders. He's shown above inspecting some of his colorful "restaurants" in his Cleveland, Ohio, workshop. In action now from Canada to Texas, Likins' feeders consist of citrus, tomato juice, pickle and lard cans for containers and cut-up coat hangers for "working parts." Metal "cone" awnings protect birds from the rain. His feeders hold from a pint to as much as 50 pounds of food. He says birds he feeds eat up to 40 pounds of food a week.

Peace Guardian At Jordan Plans Lonely Christmas

Jerusalem, Jordan Sector, Dec. 24 (AP)—One of the loneliest men in Palestine this Christmas is the man charged with keeping the peace in the Holy Land.

He is Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, chief of staff of the UN Truce Supervision Organization for Palestine. Almost within sight of the birthplace of Jesus Christ, Gen. Burns lives alone in the mile-square No Man's Land between Israel and Jordan, two nations who have been at war for eight Christmases.

THIS CHRISTMAS Eve, thousands of tourists and pilgrims pass within sight of Gen. Burn's residence en route from Jerusalem to Christmas festivities in Bethlehem. None were able to drop in and wish him Merry Christmas. To get into No Man's Land involves going through extensive formalities for police permission and getting an escort of UN guards.

Gen. Burns' residence is known as "Government House" because it was government headquarters during the British mandate over Palestine. The hill on which it sits was known to the ancients as "the hill of evil counsel" because here, legend says, was plotted the crucifixion of Christ.

When the Arab-Israeli shooting war ended in an indecisive armistice in 1949, the hill of evil counsel was left as no-man's land. This neutral site was taken over as headquarters by the UN team set up to supervise the armistice.

GEN. BURNS COULD have lived either in Arab or Israeli Jerusalem, where life would have been less lonely. But he chose to live in no-man's land to symbolize his impartiality.

The loneliness of Government House is intensified for Gen. Burns by the absence of his family, still in Canada. His daughter visited him for a few months last year, but now has returned to McGill University as a student.

The calm around Israel's frontiers for the past few days has given Gen. Burns hope this Christmas will not be spoiled by a border clash. But Israel's fronts with Syria in the north and Egypt in the south remain tense.

Nevada Areas Eligible for Flood Help

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower today designated portions of Nevada as a "major disaster" area, because of floods, and made them eligible for federal assistance.

Flood areas of northern California were designated a disaster region yesterday by the White House.

ACTING ON a request from Governor Charles H. Russell of Nevada, the President today designated the city of Reno and Washoe county Nevada as a "major disaster" area and allocated such funds as are necessary to supplement state and local relief efforts.

Governor Russell telegraphed the President last night saying that damage to public property is now estimated between one-half and one million dollars and that the emergency is increasing hourly. He asked for federal assistance.

A telegram, signed by Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the President, was sent to Russell today, saying:

"IN RESPONSE to your request, the President has today declared a 'major disaster' under authority of public law 875 in the city of Reno and the county of Washoe, Nev., which have been damaged by floods.

"He has allocated to the civil defense administration such funds for federal assistance as are necessary to supplement state and local efforts.

"The President has asked me to express deep concern with the hardship and suffering caused the people of your state by the floods."

Woman Arraigned In Shooting Incident

A Kingston woman was arraigned and held on bail in City Court today on a second degree assault charge following a shooting incident last night. Hearing was set for Tuesday, Dec. 27.

Mrs. Helen Lane, 30, of 121 North Front street was arrested on the assault charge at 8:30 p. m. by Officers William Slover and George Dohnken after police had received a call at 8:07 p. m. that a man had been shot in the foot by a woman at the North Front street address.

Henry Bunce, same address, was removed by Schultz ambulance to Kingston Hospital where his condition today was reported as "fairly good."

The district attorney's office was notified.

Introduced High Heels

High-heeled shoes are said to have been introduced by Catherine de Medici, wife of Henry II of France, and her heels were about an inch high.

Troubled World

from Germany, in his apartment. He receives the tree each year from a friend of the days when the Pontiff was apostolic nuncio in Berlin and Munich during World War I.

Two American Church leaders —one Protestant and the other Roman Catholic — took the Christmas message to American military forces far from home. Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, was in South Korea with U. S. Navy secretary Charles Thomas. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, president of the National Council of Churches, was spending the Christmas weekend at Air Force Base at Thule, Greenland, on the edge of the Polar icecap.

On the European continent, almost every U. S. military unit gave holiday parties or help to thousands of orphans, needy children, and refugees. The army estimated 70,000 children were entertained at pre-Christmas festivities in Germany alone.

Similar parties were planned by the Americans in France, Italy, and elsewhere.

Radio Free Europe broadcast Christmas messages to the Iron Curtain countries. One from President Eisenhower told those forced to live in the satellite countries he wanted then to know "that the American people recognize the trials under which you are suffering; join you in your concern for the restoration of individual freedoms and political liberty; and share your faith that right in the end will prevail to bring you once again among the free nations of the world."

Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, told the satellite countries that "no man is finally free until all mankind is free. No nation is truly at peace until all nations in our world dwell together in brotherhood . . . We in America will continue to work for the time when peace is joined to justice and both are wed to freedom for all peoples of the earth."

Messages also were broadcast from former President Herbert Hoover, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, New York Gov. Averell Harriman, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Renounce Atomic

nual plea for peace which he has made every year since he was elected to St. Peter's throne, was carried by radio to countries throughout the world.

Repeating the angels' words to the shepherds on the hill the night that Christ was born, the Pope said:

"Fear not for behold I bring you good tidings of great joy that shall be to all the people." (Luke 2: 10).

Hearing the ringing words of the frail Pope were cardinals in their scarlet robes, ecclesiastical and lay dignitaries of the papal court, Roman clergymen and members of the Pope's family.

"How we wish," the Pope said, "that all men scattered over the continents, in cities, in villages, in valleys, in deserts, on steppes, on stretches of ice and seas, on the whole globe would again hear as thought it were said to each one of them in particular—the voice of an angel announcing the mystery of divine grandeur and of infinite love."

But the pontiff warned that "one must ask oneself with fearful anxiety whether modern man is disposed to let himself be approached by so much supernatural grandeur."

"In reality," the Pope continued, "modern man, exactly because he possesses all that human spirit and labor have produced in the course of time, should recognize the even more infinite distance between his immediate work and that of the immense God."

But the Pope said that reality is very different because of false and restricted view of the world and of life accepted by men.

Yugoslavia May

could be prevailed upon to use their good offices.

YUGOSLAVIA was elected to the council by the General Assembly after a marathon contest with the Philippines. Under a lottery scheme Belgrade is to serve one year, then turn the seat over to Manilia.

This will mark Yugoslavia's second turn on the council. She served in 1950-51 after being elected over bitter Soviet opposition. This time the Soviet bloc campaigned in her behalf.

Nine Day . . .

mated early today that upwards of 20,000 persons had been evacuated from homes in California, some 1,500 in Oregon and more than 600 in Nevada.

Damage estimates ran up to 10 million dollars and likely will go higher.

State and national agencies marshalled their forces for the immense relief and reconstruction job. They got a "blank check" go ahead in President Eisenhower's order declaring northern California a "major disaster area."

HEAVY RAIN was reported falling early today on the central coast area soouth of San Francisco, in the southern part of the vast central valley and in the Sierra foothills—arousing fears of heavy flooding for the south central interior.

Except for the dramatic battle to save Yuba City and Marysville, flood dangers appeared to be easing for the battered northern part of the state. The weather bureau said only light rain is expected over northern sectors today.

Following the levee break at Yuba City, authorities said the rampaging Feather had dropped approximately four inches and authorities cautiously predicted the crest had passed. More than 1,500 men toiled through the night at the sister city of Marysville in a desperate effort to bolster the sagging levees with sandbags.

San Francisco Chronicle reporter Tim Adams telephoned from the scene:

"THERE IS panic here. Everyone is piling into cars and taking off . . ."

The evacuees included many persons who fled their homes in Marysville only yesterday and sought refuge in Yuba City.

In Marysville, street lights blazed brightly and rain-soaked Christmas decorations hung limply over the streets. But it was a ghost city. . . . The streets and houses were empty except for police patrols—who had orders to shoot to kill if they found looters.

Marysville's Mayor Walter Burke voiced optimism with reports the river was dropping. He said the town's citizens may be able to be back in their homes for Christmas Eve.

TO THE NORTHWEST, meanwhile, the flooding Eel and Klamath rivers began dropping after devastating a huge area on northern California's coast. Associated Press photographer Ernie Bennett flew over the scene yesterday and reported that "the job of rebuilding will be truly gigantic."

He added:

"Entire communities were wiped out, railroads and highways were undermined, logs and buildings were swept out in the Pacific Ocean.

Bennett said, however, that by yesterday the Eel had dropped from 12 to 15 feet.

Across the Sierra from Marysville, the city of Reno battled to save itself from the raging Truckee river.

Gov. Charles H. Russell wired President Eisenhower asking that Reno and Washoe county be designated as disaster areas.

The Truckee, running through the center of Reno, had flooded most of the downtown district, including major shops and hotels. All five of Reno's bridges were closed last night.

Governor Russell estimated the damage at a million dollars.

Eight of the California victims died in Santa Cruz, where a flash flood of the San Lorenzo river swept 30 square blocks Thursday night.

Four others died in north coastal California and four in the Sierra.

The 17th California death was recorded in the San Francisco Bay area.

President Eisenhower's major disaster proclamation yesterday in effect gave federal agencies a blank check with which to tackle the northern California relief and rehabilitation job and to battle the continuing floods.

Armed forces commands in northern California pooled all their resources under the Sixth Army for coordinatin of efforts.

An engineering battalion rushed to Marysville, along with 100 national guardsmen. 37 trucks and two amphibious ducks.

Built on a low finger of land between the confluence of the Feather and Yuba rivers, Marysville faced certain disaster should the levees — on which millions have been spent—be breached.

The State Department of Water Resources received a report last night that a minor break had occured in the Feather river levee, on the west side of town.

POLICE CHIEF John Blevins told the Associated Press by telephone that "the levees haven't been breached yet—but it's touch and go. Anything can happen.

"We have been able to plug the danger points so far," the chief said. "But the situation is strictly in the balance."

Water Resources Engineer Irvin Engerson said the reports led him to believe that the levees are holding, but may be weakening.

THE FLOOD crest was not expected until 4 a. m.

No one would predict whether the workmen could hold the dikes against the increasing pressure.

Engerson said the problem was "one of elevation of water around the city—not the force of the curent against any one levee."

The city itself was deserted except for patrols of police, with orders to shoot to kill if looters were found.

Officials See

ing in October, when the western Big Three tried without success to get the Russians to agree on a many-sided program of travel and information exchange.

The fact that they have now decided in favor of publication of the magazines is regarded by State Department officials as evidence that there very well may be other agreements of this kind which they are willing to make over a period of time.

They believe that while the Soviets are fully determined to wage the cold war full scale against the west, particularly in Asia and the Middle East, the Russians do not want to return fully to the bitter name calling and increasing isolation of the Stalin regime.

If this analysis is correct, these informants say, the Western powers may still be able to achieve some of the objectives of their Geneva program for improving East-West contacts. The Soviets, they say, may be willing to agree to exchanges of cultural and scientific exhibits, such as the United States exhibit on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

They may also be willing to improve opportunities for private tourist travel and for exchanges of scientists and scholars, sports teams and the like.

In general American officials favor developments along these lines because they believe it is a good thing to open up Russia as much as possible to the Western world. Similarly they think it is profitable for Russians to travel abroad and discover in increasing numbers what the rest of the world is like.

Snow Covers Wide Areas of North

(By The Associated Press)

Snow covers wide areas of the northern states but chances of a white Christmas in other areas appeared dim today.

The blanket of white extends in sections of New England, New York, Pennsylvania and westward through the Great Lakes region, the northern plains and most of the Rockies into the interior and northern areas of Washington and Oregon.

MORE SNOW fell in some of these regions during the night. Falls were light in the northeast and in parts of Montana, Wyoming and Idaho. Snow was in prospect for northern midwest areas during the day.

Mild weather for late December prevailed in wide areas in the eastern half of the nation. Temperatures were up as much as 20 degrees in most of the southwestern plains and southern Rockies.

Fog was reported in the Great Lakes region to western and central Pennsylvania.

HEAVY RAIN continued in sections of the flood-stricken far west, with heaviest amounts in central California. The death toll in the flooded areas of northern California was 17, while five have died in Oregon. No deaths were reported in Nevada. In Reno the Truckee river has flooded most of the downtown area.

Northern California was declared a "major disaster area" yesterday by President Eisenhower. Worst hit by the weeklong floods was Marysville, where the city's 12,500 residents were evacuated because of the flood-swollen Feather and Yuba rivers.

Winds, with gusts up to 85 miles per hour, hit the Colorado Springs, Okla., area last night. Roofs were ripped off, windows blown out and telephone lines knocked down. No injuries were reported.

THE RAINS and cloudy skies brought a drop in temperatures of from 5 to 20 degrees in the Pacific Northwest. A new surge of cold air from Canada moved into Montana and readings were below zero in some areas. One of the lowest marks was -8 at Cut Bank.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from 18 at Havre, Mont., to 89 at Laredo, Tex. Early this morning readings in the central states ranged from around zero in northwestern North Dakota to the 60s in Texas. It was 67 and clear in Brownsville, Tex. Other reports: New York (La-Guardia Field) 28 and cloudy; Chicago 41 and drizzle; Denver 67 and partly cloudy; Miami 63 and partly cloudy; Los Angeles 57 and cloudy; South Bend, Ind., 40 and fog.

Average depth of underground coal mines in the United States is 190 feet.

BIRD-FEEDING HOBBY PAYS OFF—C. R. Likins, almost 75 years old, retired in 1950 as an aircraft inspector and has since parlayed his hobby into a new business—building "scientific" bird feeders. He's shown above inspecting some of his colorful "restaurants" in his Cleveland, Ohio, workshop. In action now from Canada to Texas, Likins' feeders consist of citrus, tomato juice, pickle and lard cans for containers and cut-up coat hangers for "working parts." Metal "cone" awnings protect birds from the rain. His feeders hold from a pint to as much as 50 pounds of food. He says birds he feeds eat up to 40 pounds of food a week.

Peace Guardian At Jordan Plans Lonely Christmas

Jerusalem, Jordan Sector, Dec. 24 (AP)—One of the loneliest men in Palestine this Christmas is the man charged with keeping the peace in the Holy Land.

He is Canadian Maj. Gen. Edson L. M. Burns, chief of staff of the UN Truce Supervision Organization for Palestine. Almost within sight of the birthplace of Jesus Christ, Gen. Burns lives alone in the mile-square No Man's Land between Israel and Jordan, two nations who have been at war for eight Christmases.

THIS CHRISTMAS Eve, thousands of tourists and pilgrims pass within sight of Gen. Burn's residence en route from Jerusalem to Christmas festivitives in Bethlehem. None were able to drop in and wish him Merry Christmas. To get into No Man's Land involves going through extensive formalities for police permission and getting an escort of UN guards.

Gen. Burns' residence is known as "Government House" because it was government headquarters during the British mandate over Palestine. The hill on which it sits was known to the ancients as "the hill of evil counsel" because here, legend says, was plotted the crucifixion of Christ.

When the Arab-Israeli shooting war ended in an indecisive armistice in 1949, the hill of evil counsel was left as no-man's land. This neutral site was taken over as headquarters by the UN team set up to supervise the armistice.

GEN. BURNS COULD have lived either in Arab or Israeli Jerusalem, where life would have been less lonely. But he chose to live in no-man's land to symbolize his impartiality.

The loneliness of Government House is intensified for Gen. Burns by the absence of his family, still in Canada. His daughter visited him for a few months last year, but now has returned to McGill University as a student.

The calm around Israel's frontiers for the past few days has given Gen. Burns hope this Christmas will not be spoiled by a border clash. But Israel's fronts with Syria in the north and Egypt in the south remain tense.

Nevada Areas Eligible for Flood Help

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower today designated portions of Nevada as a "major disaster" area, because of floods, and made them eligible for federal assistance.

Flood areas of northern California were designated a disaster region yesterday by the White House.

ACTING ON a request from Governor Charles H. Russell of Nevada, the President today designated the city of Reno and Washoe county Nevada as a "major disaster" area and allocated such funds as are necessary to supplement state and local relief relief efforts.

Governor Russell telegraphed the President last night saying that damage to public property is now estimated between one-half and one million dollars and that the emergency is increasing hourly. He asked for federal assistance.

A telegram, signed by Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the President, was sent to Russell today, saying:

"IN RESPONSE to your request, the President has today declared a 'major disaster' under authority of public law 875 in the city of Reno and the county of Washoe, Nev., which have been damaged by floods.

"He has allocated to the civil defense administration such funds for federal assistance as are necessary to supplement state and local efforts.

"The President has asked me to express deep concern with the hardship and suffering caused the people of your state by the floods."

Woman Arraigned In Shooting Incident

A Kingston woman was arraigned and held on bail in City Court today on a second degree assault charge following a shooting incident last night. Hearing was set for Tuesday, Dec. 27.

Mrs. Helen Lane, 30, of 121 North Front street was arrested on the assault charge at 8:30 p. m. by Officers William Slover and George Dohnken after police had received a call at 8:07 p. m. that a man had been shot in the foot by a woman at the North Front street address.

Henry Bunce, same address, was removed by Schultz ambulance to Kingston Hospital where his condition today was reported as "fairly good."

The district attorney's office was notified.

Gambling Tables Take Flood Beating

Reno, Nev., Dec. 24 (AP)—Reno, with its ground floors and basements emptied, stood off the turbulent Truckee river today but took a beating at the gambling tables.

Experts predicted the Truckee would go even higher than during its two-million-dollar rampage of 1950, but businessmen and city officials were ready this time. They cleaned out places where the water would hit and stacked sandbags where they would do the most good.

Gov. Charles H. Russell, appealing to President Eisenhower for emergency aid, estimated the loss at around one million dollars.

Only 25 guests remained at the Riverside Hotel and only 65 at the Mapes. Guests were served cold food at the Riverside and one employe reported the situation this way: "No gambling, no drinking, no nothing." The Mapes kept open only its coffee shop.

Sandbags held the water from the Casino district, but there were few customers. Washed out highways and railroads kept them at a distance. The airport was under from two to three feet of water in spots.

Seven British railway stations in London handle 887,000 incoming and outgoing passengers on 5215 trains every day.

American GI's Bring Christmas To Overseas Kids

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 24 (AP)—"A smile on a kid's face is the same in any language."

One GI summed it up that way today as American servicemen from the Atlantic to the Iron Curtain took time out from their Christmas celebrations to brighten the holiday for thousands of orphans, needy children and refugees. Virtually every U. S. unit stationed in Europe gave a party for children or help of some kind to the poor.

IN GERMANY, where the bulk of the 300,000 U. S. servicemen on the continent are stationed, the army estimated 70,000 German children were entertained at pre-Christmas festivities.

One of the warmest gestures was "operation candy drop" along a section of the Iron Curtain. The 14th Armored Regiment sent out motorized Santa Claus patrols to tour West German villages bordering the Communist frontier and deliver candy to children. As the patrols entered each village, the GI Santa called the kids to him by loudspeaker.

Among typical Christmas undertakings were these:

AT ORLEANS, France, American service personnel raised $4,000 to buy flannel pajamas for 1,300 orphans.

At Wurzburg, Germany, the 10th U. S. Infantry Division collected $14,200 to aid nearly 3,700 orphans, refugee children and physically handicapped youngsters.

The 4th Infantry Division in Frankfurt bought toys, clothing and food for 1,500 children and aged needy persons.

For many overseas GI's, Christmas would be observed much the same as back home—attending Christmas Eve parties, church services and a Christmas Day turkey dinner. The army promised nearly a pound of turkey per man on a full-course dinner that starts with shrimp cocktail and finishes with mincemeat pie.

THE ARMY ALSO arranged to get hot turkey dinners to troops in the field or units manning isolated radar and communications stations.

From American military leaders in Europe came messages of greetings to their commands.

These included one from Adm. William M. Fechteler in Naples, southern NATO commander-in-chief, who told his forces:

"I am deeply grateful for your important contribution in the past year toward the NATO mission of preserving peace and freedom in the world."

Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, commander of the U. S. Army in Europe, said in a message to his troops:

"During this season we are far from our homes. This is but one of the many sacrifices we must make as we stand on the frontiers of democracy. It is here that we defend and maintain peace for our country and for men of good will."

Yule Treet for Tots

Weedsport, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Christmas may be merry after all for four tots who lost their mother a week ago. The Community Council at nearby Jordan said yesterday it planned a special Christmas treat for the four—Reginald, 6; Debie, 4; Ralph, 2; and Esther, 10 months. Merchants at Jordan and Auburn and the Jordan American Legion Post will provide toys and goodies. The youngsters, suffering from colds, will be treated by a Jordan doctor who has donated his services. Santa Claus—Nicholas Howanitz, a Community Council officer — will bring the toys tomorrow night to the home of the chidren's grandmother, Mrs. Louella Clark. The four are staying with Mrs. Clark until a permanent home can be found.

Among your Yuletide gifts may you surely find those priceless treasures of health, friendship, love and a deep and enduring happiness.

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 24 (AP)—"A smile on a kid's face is the same in any language."

One GI summed it up that way today as American servicemen from the Atlantic to the Iron Curtain took time out from their Christmas celebrations to brighten the holiday for thousands of orphans, needy children and refugees. Virtually every U. S. unit stationed in Europe gave a party for children or help of some kind to the poor.

IN GERMANY, where the bulk of the 300,000 U. S. servicemen on the continent are stationed, the army estimated 70,000 German children were entertained at pre-Christmas festivities.

One of the warmest gestures was "operation candy drop" along a section of the Iron Curtain. The 14th Armored Regiment sent out motorized Santa Claus patrols to tour West German villages bordering the Communist frontier and deliver candy to children. As the patrols entered each village, the GI Santa called the kids to him by loudspeaker.

Elsewhere, Santa arrived by jeep, by "sleds" built over jeeps and by helicopter. One outfit in Germany dropped toys to children by small parachutes.

Among typical Christmas undertakings were these:

AT ORLEANS, France, American service personnel raised $4,000 to buy flannel pajamas for 1,300 orphans.

At Wurzburg, Germany, the 10th U. S. Infantry Division collected $14,200 to aid nearly 3,700 orphans, refugee children and physically handicapped youngsters.

The 4th Infantry Division in Frankfurt bought toys, clothing and food for 1,500 children and aged needy persons.

For many overseas GI's, Christmas would be observed much the same as back home—attending Christmas Eve parties, church services and a Christmas Day turkey dinner. The army promised nearly a pound of turkey per man on a full-course dinner that starts with shrimp cocktail and finishes with mincemeat pie.

THE ARMY ALSO arranged to get hot turkey dinners to troops in the field or units manning isolated radar and communications stations.

From American military leaders in Europe came messages of greetings to their commands.

These included one from Adm. William M. Fechteler in Naples, southern NATO commander-in-chief, who told his forces:

"I am deeply grateful for your important contribution in the past year toward the NATO mission of preserving peace and freedom in the world."

Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, commander of the U. S. Army in Europe, said in a message to his troops:

"During this season we are far from our homes. This is but one of the many sacrifices we must make as we stand on the frontiers of democracy. It is here that we defend and maintain peace for our country and for men of good will."

Yule Treet for Tots

Weedsport, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP)—Christmas may be merry after all for four tots who lost their mother a week ago. The Community Council at nearby Jordan said yesterday it planned a special Christmas treat for the four—Reginald, 6; Debie, 4; Ralph, 2; and Esther, 10 months. Merchants at Jordan and Auburn and the Jordan American Legion Post will provide toys and goodies. The youngsters, suffering from colds, will be treated by a Jordan doctor who has donated his services. Santa Claus—Nicholas Howanitz, a Community Council officer — will bring the toys tomorrow night to the home of the chidren's grandmother, Mrs. Louella Clark. The four are staying with Mrs. Clark until a permanent home can be found.

Among your Yuletide gifts may you surely find those priceless treasures of health, friendship, love and a deep and enduring happiness.

"GOD BLESS US EVERYONE"

Dickens' Scrooge thought he couldn't afford to be merry or to make others merry. But when his meanness was buried, he finally said: "I will honor Christmas in my heart and try to keep it all the year."

We hope a million Scrooges will see their Marley's ghost this Christmas, and that the "Ebenezer Scrooge" tombstone will mark the spirit of "Peace on earth, good will toward men."
